Windy Knoll Pala Best At Holstein Spring Show

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — An aged cow from Windy Knoll View in Mercersburg was named the best female of the Pennsylvania Holstein Association's 38th State Spring Show, held last week at the state Farm Show complex.

The spring show is one of several state-level Holstein shows held during the year. In addition to trophies for top placings, points are awarded in the top 10 placings that can be accumulated and count toward All-Pennsylvania awards.

Officials said the show was especially notable because all first place cows in each class were owned and bred by the exhibitor, showing a wider skill in making good breeding choices among members of the Holstein Association.

The top cow of the show was 6-year-old Windy-Knoll-View Ultimate Pala, owned by James and Nina Burdette. Pala's sire was Quality Ultimate and her dam was Windy-Knoll-View Creek Pauline. She was also judged the best bred and owned.

The Burdettes also were named Premier Breeder of the show and came in second to Gordon Wood of Gor-Wood-D Acres, Mansfield for Premier Exhibitor.

Entries from the Burdettes also took several other top places.

A young daughter of Pala took both the junior and open division first place in the Winter Calf class. Other Burdette-onwed high placings included a first place Fall Calf class entry; reserve junior champion and youth reserve junior champion; first for unfresh junior 2-year-old class; first place in junior 3-year-old; and first in the 4-year-old class.

The reserve grand champion cow was an entry by Pen Col Farms, Millville. Also an aged

National DHIA Awards Given, Officers Are Re-elected

BALTIMORE, MD—At the National DHIA banquet honors and recognition were given to people who have served the dairy industry in special ways. The Martin Wilson Memorial Award was given to Nelvin Empet, chief executive officer of the Northeast DHIA. Empet brought together the six state DHIA's in New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Main. Northeast increased annual sales from $3.2 million in 1977 to over $12 million in 1990.

The National DHIA Outstanding Service Award was presented to Dr. Lee Majeski, University of Maryland. Majeskie is well known for his extensive involvement with the DHIA system and has authored numerous publications related to DHIA education and the interpretation of DHIA information.

Fred and Linda Griffith, Ridgefield, Washington, received the National DHIA Distinghished Leadership Award. Linda Griffith accepted the award as her husband Fred who was the immediate past president of National DHIA, lost his life in a tractor-related accident in January of 1990. Fred was also active in the Washington State DHIA and Linda is still actively involved with the family farm.

Special recognition was given to the management and staff of the Animal Improvement Programs Lab at Beltsville, MD, for their work in research that has been useful to the dairy industry. AIPL is a research arm of USDA. Dr. Norman accepted the award.

In a reorganization meeting late Tuesday afternoon, officers were MILLERSTOWN (Perry Co.) — When Mary Conrad discarded her nurse's uniform to raise sheep so that she could be home with her children, it was not a rash decision.

Mary and her husband Eric, who holds a master's degree in regional planning and who works with the Department of Environmental Resources, thoroughly researched how to make the most profit in the sheep industry.

For them, that meant not only raising sheep for meat but also for wool and for breeding stock on their Windy Meadow Corriedale Farm along the Cocolamus Creek in Perry County.

The couple chose purebred Corriedales because the breed is a gentle, dual purpose sheep that enables them to sell the wool, the meat, and the breeding stock. Corriedales breed out of season, which allows a more constant supply of meat for customers.

Because the Conrads did not want their profit to be eaten up by middlemen, they chose to do direct marketing. Through trial and error, the Conrads learned some secrets to successful direct marketing that they are willing to share.

First, they depend upon local newspaper ads and word-of-mouth advertising.

Because people are hesitate to purchase a whole lamb, and the Conrads don't want a bunch of the less popular cuts left over, the couple has devised three different packages that customers may purchase.

HUMMELSTOWN (Dauphin Co.) — All too often, the world of research bears little resemblance to the realities of farm life.

In the case of one Dauphin County farm, a liquid manure lagoon, constructed in 1974, almost completely failed its initial design.

Even a special Manure Demonstration Day, in which 200 people showed up and equipment manufacturers tried to contribute to the solution of the problem, couldn't get the system to work.

This year's winner of the Dauphin Co. Conservation Farmer of the Year Award — John D. Cassel (together with his sons Russell and Robert) — remembers some of the troubleshooting involved in getting the manure pit to work.

National Egg Market

March 27, 1991

Prices were unchanged to lower in the North Atlantic region, unchanged elsewhere. The market tone was cautiously steady to weak. Cartoned egg demand was moderate to excellent, especially where featured Widespread retail features were in progress. Loose egg demand was light to moderate. Most dealers attempted to closely match floor stocks with immediate needs in order to limit next week's carried over inventory. Supplies of cartoned eggs were generally adequate. Graded and ungraded loose eggs were at least adequate, and more readily offered. Breakers remained disinterested in shell eggs under a weak trade sentiment.

N.E. Chicken Parts

March 27, 1991

Trucklot buying interest continued light to very light. Supplies of boneless skinless breasts were fully adequate for immediate needs; however, with several processors looking to curtail schedules, sellers were reluctant to book for next weeks deliveries at current prices. Whole breasts tightened compared to early week and supplies were generally well balanced. Leg items were easiest to book, particularly leg quarters which were slow in clearing, with light spotty trading as low as 24 to 25 cents. Wings were at least adequate. Gizzards were in heavy supply. Livers were fully adequate.

Tuesday, March 26, 1991

Trade sentiment was barely steady to instances weak. Sellers continually offered product at increasingly competitive prices in an attempt to entice buyers. Trading activity was slow and disappointing as most buyers limited purchases to immediate needs. Raw materials usually exceded current requirements. Floor stocks were in good balance to easily satisfy dealer inquiry.

"2852 alfalfa stands up to everything."

"I've been using 2852 for four years," says Clyde Kreider of Millersville, Pa., "and it takes dry weather and wet weather equally well.

"In fact, two years ago when we had a great deal of wet weather it stood right through it when other alfalfas were going down."

Big on Protein

Funk 2852 features good lower leaf stay-green for improved forage quality.

"It's a real good looking alfalfa with leafy, fine stems," adds Kreider "Tests have been good on haylage, and the protein content is up there, too "

Bigger on Yields

A fast-starting alfalfa, 2852 produces big yields thanks to its excellent regrowth In fact, Kreider's field yielded a record 8.8 tons in the 1988 Pa Forage & Grassland Council trials.

"2852 will yield with anything out there," offers Kreider. "If we had taken a fifth cutting in 1988 it would have topped 10 tons "

Backed by CIBA-GEIGY

Best of all, 2852 is backed by CIBA-GEIGY research That's why you can count on it for unmatched yields, outstanding disease resistance and superior forage quality

Find out for yourself why 2852 can stand up to everything Talk to your local Hoffman Seed sales representative today!

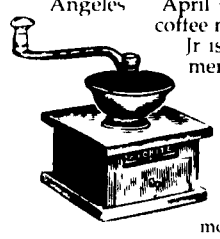
THE OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC

APR. 1-7, 1991

National Laugh Week.

April 2, 1902, the first moving picture theater, the Electric Theater, opens in Los Angeles April 3, 1829, James Carrington of Wallingford, Conn patents the coffee mill April 4 1968, the Reverend Dr Martin Luther King Jr is assassinated April 7, 1864, a camel race is held in Sacramento, Calif The proceeds of ticket sales are used to aid the poor

Patience is a bitter plant but it has sweet fruit



Ask the Old Farmer: How can I remove white rings from a mahogany table top? I W Ohio

Get a bottle of spirits of camphor from a drug store Dab a small amount of it on the rings then wipe it off at once

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

New England: Rain drops fall on April Fools and temperatures are mild Clearing and cold by midweek, but the week ends with a rainstorm, then cold

Greater New York-New Jersey: This changeable week kicks off a variable month First rain and cold, then clear and mild and finally heavy rain and cold

Middle Atlantic Coastal: April showers and warm temperatures start the month Clear and cold midweek, but changing back to rain as the week ends

Piedmont & Southeast Coastal: The week begins with rain, heavy in the west A cold snap claims midweek, then more rain, heavy in the west again, before clearing

OPINION

The Easter Story

WHO hath believed our report? And to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed?

For he shall grow up before him as a tender plant, and as a root out of a dry ground: he hath no form nor comeliness; and when we shall see him, there is no beauty that we should desire him.

He is despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief: and we hid as it were our faces from him; he was despised, and we esteemed from not.

Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows: yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted.

But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed.

All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all.

He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet he opened not his mouth; he is brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so he openeth not his mouth.

He was taken from prison and from judgment; and who shall declare his generation? For he was cut off out of the land of the living; for the transgression of my people was he stricken.

And he made his grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his death; because he had done no violence, neither was any deceit in his mouth.

Yet it pleased the Lord to bruise him; he hath put him to grief; when thou shalt make his soul an offering for sin, he shall see his seed, he shall prolong his days, and the pleasure of the Lord shall prosper in his hand.

He shall see of the travail of his soul, and shall be satisfied; by his knowledge shall my righteous servant justify many; for he shall bear their iniquities.

Therefore will I divide him a portion with the great, and he shall divide the spoil with the strong; because he hath poured out his soul unto death; and he was numbered with the transgressors; and he bare the sin of many, and made intercession for the transgressors. Isaiah 53

NOW IS THE TIME

To Operate Machinery Sensibly

Farmers are always in a big hurry when the good spring weather arrives. As a result, they operate their tractors and other machinery at too high a speed. This presents safety hazards and is the cause of too many accidents. Grain drills and corn planters are designed for accurate planting, if operated at a normal rate of speed. Often in the rush of things, we travel too fast and the planting job is disappointing.

We urge farmers to take time to properly prepare and adjust their machinery and then drive at a speed that will give good performance. With many pieces of farm machinery the speed is listed on the manufacturer's directions. Take time to be safe and not sorry.

To Consider Culling Beef Cows

With cow prices remaining steady to higher, this may be a good time to consider culling your herd for cows that do not fit your program. One such cause for this culling would be to sell cows which calve late in the season.

Picking the right times to cull cows and purchase replacements is critical to the success of the program, according to Chester Hughes, Extension Livestock Agent. March and April are good times to cull. Market prices are generally higher at this time of the year, recovering from the onslaught of "tax" cows sold after January 1.

The cows could be replaced in November with better cows, which will produce earlier, heavier calves. This would result in more days of calf growth, more bottom line profit.

A new group of cows also may add new genetics to the herd, improve milking ability and increased yearling and weaning weights may be additional benefits to culling late-calving cows.

To Control Wild Garlic

Dairy farmers who pasture their milking herd have the most to lose if they do not eliminate wild garlic from their pasture fields. This fast growing wild onion is already growing in pastures and other grass areas.

The young plants are much easier to kill with herbicides than mature plants. We suggest that the plants be sprayed very soon with 2,4-D. This has proven effective in keeping the young plants from maturing; by spraying early in the spring the legumes in the pasture area will not be injured. Since the wild garlic plant is very well rooted, it may take several sprays over a period of two or more years to eliminate the weed from the area. Don't wait until the plants are mature to make this spray application. Follow label directions when applying any pesticide.

To Avoid Herbicide Residues

Evidence is showing us that residues of atrazine, simazine and to a lesser extent, bladex, are affecting subsequent crops in the rotation following corn. Even though no visual symptoms are evident, the sub-lateral residues, still present in corn field soils, are lowering yields of small grain and alfalfa. Consequently, we must make every effort to reduce herbicide carryover. Here are some recommendations:

 Soil test prior to the last year of corn in the rotation. Then apply all the lime recommended before the corn is planted. Liming will release any atrazine, simazine, or bladex still tied up in the soil and help control corn crop weeds.

 Use a low residue herbicide program avoiding the triazines (above). Lasso and Dual would be choices to consider.

 To control broadleaf weeds that might escape, Banvel should be applied as a follow-up.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

IS IT ALL IN VAIN?

March 31, 1991

Background Scripture:
I Corinthians 15:
Luke 23:55 - 24:12
Devotional Reading:
I Corinthians 15:11

I have just come home from a funeral. A 37-year-old mother and friend of the family died suddenly after a few days of hospitalization for an as yet unknown illness. We were in a crowd of 200 people who were forced to stand outside the packed church. We couldn't see or hear much from where we stood, but at one point we did recognize the strains of "Amazing Grace" coming from inside. In the midst of this sorrow, God's amazing grace was still discernible to us in the promise that Nancy is a victor over the grave. Little did I realize that I would come home and be writing about Paul's great exposition on the subject of life after death. Without this promise, life would be futile indeed. In the church at Corinth there were probably some who, influenced by Hellenistic prejudice against the phyical body, rejected the idea of resurrection. But Paul knew that without the resurrection, life would be a blind alley: "If Christ has not been raised, your faith is futile and you are still in your sins" (15:16).

THE SPIRITUAL BODY

Some years ago when I spoke at a neighboring church, a minister told me he didn't really believe in the survival of death. "I believe we live on through our children, our influence, and the works we leave behind us," he said. But Paul is not talking of that kind of immortality. "If for this life only we have hoped in Christ, we are of all men most to be pitied." A hope that lasts only from birth to death and not beyond is not a hope that can sustain us. In the days in which Jesus lived, Jews were divided on the question of life after death. The Sadduccees, basing their belief on certain scriptures, believed that there is no existence beyond death. The Pharisees, however, using other Jewish scriptures and traditions, taught the resurrection of the physical body. So, the early "Christians and the Pharisees at least agreed on life after death. But what kind of life after death? Paul comes up with a novel concept, the "spiritual body." Actually, this is a contradiction in terms: if something is body, it is physical, not spiritual, if something is spiritual, it cannot have a physical body. "Spirit" and "body" are seemingly self-contradictory terms.

DEATH SWALLOWED UP

Nevertheless, despite Paul's linking of these two apparent opposites, this idea of a "spiritual body" helps us to contemplate the divine mystery of life beyond death. Paul is not giving us an accurate description of the form of our afterlife, he is simply telling us that we will experience life after death in some kind of form or state of being. Our consciousness will continue in a form that is like physicality but still not physical. What is different about this form is that it will be imperishable not perishable, glorious not dishonored, powerful not weak. This is the victory that forms the hope by which we live in a world of death and decay. So we can sing with Paul, "Death is swallowed up in victory... thanks be to God who gives us this victory through our Lord Jesus Christ" (15:57). And because we can anticipate this victory beyond death, we can live victoriously before death. "Therefore, my beloved brethren be steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, knowing that in the Lord your work is not in vain"!

Farm Credit Bankers Have Long Been Recognized For Achievements In The Field.

Farm Credit bankers possess their share of prestigious achievement awards. But more often than not, the awards they're most proud of are the ones they've earned in, say, conservation, dairy, or veterinary science.

Not many bankers can say that.

That's because most Farm Credit loan officers were born and raised on farms. They grew up active in 4-H and FFA. Many even got their college degrees from ag schools.

What's more, every one of our loan officers goes through the toughest ag lending training program in America.

And because our loan officers understand farming as well as financing, they're not only smarter. They're faster. In fact, they have the power of loan approval equal to most bank presidents.

So stop by soon and talk with your nearby Farm Credit loan officer. Because whenever you need some extra help in your field, you'll want to work with the banker most accomplished in his.

made with fiberglass, the material of the future — and proven in the past —

The Fiberdome chute is designed and engineered to be installed on most types of silos. Its structure allows it to withstand the toughest beating the weather elements or silo unloading systems can possibly dish out.

The chute is constructed in full 7½' sections to minimize the number of joints. Connecting joints have a 2½" tongue and groove design to keep feed in and water out. The large ribbed construction adds stability and strength.

Fiberglass is durable, corrosion-proof, attractive and translucent, allowing sunlight to pass through. Sunlight quickly dries interior moisture in the chute. The hard gleaming gelcote surface will remain for many years.

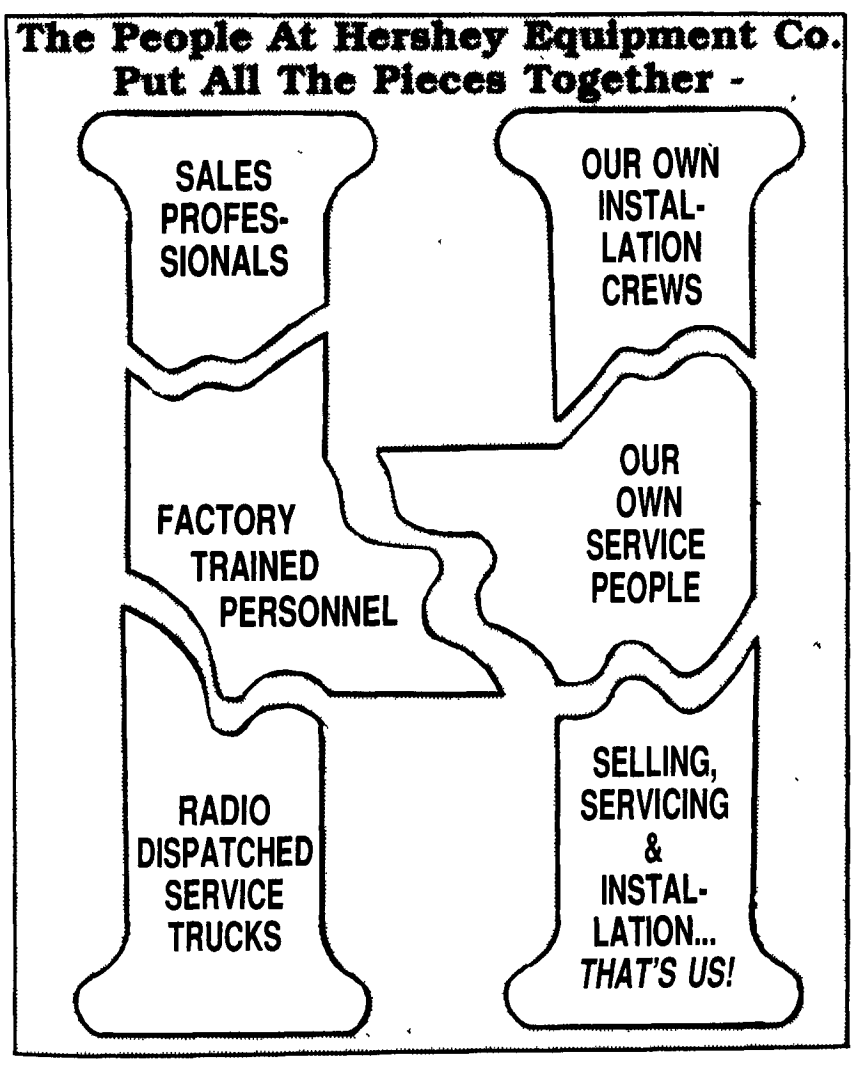
THE HERSHEY PERFORMANCE EDGE

Hershey People Make The Difference

While many companies offer poultry equipment for sale, we have a special added advantage. It's the performance of our people.

The People At Hershey Equipment Co. Put All The Pieces Together -



BEFORE YOU BUY NEW POULTRY EQUIPMENT FROM SOMEONE ELSE - ASK THEM

* DO YOU HAVE YOUR OWN INSTALLATION CREW? HERSHEY DOES.
* DO YOU HAVE YOUR OWN SERVICE TRUCKS? HERSHEY DOES.
* DO YOU HAVE YOUR OWN SERVICE PEOPLE? HERSHEY DOES.

BE SURE TO ASK

* WHO DO I CALL FOR SERVICE AFTER THE SALE? CALL HERSHEY.

WE DO OUR OWN SERVICE WORK AND DO NOT DEPEND ON OUTSIDE CREWS TO DO OUR INSTALLATION OR REPAIRS.

OUR SATISFIED CUSTOMERS KNOW THEY CAN COUNT ON OUR QUALITY, INTEGRITY AND DEPENDABILITY.

Improve Weaning Average With Triple "F" Nutrition

Triple "F" Swine Base Mixes are fortified with all essential vitamins, including Vitamin E, choline, folic acid and biotin, that resut in increased numbers of live born pigs.

Gestation diets balanced with full-fat extruded soybeans improve the energy reserves of newborn pigs and assist in promoting increased viability of pigs at birth.

THE RESULT: Increased Numbers of heavier, healthier pigs at weaning.

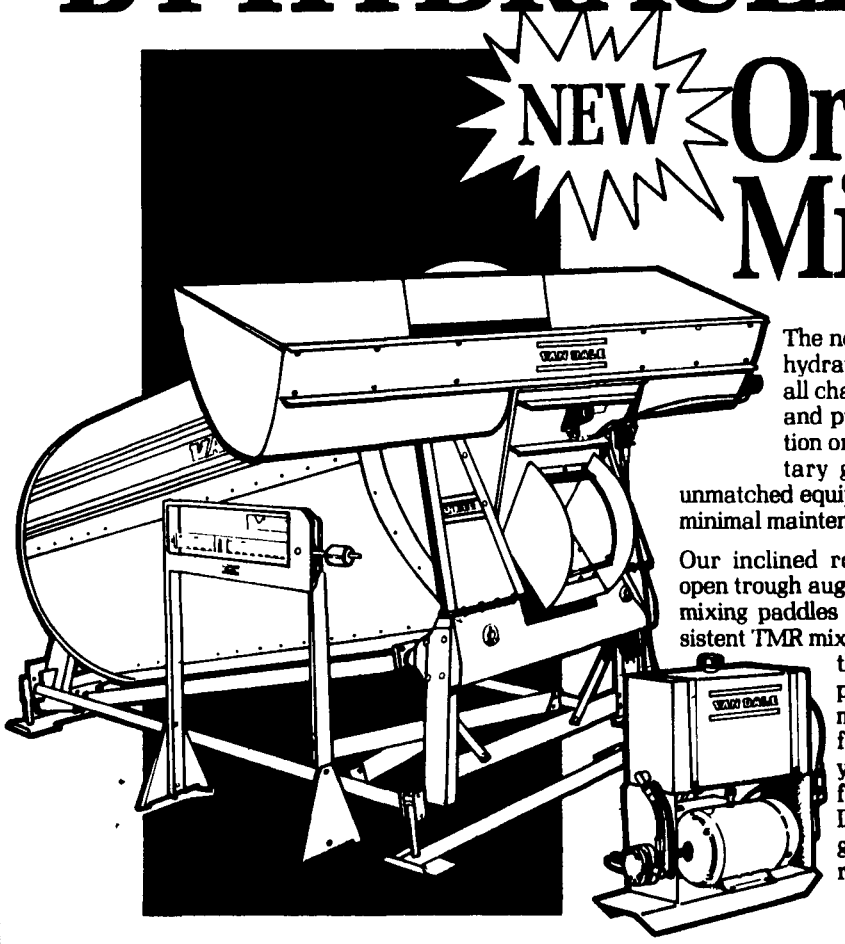
NEW Orbit II Mixer



The new Van Dale Orbit II hydraulic mixer eliminates all chains, sprockets, belts, and pulleys. The combination orbit motor and planetary gear drive give you unmatched equipment reliability and minimal maintenance.

Our inclined rotating drum, large open trough auger and six full length mixing paddles give you a fast consistent TMR mix time after time. And the optional eight foot power hopper permits loading with a front end loader. If you're thinking TMR feeding, think Van Dale Orbit II Mixer. It gets the job done right.

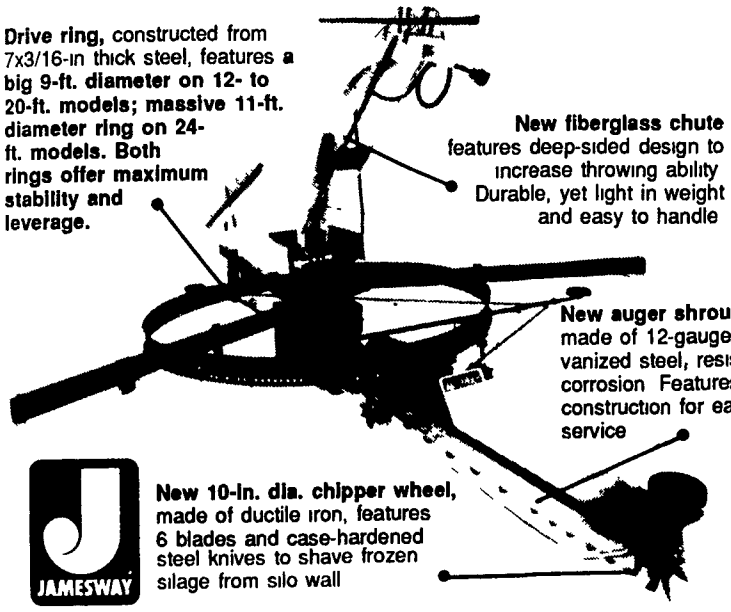
Big Savings on RE-NEW KIT

Call Your Order In Now!



Drive ring, constructed from 7x3/16-in thick steel, features a big 9-ft. diameter on 12- to 20-ft. models; massive 11-ft. diameter ring on 24-ft. models. Both rings offer maximum stability and leverage.

New fiberglass chute features deep-sided design to increase throwing ability Durable, yet light in weight and easy to handle

New auger shroud, made of 12-gauge galvanized steel, resists corrosion Features bolted construction for easy service

New 10-in. dia. chipper wheel, made of ductile iron, features 6 blades and case-hardened steel knives to shave frozen silage from silo wall

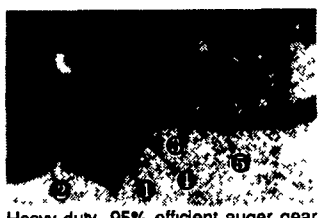
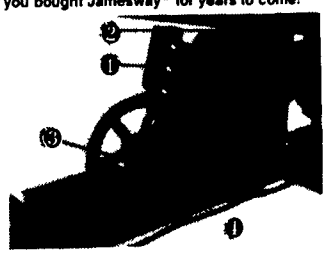
the NEW ring-drive unloader with the performance features that will make you glad you bought Jamesway* for years to come!



Heavy-duty, 95% efficient auger gear box (1), with new vent design, features new protective sealing lip on output shaft. New casting design features enclosed input and output shaft bearings for added dependability New 3-bolt flange design (2) prevents auger from rusting to auger gear box output shaft. Also shown are. sight glass (3), new easy-fill piping (4) and new flex line shaft connection (5).*

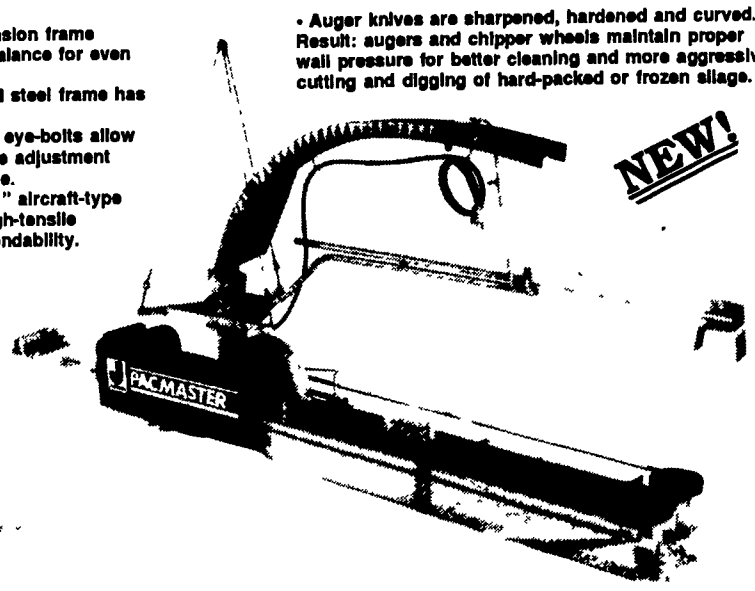
Quality-built collector ring provides proven trouble-free performance Features 11-in. diameter, ½ -in. wide copper alloy rings for reliable transmission of electrical power. Rings are stacked vertically, not horizontally, for big "no arc" spacing A self-cleaning opening prevents dirt and dust buildup *



Removable and adjustable 950 R P M impeller (1), available with rigid or swinging self-cleaning paddles, and new adjustable shear plate (2) provide optimum unloading performance New impeller bearing cover (3) and new polyethylene shroud cover (4) protect against corrosion from silage acids.*

- Large Tri-Suspension frame provides proper balance for even silage cutting.
- 2"x2"x¼ " angled steel frame has greater strength
- Forged ½ " steel eye-bolts allow for individual cable adjustment and proper balance.
- Three, strong, ¼ " aircraft-type cables provide high-tensile strength and dependability.

- Auger knives are sharpened, hardened and curved. Result: augers and chipper wheels maintain proper wall pressure for better cleaning and more aggressive cutting and digging of hard-packed or frozen silage.



PACMASTER

Surface Drive Silo Unloader

IMPELLER/BLOWER
- New 3/16" stainless steel paddles: swinging assembly & reversible

FOCUS

Pennsylvania Dairy Herd Improvement Association

Call 1 800 DHI-TEST for service or information

Sire Identification Is Important

For years, we have stressed the importance of proper sire identification for DHI records. We really need to go beyond that and take steps to accurately report the identification of service sires.

Service sire identification needs to be reported either as the bulls registration number or his NAAB code. Use of short names, partial code numbers or "herd bull" are not adequate to permit the DHI program to make use of the identification in the reporting system.

Heifer management programs frequently use service sire information to identify the sire of calves born on the farm. Inadequate identification of the service sire can lead to incorrect sire ID on the calf.

Dairymen should take the time to provide the DHI supervisor with correct service sire information. A small amount of effort now will yield much more complete genetic information on the herd in the future.

Keeping IMS Ratings Above 90 Score

S.E. Barnard, Food Sci Ext.

Pennsylvania does an outstanding job of maintaining IMS ratings above a socre of 90 for both raw milk supplies and plants.

Credit goes to the Division of Milk Sanitation, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture staff and regional sanitarians, industry approved inspectors, and the dairy cooperatives and processing plants.

Nevertheless, a raw milk supply from a few to as many as 150 farms occasionally fall below 90 on an enforcement rating.

The January 1, 1991 List of Sanitation Compliance and enforcement Ratings of Interstate Milk Shippers showed 35 fluid plants, 22 plants processing other dairy products, and 159 raw milk supplies.

The challenges are with the raw milk supplies and the dairy farms which make up these units.

It has always been difficult to maintain scores of 90 or above out of 100 total points. You could quickly lose five points on a water supply, toilet facilities and disposal, equipment cleanliness or failure to santize all milk contact surfaces.

If any two of the above four were not in compliance, you were already down to a 90 score. Since no one is perfect everyone usually loses a point or two on minor items.

During the past two years the proper labeling and storage of drugs has been added and assessed five points. This is new to dairymen and their veterinarians.

The Food and Drug Administration has developed the rules as some situations arose. This means things are changing, other drugs will be banned, new tests will be developed and used, and sensitivities and tolerances may move to parts per trillion.

Dairymen and their approved inspector and veterinarian must be aware of the latest regulations.

To prevent the loss of a fluid market, every effort must be made to achieve the 90 point farm inspection rating. The alternative is for the milk to go to a manufacturing plant for at least 15 days at a price possibly much below what is regularly received.

Contact an approved inspector for information and answers. Help keep Pennsylvania's record of 90 plus IMS ratings along with the high quality and good flavor of Pennsylvania's milk and dairy products second to none.

Bovine Herpes Mammillitis

(BHM) is a viral disease in which severe ulcers are formed on the teats and udder. Often when BHM is first introduced into a herd, these areas will swell and one or two large blisters will form. Sometimes the blisters will disappear quickly and go unnoticed.

Transmission of the virus within a herd is believed to be by the milking machines. Infected animals usually resist being milked and are culled. Therefore, economic losses can be high.

88" (7'4") Pulvi-Mulchers
Landscape Seeders
2-Bar Chisel Plows

Like its Big Brothers, the "88" crushes, harrows and conditions the soil in one pass for better seedbed and bigger yields. It has all the features of other "M" series Pulvi-Mulchers. Separate levers control depth of each of two rows of spring teeth. May be equipped with Notched or Crowfoot rollers, with conventional spring teeth of vibrating "S" tines.

With its 3-point hitch (Cat. I), the Brillion 5'4" Landscape Seeder close-couples to your tractor; works up close to buildings, fences and sidewalks. Seeding mechanism stops instantly when seeder is raised or stopped. Special roller wheel design plants seeds in top ¼" of soil for best germination under controlled moisture. Seeding rate is approximately four times that of Turfmaker.

FOR MEDIUM (40-75) H.P. TRACTORS
The Brillion 2-bar Chisel Plow was designed for medium horsepower tractors in the 40-75 h.p. range. Two types of ground working points are available: chisel points for fast, easy penetration and reduced draft or twisted shovels that roll the soil and mix it with field trash.

Pennsylvania Holstein Bulls Go To China

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

MIDDLETOWN (Dauphin Co.) — At least a dozen Holstein bulls, mostly from Pennsylvania breeders, are to be flown to China next week.

The sale of live young Holstein bulls resumes a direct cattle sales relationship to that country that had been interrupted in 1989 when the Chinese government crushed a student uprising in Tiananmen Square.

It will be the fourth time that Pennsylvania Holstein Association has sold cattle to China.

According to William Nichol, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Holstein Association, the sale was made possible through the merchandising efforts of the Brattleboro, Vermont-based Holstein-Freisian Service and PHA.

He said the Holstein-Freisian Service made a contract with the China Animal Breeders Service for the sale of a minimum of 12 bulls.

The Pennsylvania Holstein Association (PHA) won a contract to supply the bulls for the Holstein-Freisian Service.

Nichol said the scheduled shipment of bulls from John F. Kennedy Airport in N.Y. on April 7 will mark the first time Pennsylvania animals have been shipped to China since before Tiananmen Square.

During Tiananmen Square protesters were shot and killed causing political protest throughout the world.

Nichol said that in June 1989 a shipment of Holstein bulls was scheduled for shipment to China, but was cancelled because of the government's crushing attack on students demanding democracy.

However, since early this year, Nichol and others have been working to line up potential bulls for sale.

And the sale will be a "first," in that it will be the first time a shipment of only bulls will be made. The first shipment of Pennsylvania Holsteins was made in 1984 and consisted of bred heifers and bulls. The second and third shipments were bred heifers.

The bulls, which were finally selected by four representatives from the China Animal Breeders Service, come from a field of 21 that had been specially selected based on some very rigid standards.

"They wanted bulls from only the top sires with high PDs and maternal lines with a minimum of Very Good or Excellent, 28,000 pounds of milk and a 3.8 percent butterfat composition," Nichol said.

On top of that, no more than two of the bulls could be from the same sire. The reason for that is to get a good genetic diversity from the bulls.

After reviewing about 100 pedigrees, he narrowed down 50 which met the pedigree requirements, from there 21 were selected for testing and 14 of those passed the rigorous health testing which has been going on since February.

Testing was done at the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture's Summerdale Laboratory, Penn State University and at the National Veterinary Service Laboratory in Ames, Iowa.

Tests on the animals were for intensive, for everything from luekosis to bovine tuberculosis. To make sure the animals were disease free, up to three tests under specific time tables were performed. Nichols said the semen was also tested for diseases and also for sperm count and viability.

U.S. Department of Agriculture veterinarians are also involved in the testing. Those directly involved with this shipment were C.F. Rossow, working out of Carlisle and Micheal David, working out of Washington D.C.

The dozen bulls, one from Ohio and 11 from Pennsylvania, range in age from 6 to 14 months, averaging 10 months old. They are to be shipped in boxes — small, sturdy open-air pens with netting overhead to keep them from attempting to jump over the "fence" walls.

"These bulls are better than many that go into our (breeding) system," Nichol said.

The lineup of the sires of the bulls being sold reads like a

Jacques Scoreboard

5170
You won't strike out with this excellent performer. Outstanding seedling vigor, tall leafy stalks and large girthy ears are just a few of this hybrid's super features.

7820
A strong, reliable starter, this one plays well under a wide variety of conditions. Adapts well to high populations as well as dry situations. In fact, 7820 sent PX9540 and 3343 to the showers early in 1989.

4440
This one has the potential to lead the league in bushel advantage. Big yields of high test weight grain and fast drydown make this superstar an attractive choice cow, New-Trend Valiant Happy, was born 10-27-84 and was sired by SWD Valiant. Her dam was Ploylac Bell Henrietta-ET.

The junior champion for both the open and junior division was Ro-Meyer Luna Inspiration, bred and owned by Eric Horsh of St. Thomas.

Others who made a strong showing included Gor-Wood-D Farm, owned by Gordon and Dorothy Wood. The Woods recently received notice of a January classification on their herd and showed 60 Excellents, 85 Very Good and 20 Good Plus, with a total 49 homebred Excellents. They have a BAA of 109.8 percent. They took first place in the 100,000 pound class with Gor-Wood-D Creek harriet, born 8-20-81 our of Creek Bluff Elevation Lester and dam, Gor-Wood Milu Beauty Huff-Twin.

In the youth division, John Foster III, of Globe Run Farms, Petersburg, took grand champion female title with Globe Run Starbuck Beverly. A senior 2-year-old, she had placed second in open competition behind his parents' entry, Globe Run V Tab Chrisma. John III also showed the reserve grand champion in the youth division with Globe-Run Sexy Darlene. She had placed third in the open division.

Globe Run Farms had placed third overall in both Premier Breeder and Premier Exhibitor competitions.

The competition level and participation were both strong, despite economic tightness in the dairy industry. There were 74 owners represented in the show.

According to show judge, Jim Patterson, Greenville, Ohio, the show compared in degree of competition with top state shows anywhere.

"It was a nice quality show with a lot of nice cows, exceptionally dairy-looking cows," he said.

An employee of the Holstein Association, Patterson was prohibited from judging during those 12 years.

He has, however, been judging a number of top shows at state level and even internationally, during the past three years. He had been involved with judging for years prior to working with the Holstein Association.

"A lot of the people I know from working for the Holstein Association," Patterson said, and he judged last years Pennsylvania All American show. But the cows he saw March 22 were new to him.

Dairymen Seek Price Relief

KARL BERGER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The low price of milk is prompting action across the region and in the nation's capital to improve dairy farmers' financial fortunes.

On Capitol Hill last week, a group of senators led by Agriculture Committee Chairman Patrick Leahy (D-Vt) introduced legislation that would have provided for a temporary increase in the minimum Class I milk price used in the nationwide federal order system. However, the legislation was dropped from a spending bill passed March 22 after the threat of a veto by President George Bush.

In New York, cooperative and independent dairymen are trying to resurrect over-order pricing using state regulatory authority. And, in Virginia and western Pennsylvania, they are trying to get new joint bargaining efforts off the ground.

The national legislation would have required the U.S. Department of Agriculture to establish $13.09 as the minimum basic formula price for computing Class I prices in all federal orders, thereby supplanting the Minnesota-Wisconsin manufacturing milk price as this base through the remainder of 1991. Proceeds from any increase generated by this action would have been pooled nationwide among all farmers regulated by the federal order system, according to Lisa Keller, spokesperson for the National Milk Producers Federation.

The defeat of Leahy's measure prompted strong language from Jim Barr, National Milk's chief executive officer. He assailed critics of the legislation, which included the American Farm Bureau Federation and some dairy cooperatives, for making what Barr said were distorted arguments about its impact.

"This was a tremendously distorted campaign against an important attempt to bring some financial relief to the nation's dairy farmers, who are suffering through the lowest milk prices since 1978," Barr said in a statement.

The proposed action would have had a considerable impact on producer prices because the M-W price has slumped to just above the $9.88 government support price (for milk containing 3.5 percent butterfat). National Milk economists project the action would have netted farmers an extra $1.25 a hundredweight, Keller said.

National Milk officials say they will continue to pursue price relief measures at the national level. However, their latest setback has refocused attention on regional efforts such as those in New York and western Pennsylvania.

In New York, the Regional Cooperative Marketing Agency, whose over-order pricing efforts in the New York-New Jersey Order broke down in the fall of 1989, is pursuing a different tack. It has formed a separate legal entity — the Regional Cooperative Bargaining Agency — to lobby the state to use existing authority to impose higher prices. Gregg McAllister, an RCMA spokesman, said the result could be the creation of a New York counterpart to the premiums currently imposed by the Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board, although in broader fashion.

Specifically, RCMA would like New York's State Commissioner of Agriculture and Markets Richard McGuire to use the authority in the Rogers-Allen Act of 1937 to set minimum prices for Class I, II and III milk above the levels that now exist in Federal Order 2. PMMB regulates only Class I prices. McGuire has solicited proposals relating to this request and is expected to announce a hearing for it as well.

In western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio, efforts continue to establish the Producers Equalization Agency as a bargaining entity in Federal Order 36. John Siglow, the general manager of the two-year-old organization, said producers and others are showing a lot more interest in his group today than they did when prices were setting record highs a year ago.

The over-order bargaining agency, which has the backing of Milk Marketing Inc., the largest cooperative in the region, can claim as members only about 3,100 of Order 36's 5,000 producers. Siglow said PEA will need about 90 percent of the dairy farmers in the market to negotiate for premiums with handlers.

Virginia dairy leaders met March 11 to discuss participation in a new over-order bargaining group, the Southeastern Dairy Farmers Federation. Its organizers hope to mobilize farmers in a 10-state region to allow the group to bargain with handlers for higher prices.

This regional scramble to achieve higher prices through collective bargaining highlights the effectiveness of the Middle Atlantic Cooperative Milk Marketing Agency, according to local dairy leaders. In operation since 1987, this over-order premium agency has given dairymen in parts of Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey, West Virginia and Virginia anywhere from 25-50 cents a hundredweight more a month than the minimums defined by federal order pricing.

Conservation Efforts Yield High Recognition For Dauphin Co. Farm Family

Downed corn

"One engineer that was working with us then said that, when you go to Ag Progress Days, they all run their harvesters real fast because the corn is standing and everything's beautiful," said Russell Cassel. "But when you have downed corn . . ."

But the solution to the problem was relatively simple. Russell said, "One of the things we learned is we didn't have enough water, so we had to put some milking center waste into it. Since we've been doing that, we haven't had much trouble."

But it was a combination of efforts over more than 38 years — since John Cassel (president of the Dauphin Co. Extension board) became a charter member of the district — that garnered them the award. The family was honored Tuesday night at a recognition banquet at the Agriculture and Natural Resources Center in Dauphin.

Farm 700 acres

The Cassels farm 700 acres (410 rented) — including 300 acres of corn, 200 acres of hay, 50 acres of beans, and 50 acres of barley. They raise about 90 milking cows (60 heifers) on a farm that John purchased in 1949.

Russel Cassel shows a stack of manuscripts that went into the book, "Manure Management For Environmental Protection," by the Manure Management Work Group. Russel said he was the only farmer on the advisory committee for the book.

The Cassels manage a total of 325 animals altogether (including Holstein steers). They raise all their own dairy calves, and pick the steers out of the bull calves. They also raise all their heifer calves and sell them.

The award is based on a wide range of conservation practices incorporated on the farm over the years. "They chose us because we've been so involved in other farm activities and things in the county," said Russel. Conservation practices include terracing, contour stripping, cover cropping, and fencing and repairing waterways.

"A few years ago, we put a holding basin in at the steer lot to handle that manure," said Russel. "We put a basin in to catch runoff water so that it doesn't go into the pond." The farm's pond was built in 1967 and is fenced off from the cattle.

Not cost-share

Russel said, "One of the things is, in the terraces and the catch basin, these are not government cost-share. We did them all because we felt they were worth it."

Russel said that one of the factors going into recognizing farmers for these types of efforts is determining how the farmer addressed overall need.

"One guy may have spent of lot of money, but he still has an awful lot of need that he hasn't addressed — while the other guy hasn't done much, but he did everything that has to be done," he said.

Starting 10 years ago, the Cassels began planting corn using the no-till method. Since then, no till-planting — which disturbs the ground less, holds down moisture, and improves yield — has been used to plant other crops. Before that time, the Cassels chisel-plowed the ground — which could potentially lead to soil runoff.

Conservation Efforts Yield

Big factor

A big factor that has helped them boost yields is sidedressing nitrogen using anhydrous ammonia. Yields of corn last year topped 130 bushels per acre.

"Last year was a good, all-around growing season," said John.

"Everytime ours got to the point it needed rain, it got rain," said Russel. "It wasn't stressed much."

"We try to do a lot of reading and find out what other people are doing to see what's most effective," said Robert. Last year was the first year the Cassels no-tilled alfalfa into wheat and barley stubbles. This spring, they'll examine the results.

Good cover crop

"We take corn silage off when a lot of the manure goes on," said John. "We take the rye off for silage in the spring and no-till corn into it." The rye acts as a good cover crop in the winter, and works well to take up nitrogen and provides a good forage.

The point of conservation farming is to hold soil in place, and "that's the easiest way" to do it, said John.

Russell enjoys working the crops and Robert enjoys feeding the cattle. Their father, raised on a nearby farm, was a former tool and die foreman.

John enjoys working on the farm because "they don't have as much of a rat race here. When I was a foreman, I had 100 people working for me at one time. It's more peaceful now and everything," he said. "If you want to go out there and take a walk around on the grounds, you can, and see how things grow."

Mid East UDIA Sets Meeting

COLUMBUS, Ohio — "A Dairy Marketing Blueprint... Designed for the Decade" will be the theme of Mid East United Dairy Industry Association's annual meeting, April 4 at the Sheraton Inn Pittsburgh North in Mars.

Highlights of this year's meeting will feature a review of Mid East UDIA's 1990 programs and an introduction to the association's 1991 program strategies. The keynote topic will be "Understanding and marketing to the Consumer of the '90s."

According to Scott Higgins, Mid East UDIA general manager, the association's goals are reflected in the theme of the meeting.

"The dairy industry has drafted a plan to better understand and market dairy products to the 1990's consumer," said Higgins.

The keynote topic will address how food marketers are adapting to changing American preferences and how they are aggressively repositioning products in the marketplace. According to Higgins, "The dairy industry utilizes similar strategies to research, develop and implement effective programming as major food marketers. The key is to understand the consumer and the marketing environment."

Mid east UDIA develops plans and implements dairy marketing plans on behalf of dairy farmers in Ohio, western Pennsylvania, and parts of West Virginia and northern Kentucky. These programs include advertising, foodservice development, retail marketing, nutrition education and consumer marketing.

The meeting is open to all dairy producers, processors and industry personnel interested in dairy promotion and marketing. Registration begins at 5 p.m. Dinner is to be served at 6 p.m., followed by the annual meeting.

There is no charge to attend the dinner or the meeting. Reservations must be made no later than Tuesday, April 2. For reservations and more information contact Mid East UDIA, (614) 890-1800.

Atlantic Reorganizes, Announces Election Results

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The 27th annual meeting of the Atlantic Breeders Cooperative was held Wednesday in Lancaster to reorganize and elect members to its executive committee.

Atlantic Breeders Cooperative headquarters is located just northwest of the city of Lancaster and serves Pennsylvania and some bordering states.

Re-elected to president of the board of directors was David Slusser, of Centerville. James Kreider of Quarryville was named vice president; Clyde Robison, Coal Center, was named treasurer; and Dwight Hawbaker, of Greencastle was name secretary.

Also named to sit on the board's executive committee was David Hileman, of Tyrone; H. Donald Allison, Clymer; Lee Kummer, Evans City.

In other action, the cooperative presented an award of appreciation to Clyde Martin for "24 years of faithful and unselfish service to the members of" Atlantic. Martin served as director for District No. 4, which is northern Lancaster County, from 1967 to 1991.

Also receiving an award was Dr. Lawrence Hutchinson, a professor of veterinary science for Penn State University.

According to David Slusser, president, "Many years ago Atlantic started a program to publicly recognize individual extension agents and specialist who have been supporters of Atlantic, the A.I. industry, and cooperatives, and who have made a significant contribution to our dairy industry.

"We have made these recognitions at our annual meeting only when a worthy recipient is identified for our consideration."

reelected as follows: Robert Kindig, president; Michael Quesnell, vice president; John Noble, secretary; Doug Runyon, treasurer. Additional members of the executive committee include: Donald Long; Ken Beswick; Terry Ellingson; H. L. Hill; Buddy Nichols; Tom Sammon; Dick Scott and David Watkins.

President Kindig said national DHIA has a bright future. The especially good year for the DHIA services division helps insure the success of the parent organization.

"Our goals continue to be to service dairymen's needs and offer flexable record services to fit these needs," Kindig said. "We know we will see an influx of PC based programs where records can be processed right on the farm. Our challenge is to provide services that will keep these users and their records in the DHIA system.

Next year the national convention will be held in Wisconsin.

Dairy Symposium Captures Attention

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

BALTIMORE, MD-If the dairy industry is to find a solution to the educational crisis, it must give more attention to politics and funding. Speaking at the dairy technology symposium Monday morning at the National DHIA Convention, John White, associate dean, Virginia Tech, said that several states still have effective university and extension programs, but many do not have dairy specialists on the faculties that can work with DHIA and with dairy farmers.

"In the last five to ten years, there has been a serious downsizing of faculty numbers in colleges of agriculture in dairy and animal sciences," White said. "The reason--we have reduced enrollment, reduced numbers of dairy farmers and reduced funding.

"Forty of the 50 state land grant universities are experiencing serious reduction in funding. When the state legislatures cut the funding, university administrators look for ways to cut their budgets."

White reported that the governor of Massachusetts recently announced he was going to phase out cooperative extension altogether.

Many of the colleges and universities have industry advisory boards that decide which programs will be sustained and which programs will be terminated. Dairymen should know who are on these advisory committees and use their influence to help sustain the dairy research and extension programs.

Also in the future political lines such as county and state borders will need to be crossed. It will take effort to break down these political lines, but one of the solutions to the education problem is to have area dairy agents that cover several counties.

White said not only dairy farmers but all of agriculture will need to pay more of their own programs. The taxpayers will not do it in the future.

"Here we have an extension and a DHIA system that is the envy of the world, and yet we are seeing a declining input from education into that system," White said. "I do think in terms of research and extension programs, producers will need to pay more of the bill. It gets down to the simple thing of paying travel costs to get the coun-

Myths Dispelled At DHIA Convention

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

BALTIMORE, MD-The popular idea that is promoted in the dairy industry that the number of family dairy farms is declining at a rapid rate and that this is a unique experience of farmers in the United States is a myth. According to Dr. Tom Elam, ELANCO, the number of farms with one to nine cows is rapidly declining, but the farms that Elam calls specialist dairy farms has remained steady or increased farm operations.

Speaking at the 26th National DHIA Convention, Elam said these full-time dairy farms now have about 72 to 73 cows and this category of dairy farm has had a consistent 1.5 cow per year increase from 1978 to a projection in 1997. The numbers are increasing, but the rate of change is not accelerating, just a steady increase.

Elam also dispelled the myth that the average dairy farmer is getting older. Elam said the average age of the dairy farmer is 48 years, the youngest group of farmers in all agricultural enterprises. Young people must be coming into dairy farming because over the last two agricultural censuses, the average age of dairy farmers has increased only four tenth of a year.

In the 1990s, Elam said the dairy farmer will be busy, brighter and a better businessman. He will have less time to talk about the weather and more time to talk about how he can be a better dairy farmer.

Dr. Frank Dickinson, DHIA, CEO, said virtually every cow in the United States and a high percentage of dairy cows in developed countries over the world carry the genes they do because of DHIA data. Dickinson said DHIA programs provide information and data ty agents around to get the job done.

"The bottom line: national and state DHIAs will need to develop a self-help program if you are going to have effective extension education programs in dairy records."

Steve Spencer, Penn State University, started the program with a summary of the milestones in dairy technology. Spencer said the first records of mechanical milking of domesticated animals came from sticking straws into the teats. There were different devices of inserting a milk tube with the ridiculous idea that cows were to carry these around all the time with an attached bucket. That's the way the patents were written.

Then came the pressure type milking machines that tried to duplicate the hand milking. More than twenty of these type machines like the one that resembled grandma's washing machine wringer were developed.

In 1878 a United States woman-- Anna Baldwin-- developed the first vacuum milker from a pitcher pump with an assembly to fit over the teats.

Later the single chamber teat cup with direct or swing vacuum was developed, and in 1903 an Australian farmer is credited with the development of the teat cup and liner or double chamber teat cup.

In the 1940s the pipeline milker was developed and later the milking parlor.

Now the robotic milker is in development, and in the future we could see radio technology used to detect heats or feeding problems. It may be possible to zap the cow's brain and have her let down her milk when she enters the milking area.

Spencer says we have the hardware for some of these ideas, but we don't yet have the economics to do it.

Stach Guyton, Maryland Dairy Princess, offers a milk toast.

Flags fly over the Baltimore, Maryland, Inner harbor district while the National DHIA Convention was in progress this week.

Westfalia Honors Dealers At Seminar

Amos Fisher and Rick Thompson receive the North American highest sales award from Robert Turner. This outstanding award presented to Fisher and Thompson, Leola, tops all other dealerships in the Westfalia company.

erinarian whose numerous writings and contributions have been made available to every dairman in the state.

According to Slusser, Hutchinson has held a special relationship with Atlantic in that, "H has worked very closely with Atlantic employees in employee training programs that relate to animal health and reproductive health. These educational programs for Atlantic employees mean healthier and more productive herds for Atlantic members.

In addition to his work with Atlantic and extension, Hutchinson is also involved with the Pennsylvania Veterinary Medical Association, Pennsylvania Mastitis Council, Pennsylvania Dairy Sanitarians, Pennsylvania Animal Health Advisory Committee and the U.S. Animal Health Association.

Prior to joining extension, Hutchinson had a private practice in New York, Vermont and Pennsylvania.

Speaker for the event was Dr. Stanley Curtis, head of the PSU Department of Dairy and Animal Science. He spoke on "The '90s Promise To Be Interesting."

Also announced were the results of the district director elections held earlier this year.

Those elected were: District 1, Donald Bair; District 2, Daniel Hudson; District 3, Harold Bollinger; David Landis; District 5, James Kreider; District 6, Earl Fuhrman; District 7, Frank Yost; District 8, Dwight Hawbaker; District 9, David Hileman; District 10, S. Donald Glesner; District 11, Clyde Robison; District 12, H. Donald Allison; District 13, Richard Rhoades; District 14, Lee Kummer; District 15, George Gregg; District 16, David Slusser.

BIG JIM®

Silage Handling System

The advantages of bottom delivery... without the high cost or complications

Uniform filling

Forage blown into the center of the silo through the fill chute (standard equipment) is distributed uniformly to the silo wall and compacted by the 16-in diameter auger This gets more feed into a given silo, reducing storage cost per ton

Whenever feed reaches the wall, an advance switch moves the auger forward clockwise a few inches for delivery and compaction of the next strip of feed

If filling is interrupted, the auger "waits" for more forage to be delivered This even distribution minimizes air pockets, center core and wall pressures, to retain feed value

As the silo is filled, the machine raises automatically as needed A steel cylinder, 30 in long and 19 in in diameter, is suspended under the center of the machine This cylinder creates the center discharge hole in the middle of the silage as the machine is raised The Big Jim® system easily handles the nonstop filling capacity of big blowers, for fast, convenient, positive filling

Quick change-over

Converts from filling to feeding in minutes

1. TURN UNIT OFF
To convert from filling to feeding (or vice versa) in minutes you climb only to silage level up a CLEAN CHUTE First turn the dial to OFF on the control panel located at the motor end of the machine This safety feature gives you control of the machine.

3 OPEN TRAP DOOR
Unlatch door in the top of the steel hole forming cylinder and let the door hang down so silage can drop down the center hole into the bottom conveyor During filling the trap door is closed so forage does not fall into the unloading hole formed in the silage

2 SHIFT LEVER
Move lever handle toward the center discharge hole This forces the auger toward the silo wall for proper unloading especially for removal of frozen silage from the wall by the chipper wheel For filling move the shift lever handle toward the wall so the hole former hangs straight

4 TURN TO FEED
Turn the dial to FEED to reverse the auger and you're ready to feed out in just minutes after filling Quick change over makes it easy to use your feeding system without interruption during silo filling seasons And with a clean chute imagine not getting silage dust down your neck!

Fast feeding

Massive auger reverses to carry feed to the center hole. Feed pours through the open trap door in the hole-forming cylinder, and falls by gravity onto the double-chain conveyor housed in the concrete tunnel below This unloading eliminates a blower and its power needs, so only a 7½ H.P. motor is needed for 20-ft. and 24-ft silos, (30-ft silos require a 10 H.P., 3-Phase motor) The big-capacity conveyor gives you the benefits of bottom discharge without the expense. Adaptable in height and distance, the conveyor can deliver directly into a mixer or into the conveyor of your feeding system. This system is unmatched for simplicity of design, ease of operation and fast feeding capacity in 20-ft, 24-ft and 30-ft. silos.

Lancaster County 4-H Plans Benefit Auction

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Love a sale? Well, put on your hat and coat and come to the Lancaster County 4-H Auction. There's something for everyone when more than 400 items go up for bidding on Saturday, April 13, at 9:00 a.m. at the Lancaster Farm and Home Center.

"We have things for kids to bid on, for farmers to bid on, and for city dwelleers to bid on," said Zoann Parker, Lancaster County 4-H agent.

Some of the auction's highlights include 15 quilted items, Winross trucks, an autographed football from Penn State's Joe Paterno, truckloads of crushed stone, an A.I. certificate for service from Bis-May Tradition Cleius, baseball cards and gift certificates to Willow Valley Resort and Convention Center and Day's Inn.

In addition, Christian Newswanger, a nationally known artist with pieces on display at California museums, has donated a print, "Children Gathering Eggs."

"The money raised will help us keep 4-H affordable to all families," stated Parker. Proceeds will help provide transportation to 4-H events, pay for insurance, fund activities such as camps and fashion revue, send leaders to training seminars and purchase project foods.

The doors will open at 8:00 a.m. Saturday with bidding to begin at 9:00 a.m. Quilts and wallhangings will be auctioned at 11:00 a.m., while Winross trucks will be sold beginning at 1:30 p.m. The Farm and Home Center will be open on Friday evening from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. for previewing by the public.

Coffee, donuts, and Moravian sugar cake will be served in the morning, and at 11:00 a.m. a Dean Ziegler pig roast lunch will be served for $5. The lunch includes roast pork, baked potato, cole slaw, applesauce, pie a la'mode, and a choice of beverages.

The auction is being conducted by Alan and Abe Diffenbach and Roy Good of A&C Diffenbach's Auction in New Holland. Donations are still being accepted. For more information, or to make a donation, contact Parker at the Penn State Cooperative Office at (717) 394-6851.

"Sold, to the highest bidder," will ring through the air on April 13 at the Farm and Home Center. The fifth annual Lancaster County 4-H Benefit Auction will offer crafts, antiques, new and old items, food, and much more. Preview the items on April 12, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Center.

Four-H Extension Agent Zoann Parker, left, said that many of the items have been made or donated by local businesses and 4-H leaders such as Fern Huber, right, who donated her time and talents to stitch the Lone Star quilt.

Monies from the sale will help keep 4-H affordable to all families by providing transportation to 4-H events, paying for insurance, funding activities such as camps and fashion revue, sending leaders to training seminars, and purchasing project foods.

Ecology Show Benefits Farmland Trust

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.)— A day of special activities will commence Saturday, April 13, when art, environmental organizations, and ecology-minded businesses will join together for a celebration of the environment and the preservation of the earth's valuable resources.

Lancaster Ford Tractor Inc. is one of several business patrons participating in Doneckers Ecology-In-Art Show, which benefits Lancaster Farmland Trust. The exhibit begins Saturday, April 13, and continues through April 28 at The Artworks at Doneckers, 100 N. State Street, Ephrata. Pictured above is Larry Groff, president of Lancaster Ford Tractor.

Doneckers Ecology-In-Art Show will be the focus of festivities held inside The Artworks at Doneckers Expo Center, Ephrata, beginning at 10 a.m. The event, aimed at promoting citizen awareness for our environment, will benefit Lancaster Farmland Trust, a non-profit organization working to permanently preserve Lancaster County's productive farmland and unique way of life.

Carrie Wissler-Thomas, executive director of the Harrisburg Art Association, will judge the Doneckers Ecology-In-Art Show and award cash prizes to the first, second and third place recipients. Awards will be presented during a special "meet the artist" kick-off reception from 2 until 4 p.m. The juried exhibit is expected to draw talented artists from the Lancaster, Reading and Harrisburg areas and beyond.

From noon until 5 p.m., representatives from environmentally and agriculturally conscious businesses will be available at booths adjacent to the art show to talk about their products and services in relation to the environment.

In cooperation with Strathmeyer Forests, The Artworks at Doneckers will be giving away an evergreen sapling with each purchase of Artworks art or fine crafts, while supplies last, through April 28.

The Artworks at Doneckers is located at 100 N. State Street, Ephrata. Hours are daily 11:45 a.m.-5 p.m., Saturdays 10 a.m.-5 p.m., Sundays noon-4 p.m., closed

Starpoint Jerseys Among Nation's Top 10

REYNOLDSBURG, Ohio — The milk has been weighed, the protein and fat tested, and now we know who is at the top of the Jersey production ladder.

The DHIR lactation records processed by The American Jersey Cattle Club in 1990 set a new breed record, averaging 14,091 pounds of milk, 525 pounds of protein, and 662 pounds of fat.

Among the top 10 was a herd at Starpoint Jerseys owned by John and Cindy Batchelder, of Oxford. The Starpoint herd produced a rolling herd average of 17,873 pounds of milk, 652 pounds of protein, and 773 pounds of fat. Nationally, the production ranked the herd fourth for milk, fifth for protein, and eighth for fat among herds with 10 to 29 lactations.

This herd is one of 842 herds included in the 1990 summary. The total of 51,541 completed lactations is an increase of 3,090 over last year and the highest number recorded on DHIR in Jersey history. Protein information was calculated from 51,421 completed lactations or 99.7 percent of the total lactations recorded.

The 1990 breed average climbed 1 percent over the 1989 average for both milk and fat production and 1.5 percent for protein production. These averages reflect the ongoing breed emphasis on protein production.

Myths Dispelled

that permeates the dairy industry. We frequently see DHIA figures given without the source because it is generally assumed it must be DHIA data.

In a list of goals for DHIA, Dickinson said they need to reduce the cost to receive data at input level on the farm; support the research and educational needs of DHIA that are no longer supported by the public sector; promote leading-edge products and services nation-wide so producer members can continue to improve the efficiency and economic well-being of their operations; and maintain the accuracy and usefulness of the records.

During 1990, 100,000 cows were added to the national enrollment even in the face of slightly lower numbers in the national herd.

Doug Runyon, chairman, finance committee, reported $646,498 in assets, a new worth for the association of $198,875, total income of $762,483 and a consolidated National DHIA and DHIA Services of $139,360 up from a $90,526 deficit last year.

Windy Meadows Corriedales

The sampler pack contains one leg, six chops, and one pound of ground lamb. The pack also comes with homegrown herbs and recipes for preparing the lamb. It is cut, wrapped, and frozen.

The hind half package weighs approximately 20 to 25 pounds when frozen, and the whole lamb weighs approximately 40 to 50 pounds, cut, wrapped, and frozen.

Recently, the Conrads developed a hot sausage, ring bologna, and regular bologna for the market.

They have found repeat sales in the Jewish and Greek markets. Rabbis, they said, prefer the front half, and Greeks prefer smaller lambs that they cook like a turkey.

"We have a great butcher who knows how to make superfine cuts and take the pelts off," Mary said. "We think a good butcher is a necessity if you sell directly."

All the Conrads' lambs are USDA inspected during butchering — a plus for consumers concerned with food safety.

The Conrads guarantee the quality of all their products and they strive for consistency in lamb.

"The poultry people raise basically the same chicken. You can buy chicken breast from one grower and it tastes the same as a breast that you buy from another. Unfortunately, it isn't that way with lamb," Conrad said. "Consumers want consistent products. We want repeat customers so we must give people a consistent product."

Recently Conrad sold five lambs to a customer. When they were butchered, the inspector remarked about the unusualness of seeing such consistency in lamb and phoned them to ask what breed they used.

The Conrads like to think that Pennsylvania lamb is better than imported lamb. Conrad estimates that Australia and New Zealand probably spend 100 times the amount the United States spends on lamb promotion.

While this detracts from American lamb sales, the Conrads said that they are not saying the United States should not import lamb, but they would like to see American lamb sold wherever imported lamb is sold.

"Let the consumer decide what lamb is best. Give him a choice in the meat case," Conrad said.

For those who turn up their noses at the thought of eating lamb, the Conrads respond, "Maybe you haven't tried it in a way that is enjoyable to you."

Mary said, "Many people don't eat lamb because they don't know how to cook it."

She has compiled a variety of recipes that she includes with orders. She also encourages customers to call if they aren't sure how to cook an item.

Cooked properly, which the Conrads say is medium rare over low heat, many consumers find that lamb is an excellent meat. The Conrads often offer samples of lamb kabobs, stirfry, breakfast sausage and pizza to friends.

"Many sheep breeders don't eat the meat in their own family. That's poor advertisement. We not only hand out recipes, we take lamb to covered dish suppers, family gatherings, and whenever there is a food function. We are not trying to get people to eat only lamb, but we are trying to educate others that lamb should be a part of their diet," Mary said.

The Conrads believe that little is being done on the commercial level to set a more favorable impression with the market. "If a grocery store does sell lamb, it often is covered with fat and costs $20 to $25 — not a very appealing buy," Conrad said. "Customers who buy direct can purchase lamb at a more favorable price and the cuts look more attractive.

"Direct marketing is not for everyone," Conrad admited. "If you don't feel comfortable talking to peope then you must do it another way. Some producers go to a Farmer's Market every week and some sell at auctions because they don't want the phone ringing every evening with orders."

Mary said, "We like the personal contact. We encourage customers to call us."

Conrad advises other producers, "Let things evolve. Make mistakes; learn from them. Through trial and error, you learn what suits your lifestyle best."

Fleece sales

While the Conrads attempt to keep their lamb-eating customers happy, they also are concerned that the fleeces they sell bring repeat customers. Mary hands out a list of hints for storing fleeces. Fleeces, she said, must be stored with moth proofing. She grows herbs from which she makes a potpourri that will keep the moths out of the fleece.

When choosing a fleece, she suggests, check for burrs and twigs. Take a few pieces of the wool, about the size of a pencil, hold both ends in your hands and apply about seven pounds of pressure. If the wool is tender, it will break. Smell for mildew.

Corriedales give a good, heavy fleece with sheared wool weight of about 12 to 15 pounds and fleeces from 14 to 23 pounds.

About 75 percent of the flock produces twins. The Conrads are pushing toward a 200 percent lambing crop.

"But we don't need to depend entirely upon the lambing process to give us financial profits," Conrad said. "The wool gives us the same amount of money as we'd get selling a lamb."

A premium price for wool requires clean fleeces. Messy eaters strew straw on top of the other sheep. Some producers cover their sheep, but Conrad said the $8 to $9 price per cover cuts into the profit margin of the wool so they do not use the covers.

Mary grades the wool. The cleanest wool is sold at premium prices, some is teased and pulled apart so that the dirt falls out, and some is washed and carded for those who spin professionally.

The Conrads advertise the fleeces in hand spinners magazines and are pleased with the inquiries these ads generate. They've sold them as far away as California and at an international spinners show.

Mary, who jokingly describes herself as a frustrated artist, designed a logo for their sheep business. "People tend to recognize logos more quickly than a name," she said. The name in bold print, has lambs and hearts printed in a horizontal design that illustrates their motto "raised with pride in the heart of Pennsylvania."

The Conrads are pleased that their motto coincides with the Pennsylvania Pride logo that reads "Quality...from our home to yours."

The stickers are sent to producers free to encourage the public to buy Pennsylvania products. The Conrads are one of the first sheep producers to use the Pennsylvania Pride logo.

Commitment through good and bad years

Six years ago, Mary and Eric made a commitment to raise sheep through good years and bad years.

"Too many people give up during a bad year," Eric said. "If they just hang in there, things will turn around."

One year, the Conrads had eight unusual maladies that the vet had only read about in textbooks go wrong with their flock of 65 Corriedales.

Discouraged, but determined, the Conrads persisted and the following year, the flock made a profit.

Although the Conrads research and read about the sheep industry extensively, Conrad admits that after six years in the business, "I know absolutely nothing. The more you get to know about sheep, the more you learn there is to know."

Wetland problem

As a farmer and a DER employee, Conrad said that he humorously harasses his co-workers since his 20-acre farm has a spot in the sheep pasture that is designated

The whole family works together to think up creative ideas to market Corriedale meat and wool. Shown are Eric and Mary Conrad with their youngest son John.

Meatballs A La Windy Meadows is a favorite with the Conrad family.

Cooked properly, which Eric Conrad said is medium rare over low heat, lamb is an excellent meat for taste and nutrition. Both Eric and his wife experiment with cooking and have devised lamb recipes for hot sausage, ring bologna, regular bologna, lamb kabobs, and more to encourage consumers to make lamb a regular part of their diet.

wetlands. Conrad can't remove the skunk cabbage that grows there because it's in the wetlands. If the pregnant ewes nibble at the skunk cabbage, they produce deformed births. The only solution is for the Conrads to keep the pregnant ewes locked up during the first three months of their pregnancy.

"We can see both sides of the wetland issue even if we don't always agree with it," Mary said. "We spotted a pair of Great Blue Heron in our wetlands and we want to keep them, but it is frustrating that we can't dig the skunk cabbage that is in the middle of the pasture."

Sheep shelter

The sheep are housed in the small barn that was on the land when the Conrads purchased it. Since then, an addition has been added to it. Every area in the facility is utilized for two or three purposes. The handling facility allows hoof trimming, vaccinations, and a shearing chute that is opened and closed to control traffic when needed.

Because sheep need ventilation but don't like drafts, the building is designed for open ventilation during summer months. In winter, the windows are covered with plastic.

Rotation pasturing is used throughout the year.

Since Mary had worked in a burn unit at the hospital, she has a fear of fire. Consequently, the Conrads do not like to use heat lamps during the birthing season. Conrad devised lambing pens that do not require a heat lamp for warmth. The plywood pens have lids that can be closed during cold weather. The lambs are kept in the pens for three to four days after birth.

Working together effectively

During the week, Mary takes care of feeding. On weekends, her husband takes over. The husband and wife team takes turns getting up at night to check on the ewes during lambing season.

"To make a partnership work you keep communicating and listen to each other," Conrad said. "Sometimes I think my wife can't possibly be right, but after three or four weeks I find out that she is right."

Mary added, "The most important thing is that we can have a disagreement about how the farm should be run and yet still love each other."

"You've got to have a sense of humor even in the worst situation. Be realistic in what you accomplish and in what you do," Conrad said.

He said that his five-year-old is consistently intent on closing the gates. It's frustrating to the dad who wants to move sheep. But Mary consoles her husband, "Just be glad that he is closing gates instead of opening them."

Children and sheep

"There are fantastic moments and moments of heart break in the sheep business," Conrad said.

The Conrads and their three children, Caleb, 10; Sarah, 7; and John, 5; find it a bit difficult to raise sheep and detach themselves from them. To help ease the pain of butchering a sheep only the ewes used for breeding are named.

"Kids learn a lot about working with animals. Each of the Conrad's children get one sheep a year. The decision of whether or not to sell or keep a flock is up to them. They also decide what to do with the wool. The children are expected to help with the care of the sheep but are not required to do so. They tag the sheep, dock the tails, help with shearing, record weights, tag the wool and help put away hay. They also assist with rotation pasturing and put up fence and take it down. Money earned is to be saved for college expenses.

The other week, an older ewe had difficulty giving birth to twins. The first was born dead, the second started to bleat. In those moments. Conrad said that he experienced sorrow and great joy at the same time.

Education tactic

Another marketing tactic the Conrads use is education. They offer school tours of their farm and hand out sheep-illustrated bookmarks, and coloring pages. Conrad especially enjoys the tours since he likes dealing with people. Mary said, "My biggest complaint is that not much is done with kids to promote the sheep industry."

She has compiled a list with books about sheep that are suitable for readers from preschool through second grade. She reads these books to a school reading group.

"We like to keep marketing creative. We want to involve the kids in the business," Mary said.

She is currently designing pull toys such as a wooden sheep covered with sheepskin.

Creative ideas

"We are developing every single market we can think of and using every part of the wool to maximize the return profit," Mary said.

The special touches the Conrads use pay off, they believe, in repeat sales. "We must make the product special for repeat business," Mary said.

This means answering business inquiries as quickly as possible. She said that from experience she knows, "There is nothing as aggravating as waiting for a reply."

For $2, the Conrads offer fleece samples with a $2 coupon to use toward an order. They tuck in a little package of potpourri, herbs grown by Mary, as a special thank you to those who purchase the fleeces.

Cooking With Lamb

Lamb's flavor can be enhanced by using parsley, rosemary, basil, marjoram, thyme, oregano, mustard, mint, bay leaf, coriander, caraway, paprika, garlic, cinnamon, curry powder, ginger, allspice, and cloves.

For cooking with lamb, Mary suggests using sesame oil, a lighter oil that lets natural flavor of meat come through.

She suggests using lamb bones with every bean soup recipe. Cooked, sliced lamb is good in salads.

LEG OF LAMB

1 5-7 pound, boned, rolled and tied leg of lamb
1 cup wine vinegar
1 cup vegetable oil
2 cloves garlic, whole
1 bay leaf, crumbled
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon rosemary
1 teaspoon sage
½ teaspoon crushed pepper
3 large potatoes, quartered
3 onions, quartered
Large chilies or peppers, sliced
2 garlic bulbs, skin removed

Combine vinegar, oil, and seasonings; pour over lamb. Cover and marinate in refrigerator 12 to 24 hours, turning often. Remove lamb, strain marinade and reserve. Place potatoes, onions, chilies, and garlic in shallow roasting pan; pour ¼ cup marinade over vegetables. Place lamb on roasting rack over vegetables. Pour ¼ cup marinade every 20 to 30 minutes. Allow lamb to rest 15 minutes before carving; serve with vegetables. Use drippings for gravy if desired.

New Jersey Farmer Receives Award

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — The Service to Dairying Award was presented to Charlie Miller of Hurffville, New Jersey during the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council Inc. (ADADC) 31st Annual Meeting.

The award was presented to Miller for his years of dedication and service to dairy promotion programs in the Northeast. The meeting was held Feb. 19 at the Sheraton Inn in Liverpool, New York.

A dairy farmer for many years, Miller was a founding member of the Garden State Milk Council and the Dairy Industry Advisory Council. He served on the board of directors of Dairy Council of Metropolitan New York, and was president of this board prior to its merger with ADADC. He also served as a delegate to United Dairy Industry Association.

In 1987 he retired from farming. Since then he's been using his knowledge and talents as a member of the staff of New Jersey Farm Bureau.

LAMB MINI-KABOBS

1 pound boneless leg of lamb, cut in ¾ -inch cubes
1 clove garlic, minced
½ cup Italian dressing
3 slices bacon, cut in 1-inch pieces
1 can (14 ounces) pineapple chunks, each piece cut in half
Melted butter
Fresh oregano
Fresh parsley

In a shallow glass dish, combine dressing and garlic. Add lamb, marinate for 1 hour or overnight in refrigerator. Alternate lamb, bacon and pineapple on mini skewers or round toothpicks. Brush with melted butter. Broil 5 to 8 inches from source of heat for 5 minutes. Serve hot. Makes 60 to 70 appetizers.

Windy Meadows Lamb
(Inserted with each purchase)
Thank you for inquiring about Windy Meadows lamb which is raised with pride in the heart of Pennsylvania.

We are very proud of the lamb produced here at the farm. It is tender and lean. No growth hormones are used.

The lambs are fed grain, wholesome hay and fresh water coupled with plenty of love and exercise.

Through our careful management program the lambs grow as nature intended them, producing what we think is some of the best lamb available in the area.

MEATBALLS A LA WINDY MEADOWS

1 pound ground lamb
¾ cup bread crumbs
1 egg
Oregano, parsley, and red pepper to taste
Sesame oil

Mix everything together. Make meatballs. Heat about ¼ cup oil in frying pan. Brown meatballs. Don't overcook. Drain on paper towels. Serve hot or store in refrigerator and reheat in microwave when ready to serve.

Regional Sheep Meeting Set

DUSHORE (Sullivan Co.) — The Northern Tier Regional Sheep Producers Seminar will be held Saturday, April 6 from 9 a.m.-3:30 p.m. at the Wysox Presbyterian Church, Wysox.

The meeting will cover topics of interest to both new and experienced sheep producers.

The speakers of this year's program will be Dr. Harold Harpster, associate professor of animal science, Penn State. He will cover nutrition and feeding topics which will be of interest to sheep producers.

Dr. Doug Hogue, Cornell University animal science staff, will discuss breeding programs using today's breeds of sheep. He will discuss marketing concepts related to Pennsylvania and New York sheep producers.

Lehan Power, farm management agent, will discuss various financial planning and management tools which can be used in livestock production.

Contact the Sullivan County Extension Office for additional details at (717) 928-8941.

Lower your feed costs with Farmline Enzymatics.

Applied at harvest, the exclusive blend of Farmline bacteria and enzymatics improves haylage preservation and "predigests" forage fiber into sugars With less fiber and more energy in your haylage, you can

- feed more home-grown forage
- reduce purchased protein and energy costs
- Increase milk production

In fact, results from universities and producers have shown that a $1 00 investment in Alfazyme or Grasszyme enzymatics can increase net income by $4 00 to $8 00

Berks Co. Sponsors Conservation Banquet

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) — The Berks County Conservation District, along with the Berks County Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Service (ASCS), will sponsor a banquet to honor conservation efforts in Berks County.

This year, it will be held in the 4-H Community Center, behind the Agricultural Center, in Bern Township, on Monday, April 8 at 7 p.m.

The guest speaker will explain how we enjoy safe food in this country. Jack Gounder, former radio personality and district director, will be the master of ceremonies.

To be honored as Outstanding Conservation Farmer of the Year will be Kehl brothers Larry and Lloyd, of Windsor Township. The honorable mention award will go to Charles D. Moyer of Jefferson Township. The Outstanding Conservation Organization Award goes to the Berks County Federated Sportsmen, with Secretary Donald N. Lacy accepting for the organization. Ron Frederick of Twin Valley High School will be recognized as the Outstanding Educator of the Year. A new award this year is the "Exemplary Erosion and Sediment Pollution Control Design Award which will be presented to Ludgate Engineering and Associates.

Recipients of the district's three scholarships will be recognized at the banquet also. The winner of the $500 John W. Greth Scholarship is Valerie Anne Hunter, who attends Oley Valley High School. Gail Marie Worrall, who attends Antietam Jr.-St. High School, is the winner of one of the district's $1,000 scholarships. The other winner is Jason Charles Hager, who attends Wilson Senior High School.

Sets Sheep Shearing School

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — For the fifth consecutive year, the Lancaster County Sheep and Wool Grower's Association (LCSWGA) and Penn State Cooperative Extension will conduct a two-day Sheep Shearing School for area shepherds.

The school will be held on Friday, April 5 and Saturday, April 6 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. both days at the Ed Harkins Farm, 57 Sigman road, Pequea. Mike Fournier, Bucks County extension agent, will serve as instructor for the school.

Cost for the school is $15 for members of LCSWGA and $20 for non-members. Shearing equipment will be provided by Penn State University.

Over the past 4 years, 81 individuals have been instructed in the art of sheep shearing at the Lancaster County school.

For more information and registration details, call Chester D. Hughes, Lancaster County Extension livestock agent, (717) 394-6851 before March 28.

Holstein Bulls Go To China

"Who's Who" of famous Holstein bulls: Blackstar, Southwind, Micheal, Bellgene, Jack Daniels, Eagle, Vanguard, Cleitus and Tong.

But there was one additional requirement that made providing the bulls an even tougher proposition: they couldn't be too black or too white.

According to Nichols and Hu, Yong Qiang — a Chinese government veterinarian from Shanghai who came over to oversee the testing and care of the animals all the way back to China — the reason for the coloration preferences have nothing to do with production or skeletal or muscle conformation, but reflects a preference by some buyers of semen.

It is the marketing of the bull semen and the customers' aethestic preferences which place this last constraint on what type of bull was selected for purchase. Apparently a 50-50 black-white ratio is prefered.

According to Hu, the reason for the high milk production and the high butterfat content in the maternal lineage reflects the use of milk in China and the method for which it's paid.

Hu said the majority of milk is used for drinking. Ice cream is also made. However, products from milk solids, such as cheese and butter, are not common in the diet and thus not made. The demand is for large quantities of drinking milk.

The reason for the high butterfat test is based in something else, other than food production.

Hu said that two years ago the buyers of milk changed their practice of buying bulk milk strictly by weight.

Hu said it was suspected that some dairymen were watering down their milk to get more money.

Now the milk is bought according to butterfat content, so that the emphasis is on producing quality along with quantity.

Hu said the 12 bulls will be split up upon arriving in China. Six are headed for Beijing, the capital of China, and the rest are targeted for southern China provinces where they are to be purchased by private businesses.

The American conept may be that, because China is a communist nation, the government owns everything, but Hu said that is not true.

According to Hu, while the government may own some of the best pedigreed animals, the majority of dairy cattle are in private ownership.

As an example, Hu said that, of the 60,000 Holsteins in Shanghai, 15,000 may belong to the government.

The bulls being shipped are destined for artificial insemination operations, not to be mixed into herds directly.

Hu said almost 100 percent of the breeding in China is done through artificial insemination. He estimated the nation's herd at about two million animals, with most of them privately owned.

Also, Holsteins are by far the most dominant breed in China. Hu said there are "very, very few Jerseys."

As far as feeding and care, Hu said feed is very similar to that provided in Pennsylvania. There are some regional hay-making problems.

Since the southern part of China is closer to the equator, the quality of hay made is lacking, he said. Hu said better quality feed is grown in the northern part of China.

Hu also said soybean, corn and alfalfa are grown and silages made. The bulls will be fed similar diets to what they are receiving here.

Although the Tianamen Square incident caused an interruption in trade, the affect of the Persian Gulf War on this deal was minimal.

"The only things the Persian Gulf affected was the availability of aircraft for charters," Nichol said. "They were either tied up hauling things into Saudi or hauling things home."

Furthermore, the timing of the war came at a time when PHA rarely ships cattle. Nichols said cattle are usually shipped in the spring and early summer.

Veterinarian Hu will leave with the bulls from Middletown April 6 and then depart Kennedy on April 7. From there they are to travel to Frankfurt and then on to Shanghai.

Nichol said the sale of Holsteins from Pennsylvania is representative of the world demand for the quality genetics that have been developed in the United States.

He said that Japan, neighbor to China, has been a strong buyers of Holstein stock from the United States.

"If the Japanese buy 100 cows a year, 90 of those would come from the United States. They may get 10 from Canada. But that shows the difference in quality," Nichol said.

Wye Angus Sale

COLLEGE PARK, MD.— Wye Angus beef cattle will go to the auction block at the 13th annual sale commencing at noon on Saturday, April 6.

The Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station is offering 30 bulls (26 yearlings and four two year olds) at this year's sale. The sale also features 15 cow/calf pairs.

At the 1990 auction, 25 yearling bulls were sold at an average price of $1,530, for a total of $38,250.

Prior to this year's auction, there will be a Bull Selection Clinic starting at 9:30 a.m. in the new Wye Herd Handling Facility. Focusing on the use of expected progeny differences (EPDs) for young sire selection, the clinic begins with "The ABCs of EPDs" by Wye Beef Program Manager Dean Bryant, followed by Norman Vincel from Select Sires Inc. and Dr. Ronald P. Lemenager from Purdue University.

The clinic is geared toward those with no prior EPD knowledge and is suitable for older 4-H and FFA youth, as well as producers. After the clinic, lunch will be provided from noon to 1 p.m.

This year's sale also offers an opportunity to see the new herd handling facility, scheduled to be completed by sale time. The facility includes a sales arena, herd handling room, and staff office.

The Wye Angus herd was donated to the University of Maryland Foundation in 1978 by Mr. Arthur Houghton. Named for the late Mr. Houghton's Wye Plantation, the herd is managed by the Agricultural Experiment Station at its Wye Research and Education Center in Queen Anne's County.

The center is located 7 miles southeast of Queenstown on Maryland's Eastern Shore, or 3 1/2 miles south of U.S. Highway 50, on Carmichael-Wye Neck Road. For a sales catalog or auction schedule, contact Dean E. Bryant, Wye Research and Education Center, P.O. Box 169, Queenstown, MD 21658, (301) 827-6016.

Grange Supports Bill

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — A bill supported by the Pennsylvania State Grange which would protect roadside markets from local nuisance ordinances and suits has recently passed the State Senate.

Senate Bill 166, which would add to the currently existing Right to Farm Law, protects farmers who raise 50 percent of the produce they sell at their roadside markets from local nusiance ordinances and suits which could shut them down.

"Without this important piece of legislation, many farmers could lose much of their income," said Brenda Shambaugh, Grange legislative director. "We need to protect the rights of those farmers."

The bill, sposnsored by Sen. Edwin Holl, grew out of a resolution from the Montgomery County Grange two years ago. The Senate passed similar legislation during the last legislative session, but because of time constraints, the bill did not become a law at that time, according to Shambaugh.

Next, the bill will proceed to the Pennsylvania House of Representatives for consideration.

THE ORGANIC CENTER HAS A PROBLEM

OUR ESTABLISHED CUSTOMERS NEED VERY LITTLE OR NO BOUGHT FERTILIZERS ANYMORE. THEREFORE WE NEED NEW CUSTOMERS

They get bigger, healthier, more nutritious, higher protein crops than their neighbors with no insecticides in alfalfa. A few veg. growers are totally organic, even melons and lopes. They are on easy, or at least easier street.

A customer sold his beans to another customer for $8 per bu., who doesn't grow beans but his cows do better on Nutri Carb grown corn and hay.

A customer's beans tested 47.75% protein, 46.5 available. They should transmit it, like a good cow can to her daughter. Price only $18 per 60 lbs. bu., cleaned for seed. The seed stock has had 250 pods and 70 to 90 bu. per acre on Nutri Carb soil. We sell it for him.

A customer sold a semi load white soybeans to a soy food factory for $12.00 per bu. No shipping cost. They make superior soy foods. There is a big guaranteed market. People are going vegetarian. The Japs will build a big factory in Indiana.

Nutri Carb also produces better livestock feed with higher nutrition and higher market value. A customer has Nutri Carb grown beans to sell in western Lancaster Co. Ph. 717-426-1501.

An established customer received 100 bu. barley per acre, big straw and 60 bu. beans per acre on same ground in 1990, with no NPK bought fertilizer. He used our biological Bio Plus spray on drilled beans which makes crops grow so fast that his beans soon shaded the soil and had practically no weeds, without herbicide and without cultivation. They tested 40% protein. We would like to make you as happy as he is! Why wouldn't you be blessed by obeying natural law?

We have many more very outstanding testimonals in our free literature. Their production goes up and their problems come down.

Cook Wins More Than 4,000 Ribbons

Gay N. Brownlee
Somerset County
Correspondent

HOLLSOPPLE (Somerset Co.) — Being with Esther Mishler is an experience — especially if one appreciates good food. Food and Esther Mishler are practically synonymous. She loves it from start to finish. She sows the seeds, cares for the garden, harvests the crops, then preserves what she has grown by canning and freezing it. Having done all that, she delights in knowing others are enjoying it after she has cooked it. This isn't all that Esther does with food but we'll get to the rest in a minute.

She said she is an avid collector of recipes. She is also an avid participant in cooking and recipe contests. Her proven track record in winning could put to shame an Olympian of long endurance.

This woman derives so much fulfillment from hearth and home (throw in the truck patch, as well), that her available car just sits in the garage day after lonely day waiting for Esther to pay it some small bit of attention.

One exception is time spent quilting with the other ladies at her church. But to just leave her home environs to gad around town is not for this lady who, if she did such a thing, would cause herself the grief of believing she had gotten snowed under with neglected work at home. She's a "pantry paragon,". For a change of pace Esther also does quilting, crocheting and embroidery.

She said, "I'm home all day and I'm really on the go. I like to be at home. If I go away one day, I'm always behind in my work. I'm really a scheduled person."

In 1944, in her 4-H club, Esther won her first blue ribbon for cooking. With many other ribbons, it is carefully preserved in a scrapbook. In 1945, she won another blue ribbon for her sewing entry. From these early successes burgeoned a long career of receiving ribbons for her winning entries in sundry contests. There was a lull for a number of years, but she returned to it in 1972 and hasn't stopped yet.

With some embarrassment, she agreed to bring the ribbon collection out of storage. Besides the scrapbooks, there are several boxes of them. Not all of them are blue or deep purple. Some wins were for lesser victories. The ribbons are separated into groups and held rubber bands. The boxes are marked for identification. There's the Pennsylvania Farm Show collection, the Somerset County fair collection and the Cambria County Fair collection. These events are favorites of Esther. She has been a perpetual winner in many categories at these annual functions. And there are still a few other annual competitions she won't miss like the Pennsylvania Maple Festival and the Berlin fair.

Esther hesitates to acknowledge the actual accumulated amount of ribbons in her posession. Because of her modesty, we won't reveal details, just a ballpark figure. The actual number of ribbons won by Esther is somewhere between 4,200 and 4,700. Yep,that's right!

She told about winning a state contest some years ago with a recipe called "Dairyman's Delight." To qualify, the recipe had to use several kinds of dairy products. As first-place winner, Esther received a big new refrigerator which is still in the family kitchen working to keep the food nice and cold. She has also won an electric ice cream freezer and a portable mixer.

Esther has been married to her auctioneer husband, Merle Mishler for 38 years. Their three married children live nearby.

Merle is always on the go, too, according to Esther, who says that sometimes the only meal he eats at home is breakfast. So while her car sits unused, his vehicle is well-used.

The family farm of 115-acres was named a Dairy of Distinction. Owing to their son's interest in farming, the third Mishler generation is now working the land. Oats, corn and grain are raised, Another 100 acres is rented and they have a couple of hired men helping plus Esther's brother. Of the 90 head of cattle, 40 are milked.

Esther believes strongly in raising most of her own food. It's a throw back to the values she was taught when a child. "We had no choice." she recalls, about working in the garden. "We always had a big garden. We raised all our vegetables and did a lot of canning."

Little wonder, then, that she prefers growing vegetables to flowers. "I like to raise things you can eat," she says. Still, she plants a few flowers in the springtime. By the close of the harvest, Esther has the year's provision stored. She raises 10-12 bushels of potatoes two gallons of popcorn, a host of vegetables, sealed in jars, and cans some beef and pork sausage and fruit. We dare not forget the vegetable soup and sauerkraut. Even so, she still has to purchase some things at the local supermarket.

"We have too many freezers," claims Esther, but they are a God-send." Thursday and Friday are baking days but Esther is trying to retrain herself to make less of these goodies nowadays.

Hospitality comes natural to the renowned cook. "I really enjoy meeting people," she says.

There was a guest for whom Esther had baked a pumpkin and a strawberry/rhubarb pie to serve during her visit. Having heard the dessert options, the guest was indecisive, the pies being equally tempting to her palate. "Well, how about just a sliver of each?" she said to Esther, who was all affirmative cooperation. The plate arrived and on it were two pieces, not two slivers, of pie. It was iglooed under a generous mound of a la mode. The guest had taken into prior account the notorious reputation of her hostess with good food. She, very wisely, had omitted lunch earlier in the expectation of such a contingency. With unabashed appetite, she devoured the pastry with reckless abandon and cleaned up the ice cream, as well, before settling back to sip a few cups of Esther's freshly brewed coffee.

Asked what kind of menu she would plan for invited dinner guests, Esther said she would serve meat, potatoes, several vegetable dishes, something sour, fruit salad, pudding or baked rice, pickles, celery and carrot sticks, homemade rolls, and, for dessert, cake and pie.

"I don't do a lot of fancy cooking," says Esther. "I do more of the old-fashioned kind."

One of her favorite recipes is called "Carrot Casserole. "Cook one pound diced carrots.

Drain when very soft. Mash until fine. Separately, mix:

8 cups of cubed bread
1/2 cup of onion
1 cup of celery
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon dried parsley
3/4 cup melted margarine
2 well-beaten eggs

Add the mixture to the cooked carrots. Bake in a 1 1/2-quart casserole for 30-40 minutes at 350 degrees. This colorful and tasty dish should serve 8-10 persons. Any leftover portion is just as delicious if eaten cold, she says.

Esther Mishler is shy about sharing the number of ribbons she has won in cooking contests. She stores the ribbons in boxes.

Esther made these pretty crib blankets.

Workshops Planned

Do you have a desire to turn your craft or sewing skills into a home-based business? Do you want to increase your income? If so, Penn State Cooperative Extension is offering a seminar "sewing and Crafts for Profit" that will interest you.

The program will cover such topics as "Is a Home Based Business For You?", "Legal Issues, Taxes and Record Keeping", "Pricing for Profit", "Marketing Your Porduct", and "Developing a Business Plan". A panel of current home-based entrepreneurs will also share information on pricing, marketing, dealing with customers and finding resources.

This regional seminar sponsored by Penn State Cooperative Extension will be held May 7, 9:00 a.m. - 3:30 p.m. at the Lancaster Farm and Home Center in Lancaster. Advanced registration is required by April 23. The registration fee is $20.00 which includes lunch, materials and .5 Continuing Education Units from Penn State University.

For an information and registration brochure contact Doris W. Thomas, Extension Home Economist, 1383 Arcadia Road, Room 1, Lancaster, PA 17601 or telephone 394-6851.

Celebration For Sheep, Wool To Be Held

WEST FRIENDSHIP, MD — The eighteenth annual Maryland Sheep and Wool Festival will be held May 4 and May 5, at the Howard County Fairgrounds, West Friendship, Maryland. The Festival is a national celebration of the sheep and its contribution to man and commerce. Admission is free.

The festival features more than 250 craft and equipment booths, sheep dog demonstrations, sheep shearing contests, a sheep to shawl competition, a fashion show, musical entertainment and many other activities.

The 250 craft and equipment booths will feature handmade craft items and specialty goods. Wool garments, yarns, sheepskins, pillows, jewelry, books, and original artwork are just some of the items available for sale.

An estimated 700 sheep will be at the fairgrounds for various competitions and demonstrations. There will be a display of many of the different breeds of sheep.

The Sheep to Shawl competition involves competing teams of five people who shear the sheep, comb and spin the raw wool into yarn, and then weave the wool into a shawl.

The public is invited to taste lamb samples cooked in various ways. There will be lamb cooking demonstrations and recipes will be available.

The Festival hours are Saturday, May 4, from 9:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m.; and Sunday, May 5, from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.

For further information call the Howard County Tourism Council at 301-750-8582 or Mary Streaker at 301-823-4037.

MICROWAVE MINUTES

By JOYCE BATTCHER

Think of leftovers as your bonus for cooking a large meal. And, think of your microwave as the fast way to make a delicious second meal. Dice leftover pieces of meat or poultry and combine them with some cooked vegetables and a low calorie microwaved sauce for a wonderful tasting main dish.

Both of today's recipes call for cooking a vegetable first. Green peppers and onions are steamed in a little water for the turkey dish, while frozen Brussels sprouts and a bit of green onion are the beginning for the ham casserole. Both combinations are cooked quickly and nutritiously in the same dish that you can use later for serving.

The sauce is what adds character to both dishes. It's cooked separately and then added to the other ingredients. And, its just about foolproof to make in your microwave. There's no chance of scorching, no constant stirring and less chance of lumpy results. Also, at the end, there's no sticky pan to clean up.

The sauce for Devilish Turkey and Peppers is a standard cornstarch-based sauce. It's flavored with Worcestershire, brown sugar and prepared mustard to give a not-so-sweet-and-sour sauce with a hint of devilish flavor. (Add more prepared mustard and some hot pepper sauce if you like a stronger deviled flavor.) To get a smooth mixture, the cornstarch and sugar are stirred together first, then Worcestershire and mustard stirred in and finally the broth is added gradually.

The cornstarch sauce must come to a full boil in order to thicken. Since mixtures boil high in the microwave a big enough cooking dish is needed. A four to six-cup measure works best for cooking sauces. A deep container, like a measure — rather than a shallower casserole — let the mixture heat and thicken more evenly.

The sauce which goes into Ham and Brussels Sprouts Casserole is not your usual milk, butter and flour-based white sauce. Instead, it's a mixture of flour and non-fat plain yogurt. Calories and fat are low in this sauce and the flavor has a special tang which compliments flavors of ham and vegetables. It's a bit thicker than traditional white sauce. Try the sauce made without mustard and seasoned with herbs for a good variation to use with other vegetables, such as asparagus, cauliflower, green beans and broccoli.

To prevent yogurt from separating, bring it to room temperature before cooking or before adding it to hot mixtures. If there's no time for yogurt to set out, microwave an opened carton for 30 seconds on Medium Low (30 percent power, about 200 watts). (If the carton contains metal, remove the yogurt to a small microwavable dish first.) Stir and repeat microwaving on Medium Low at 15-second intervals or until room temperature.

Both sauces are stirred at one-minute intervals to prevent them from forming a big lump in the bottom, and towards the end of cooking time to prevent boilovers. A wire whisk is ideal for stirring sauces because if the sauce starts to get lumpy, whisking it smooths it quickly.

Devilish Turkey and Peppers

1 large green pepper, diced
1 medium onion, diced
2 tablespoons water
2 cups diced cooked turkey
¼ cup packed brown sugar
3 tablespoons low-sodium Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 10½ -ounce can condensed chicken broth
Hot cooked rice or chow mein noodles

Place green pepper, onion and water in a microwavable 1½ to 2-quart casserole. Cover with lid or plastic wrap. Microwave (High) 2 to 3 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Stir in turkey, re-cover and set aside.

Stir together brown sugar and cornstarch in a microwavable 1 quart measure. Add Worcestershire sauce, prepared mustard, stirring until smooth. Add condensed broth. Microwave (High) 4 to 5 minutes, stirring after each minute, or until thick and bubbly around edges. Stir into reserved turkey mixture. If necessary, cover and microwave (High) 1 to 3 minutes or until hot. Makes about 4 servings.

Each serving: 172 calories, 17g protein, 1g fat, 23g carbohydrate, 637mg sodium, 32mg cholesterol.

VARIATIONS: Add 1 cup cooked, drained, sliced carrots or other cooked vegetable to turkey mixture. For a more deviled flavor, add another 2 to 3 teaspoons prepared mustard and ¼ to ¼ teaspoon hot pepper sauce.

Ham and Brussels Sprouts Casserole

1 10-ounce package frozen Brussels sprounts or 1 pint (1 pound) fresh Brussels sprouts
¼ cup sliced green onion
2 cups diced cooked lean smoked ham
1 8-ounce carton non-fat plain yogurt
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1½ to 2 teaspoons Dijon-style prepared mustard
Dash ground white or black pepper
1 cup (4 ounces) shredded Swiss cheese

Place frozen Brussels sprouts and green onion in a microwavable 1½ to 2-quart casserole. Cover with lid or plastic wrap. Microwave (High) 4 to 5 minutes or until Brussels sprouts are thawed and hot. Stir in ham, re-cover and set aside.

Stir together yogurt, flour, Dijon-style mustard and pepper in a microwavalbe 1 quart measure. Microwave (High) 2½ to 3 minutes stirring after each minute, or until thick and starting to bubble around edges. Stir into reserved ham mixture, along with cheese. If necessary, cover and microwave (High) 1 to 3 minutes or until hot. Makes about 4 servings.

Each serving: 244 calories, 23g protein, 14g fat, 12g carbohydrate, 842mg sodium, 57mg cholesterol.)

VARIATION: Substitute reduced-fat cheese for regular Swiss cheese. Or substitute4 turkey for ham and reduced-fat or regular sharp Cheddar cheese for the Swiss cheese.

Manage Tension

Keeping Tension Within Reasonable Limits

1. See your Physician: A check-up is always important especially if you are busy. Your physician can usually discover the cause of frequent "aches and pains."

2. Talk it Over: When tensions build up-, discuss the problem with a close friend or with the people involved.

3. Exercise Regularly: Swim, walk, bicycle, jog, any favorite sport will help you let off steam and work out stress.

4. Plan your Work: Tension and anxiety really build up when your work seems endless. Plan your work to use time and energy more efficiently.

5. Take a Break: A change of pace, no matter how short, gives you a new outlook on old problems.

6. Learn to Relax: Everyone can teach himself or herself to relax. Just a few minutes of peace and quiet every day makes a big difference. Try it!

7. Be Realistic: People who expect too much of themselves can get tense if things do not work out. Set practical goals and expect to be successful.

8. Avoid Stress: Whenever possible, plan to avoid too many big changes coming at the same time.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

A plastic bag of green, artificial straw adds a bright tough to a favorite small basket set on an upstairs corner table.

The bag contents await opening and arranging inside the basket, soft repository for the cache of colorful eggs destined to fill it. Lavendar eggs and yellow eggs and blue eggs. Pink, green and orange eggs.

Fake eggs tucked into artificial plastic straw, an imitation decoration in observance of a holiday celebrating vibrant life. Sounds hollow, doesn't it?

Fake eggs give me a guilt trip. But, while I still enjoy dyeing real eggs, my "use it up" nature leans toward refrigerating them afterward for use, not keeping them out in a basket on display. Unless, of course, we have little people visiting and can have real Easter egg hunts outside in the real grass. And, after which time the dog and cats will enjoy a real egg dinner treat.

Actually we have lots of real nests scattered around the farm, filled with genuine, authentic eggs carefully trucked into rounded out nitches in... well, some rather biazarre places on occasion.

For instance, one of the dwindling flock of a half-dozen remaining chickens has big plans for a nest this year. BIG plans.

This particular hen has opted for a cozy spot in a sturdy, six-foot-or-so-diameter metal container for her seasonal round of egg laying. Unfortunately, the oversize nest happens to be a metal feeder for big, round bales, around which the cows and heifers gather to eat their way through the hay bale placed there every few days.

The persistent munching of a dozen busy muzzles yanking bigs of hay from around her little head are not the slightest deterrent to this feisty chicken. When The Farmer attempts to relocate her from the inconvienent nesting spot - we do have to add a bale about every other day as the previous one is gobbled up - she promptly aims a nasty peck at his hand.

He regularly runs her off - and she regularly returns. This battle of wills shows no signs of ceasing and motherhood may elude her this spring if she refuses to set in a more secluded spot.

None of the guineas is setting yet this early in the season, leaving us to wonder what strong spot they'll claim. At least one usually stakes out a cozy corner in the straw mow, then mutters nasty things all the while I throw down heifer bedding while trying not to step on her.

For several seasons, a couple of guinea would-be mothers have laid their eggs in a collective nest usually located under a sprawling peony plant in the flower border. They've never managed to hatch any out at that odd location, though.

Late last fall, I stumbled onto a guinea hen attempting to nest in the vegetable garden, under cover of a couple of large zinnia stalks. She was so bent on sticking to that site that she fluffed out her feathers, spread her wings and come flying at my feet. Good thing it was cool outside - at least I wasn't barefooted and came away with toes undamaged from her fury.

One our lone white guinea vanished last year after sitting on an apparently-fruitless nest for what seemed to be endless weeks. She just simply disappeared, an empty-nest mystery we've never solved.

At least one barn nest is filled. Er, we think It's filled, since no one knows where it is. But Mama Gray, the dairy barn career cat, suddenly turned super slim after sporting a bulging tummy less than a week ago. Last I saw her, she was strolling up over the top of the milk house sloping metal roof, headed toward the roof of the dairy barn. Cats don't nest under eaves to have their kittens, do they?

And our most-watched-nest occupants seem about ready to set up housekeeping mid-pond once again. The pair of Canada geese has chased off the half-dozen or so others of their kind, including their own yearling offspring. Now, we anxiously await fulfillment on the promise of another hatch of goslings.

Our outdoor nests are much more egg-citing than this decorative indoor basket of gaudy fakes.

New Nutrition Guidelines

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The American diet has been associated with five of the leading causes of illness and death in the United States — coronary heart disease, some types of cancer, stroke, diabetes mellitus and atherosclerosis. Heart authorities say that the occurrence and seriousness of these diseases can be changed in a positive way by improving our diets.

The new Dietary guidelines for Americans issued in November 1990 by the U.S. Departments of Agriculture and Health and Human Services include some new recommendations. For example, they recommend that Americans double their number of servings from the bread/cereal group to between six and eleven per day to increase dietary fiber and carbohydrates and decrease saturated fat, total fat and cholesterol in their diets.

Consumers may request a free copy of "The New Good Eating Guide" from General Mills, Inc. by calling 1-800-828-3290. This educational brochure incorporates the government's new Dietary Guidelines and the four food groups in an attractive, easy-to-use chart.

RED VELVET CAKE

2 cups cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
2 eggs
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cocoa
1 cup buttermilk
1 teaspoon vinegar
¾ cup oil
1½ cups sugar
1 ounce bottle red food coloring
1 teaspoon vanilla
¾ cup milk
½ cup sugar

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Cream oil and 1½ cups sugar. Add eggs and beat well. Add food coloring and blend well. Combine buttermilk and baking soda. Mix well; add to oil and sugar mixture. Add flour, baking powder, salt, and cocoa. Add vinegar and vanilla. Mix well. Spoon into greased layer pans or oblong pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until done.

Combine ¾ cup milk and ½ cup sugar in a saucepan. Bring to a boil, stir occasionally. Spoon evenly on warm cake before frosting. Cool.

Frosting:

8 ounces cream cheese, softened
½ cup margarine, softened
¾ cup coconut
1 pound confectioners sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine cream cheese, margarine, and vanilla. Add sugar, while beating and ¾ cup coconut. Mix well. Spread on cake. Coconut may be sprinkled on top of cake. If desired, tint coconut with red food coloring before applying. Keep cake refrigerated.

RED VELVET WHOOPIE PIES

½ cup shortening
1½ cups sugar
2 eggs
2 ounces red food coloring
2 tablespoons baking cocoa
1½ teaspoons baking soda
3¼ -3½ cups flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup buttermilk
1 tablespoon vinegar

Make a paste of chocolate and food coloring. Set aside. Cream shortening, sugar, and eggs. Add cocoa mixture. Add vanilla. Beat at medium speed for several minutes. Add flour, salt, and buttermilk alternately to mixture. Beat several minutes at medium speed. Fold in baking soda and vinegar. Do NOT beat. Drop by tablespoonfuls on cookie sheets. Bake at 350 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes or until done.

Linda is one of the many who submitted this as an answer to Cook's Question Corner. Unfortunately, we did not have room to include all of them. Linda said that this recipe is too good not to pass along — better than those printed before. We take her word and several of her friends who tasted both recipes. BAKED OATMEAL

½ cup oil
1 cup sugar

Mix eggs, oil and sugar together in a 2-quart baking dish or 9x9-inch pan. Add:

3 cups oatmeal
1 cup milk
2 teaspoons baking powder
Pinch of salt

Stir until well mixed. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes or microwave on high for 8 minutes.

Optional additions:

½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup raisins or chopped apples

This recipe feeds 4 but can easily be enlarged to suit the size of your family. Add milk and enjoy.

Contributor writes: My family loves this and my 3-year-old will often go to the pantry and get the "moatmeal" when he wants baked oatmeal for breakfast. If your family isn't wild about oatmeal, try this.

Who said beef must be served hot? Stir-fried quick Italian-style beef salad is a tasty, low-fat meal.

MARBLE SQUARES

1 8-ounce package cream cheese
2⅓ cups sugar
3 eggs
¾ cup water
½ cup margarine
1½ 1-ounce squares unsweetened chocolate*
2 cups flour
½ cup dairy sour cream
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 6-ounce package semi-sweet chocolate pieces

Combine softened cream cheese and ⅓ cup sugar, mixing until well blended. Blend in one egg; set aside. In saucepan, combine water, margarine, and chocolate. Bring to boil. Remove from heat. Add combined remaining sugar and flour; mix well. Blend in remaining eggs, sour cream, baking soda, and salt. Pour into greased and floured 15½ x10½ -inch jelly roll pan. Spoon cream cheese mixture over chocolate batter. Cut through batter with knife several times for marble effect; sprinkle with chocolate pieces. Bake at 375 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool; cut into squares.

*Substitute 1½ 1-ounce chocolate squares for 4½ tablespoons cocoa and 1½ tablespoons oil; mix well. Add to water and margarine. Boil.

HAM AND CORN CAKES

Combine and mix well:

1¼ cups cream-style corn
2 tablespoons minced onion, optional
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
1 cup ground or minced cooked ham
1 beaten egg
½ cup dry bread crumbs
1 tablespoon flour

Mixture should bind together; if it doesn't, add more breadcrumbs. Shape into 8 patties. Fry in melted margarine over medium heat. Turn when lightly browned.

Good news for those who serve crowds. Use frozen, cooked, diced chicken for serving salads, sandwiches, casseroles, soups, tacos, burritos, and more. Check your supermarket for poultry that is cooked, individually quick frozen and ready-to-eat without reheating or further cooking.

The breast and leg meat is pulled from the bone and cut into irregular shapes by blades set to make ½ -inch square cuts, leaving chicken pieces with natural depth and shape. The skin, wing meat, and neck meat is not used.

Here's a recipe that serves 50 from the American Egg Board.

CHICKEN BARBECUE SANDWICHES

50 servings

6 pound 10 ounce can tomato sauce
2½ cups celery, chopped
2⅔ cups onions, chopped
½ cup brown sugar
3 ounces Worcestershire sauce
3 tablespoons prepared mustard
⅔ cup vinegar
4 teaspoons garlic salt
6 pounds 4 ounces frozen, diced, fowl meat, thawed
50 hamburger buns split

Combine tomato sauce, celery, onions, brown sugar, Worcestershire sauce, mustard, vinegar, and garlic salt in a large steam-jacketed kettle or tilting skillet. Simmer gently for 15 minutes.

Add chicken, Simmer an additional 10 minutes. Pour into serving pans. Scoop one-half cup of mixture into hamburger buns. Top with other half.

ANSWER — For the person who requested a recipe for Ladylocks, here is an answer from a Johnstown reader.

Ladylocks

1 pound shortening
1¼ cups water
2 egg yolks
2 tablespoons sugar
3½ cups flour

Sift flour and sugar together. Cut in ¼ cup shortening. Add egg yolks and water; mix well. Roll out dough until thickness of pie crust on a floured board. Spread with ⅓ remaining. Fold dough ⅓ of way down, ⅓ of dough way up spreading all sides of dough lightly with shortening. Fold dough into the form of a square. Place on waxed paper and put in refrigerator. Chill for 1 hour. Repeat process 2 more times spreading and chilling 1 hour each time. Remove dough from refrigerator and cut into 4 or 5 strips. Return to refrigerator. Taking out one strip at a time, roll into oblong shape about the thickness of light cardboard. Cut into 1" strips. Roll each strip around a foil covered wooden clothespin or towel. Press to bottom of clothespin so they won't pop up.

Bake 10 minutes on ungreased cookie sheet at 425 degrees or until lightly browned. Remove from clothespin and allow to cool completely before filling.

Filling: Cook until thick. 1 cup milk, 4 tablespoons flour. Let cool.

Cream Well: 1 cup shortening, 2 cups powdered sugar (more sugar can be used). Add 12 tablespoons marshmallow creme and 1 tablespoon vanilla. Mix well. Add flour and milk mixture, beating until smooth, keeping cold. Fill baked locks by using cookie press or small spoon. Locks can be frozen, then just before serving dust lightly with powdered sugar. Yields about 125.

ANSWER — Clementine Elwell, Elmer, N.J., wanted to know where she can purchase junket rennet tablets, as many chain stores no longer carry them. Thanks to Helen Didero of Equinunk who writes that grocery and drug stores will often order the tablets for you even if they don't carry them. She found some on the shelf with ice cream supplies at Peck's Supermarket in Callicoon, NY. Thanks to Fred Appel of Paradise for writing that the tablets may be purchased at Dutchway Farm Market along Rt. 41 in Christiana. Thanks to Hazel Doherty who said the tablets can be ordered from the Vermont Country Store, P.O. Box 3000, Manchester Center, VT 05255-3000 or order by phone 1 802-362-2400.

ANSWER — Bonnie Lou Koons of Harrisburg requested a recipe for Butter Cream Easter Eggs. Thanks to Linda Massey of Bridgeton, N.J. for sending a recipe that she said is sweet and buttery. "It's a lot of trouble, but very good!" she writes.

EASTER EGGS

Mix well:

1 pound soft butter
1 pound soft cream cheese
5 pounds confectioners sugar
1 can condensed milk
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon salt

Add peanut butter, coconut, chocolate chips, and nuts to taste. Let mix set in refrigerator at least 1 hour. Shape. Dip in following ingredients that have been mixed together over low heat:

2 12-ounce packages chocolate chips
1 tablespoon cooking oil
1 block canning wax

Place dipped eggs on wax paper-lined cookie sheet. Refrigerate to cool. Store in refrigerator. Yield depends on egg size.

ANSWER — Kendra Hilt of Canisteo, NY, wanted a recipe for soft pretzels. Thanks to a reader for sending one.

Sturgis Soft Pretzels

1 package dry yeast
⅛ cup warm water
1⅓ cups warm water
⅓ cup brown sugar
5 cups flour
Coarse salt

Dissolve yeast in ⅛ cup water. Stir in 1⅓ cups warm water, brown sugar, and flour. Beat until smooth; knead until the dough is smooth and elastic.

In a saucepan, measure 2 tablespoons baking soda to each cup of water until the pan is filled. Bring to a boil. Break off pieces of dough the size of a lemon Roll dough into pencil shapes and twist into pretzels. Place twists into boiling water for 15 seconds or until dough is golden yellow

Remove and place on a salted cookie sheet. Salt top of pretzels. Bake in a preheated 475 degree oven for about 8 or 10 minutes. Serve.

QUICK ITALIAN-STYLE BEEF SALAD

1 pound beef round tip steaks, cut ¼ to ¼-inch thick
1 tablespoon olive oil
1¼ teaspoons Italian seasoning, divided
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 medium yellow or green pepper, cut in thin strips
1½ cups sliced mushrooms
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons red wine vinegar
1½ cups cherry tomato halves
4 cups romaine lettuce pieces
Freshly ground black pepper, to taste

Cut beef round tip steaks crosswise into 1-inch strips; cut each strip in half. Combine oil, 1 teaspoon Italian seasoning and garlic; reserve half. Heat half the seasoned oil in heavy 12-inch nonstick frying pan over medium-high heat until hot. Add bell pepper and mushrooms to pan; stir-fry 2 to 3 minutes or until crisp-tender. Remove and reserve. In same pan, stir-fry beef strips (½ at a time) in reserved oil 1 to 1½ minutes. (Do not overcook). Remove meat; sprinkle with salt and reserve. Remove pan from heat; add vinegar, tomatoes and remaining ¼ teaspoon Italian seasoning to pan, stirring to combine. Return beef and vegetables to pan; stir just until combined. Spoon beef mixture and pan juices over lettuce in large bowl. Toss and serve immediately. Sprinkle with freshly ground black pepper. Serves 4.

CHOCOLATE MARSHMALLOW CLUSTERS

½ cup sugar
½ cup evaporated milk
1 tablespoon light corn syrup
16ounce-package chocolate chips
1 cup walnuts, chopped
1 cup miniature marshmallows

In a heavy 2-quart saucepan, combine sugar, milk, and corn syrup. Bring mixture to a full boil over medium heat, stirring constantly and boil for 2 minutes. Remove from heat. Add chocolate chips, stirring until chocolate melts. Let mixture cool for 10 minuts. Stir in chopped nuts and marshmallows. Drop small cluster by teaspoon onto cookie sheets lined with waxed paper. Refrigerate, uncovered, for 1 hour or until firm.

Contributor writes that these are very good and easy to make.

Workshops Planned At Lancaster Extension

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The following educational activities have been scheduled for the coming months.

All of the classes will be held in the Extension Training Center (unless indicated otherwise) which is located in the basement meeting room of the Farm and Home Center, 1383 Arcadia Road, Lancaster.

Clothing Construction Workshops

Copies From Your Closet — We all have favorite garments in our closet that we would like to duplicate but can't find a pattern to match. Now you can learn to make your own pattern by tracing or rubbing without taking the garment apart. Bring several garments you would like to copy and you will begin to work on your own project with individual instruction during the class. A materials list will be sent about one week prior to the workshop. Class limit: 12. INSTRUCTOR: Mary Alice Fyock. Cost: $15.00

Workshop #3 - 9:00 a.m. - 2:00 p.m., Saturday, April 27.

Mastering Zippers — Poorly applied zippers often are a give away sign of a "homemade" garment. In this hands-on class, samples will be made using easy techniques for the slot, placket and trouser zipper. A hand picked zipper will also be demonstrated. Please bring your sewing machine, 3 zippers at least 9" long (may be longer), 6 pieces of cotton fabric 8"x12", thread, pins, scissors, sewing gauge, transparent scotch tape and sewing needles. If a sewing machine is needed, please indicate this on your registration. Class limit: 15. INSTRUCTOR: Mary Alice Fyock. Cost $10.00

Workshop #6 - 7:00 - 10:00 p.m., April 9. Workshop #7 - 9:00 a.m. - 12:00 noon, April 10.

Creative Use of Leisure Time

Trick Pieced Traditions (Machine piecing of traditional quilt blocks) - "Trick" pieced is a quickly pieced tradition block. Cherry Basket, Pine Tree, Rolling Pin, and Flying Geese can be a nightmare of triangles when cut and pieced in a traditional manner. But what a joy when using this exciting method of quick piecing. Imagine . . . you do not cut a single triangle! Amaze others with your piecing skill. You can also use this method to make an adaptation of Sunshine and Shadow, another difficult design.

Learn the method, then proceed to make three sample blocks of your selected traditional blocks. You will be amazed at how quickly you can piece these traditional quilt blocks. If using coordinated fabrics, you will have the basis for a 3-block wall hanging for which instructions and pattern will be provided. A sewing machine is required for this workshop. If you do not have a portable machine and wish to borrow one of ours, please indicate this on your registration form.

Participants should have some knowledge of quilting or have sewing experience. A list of supplies required will be sent to those who register about one week prior to class. Class limit: 12. INSTRUCTOR: Donna Lucidi-Nachwostach. Cost: $25.00 (includes $6.00 for pattern).

Workshop #9 - 7:00 - 9:30 p.m., April 8, 7:00 - 10:00 p.m., April 15; 7:00 - 9:00 p.m., April 29.

Food and Nutrition

Culinary Hearts Kitchen — is a course designed by the American Heart Association for anyone interested in taking measures toward a healthy lifestyle. It is especially helpful for the prevention and treatment of cardiovascular disease through dietary modifications. The nutrition principles that are taught include the preparation of low-cholesterol, reduced-fat and sodium recipes using both microwave and conventional cooking methods. Cooking demonstrations and taste testing are included. All classes are on Thursday from 7:00 - 9:00 p.m. The second session will be a CART SMART SHOPPING TOUR conducted at a local grocery store. A Culinary Hearts Kitchen Student Manual and supplemental materials are provided with the course. Class Limit: 40. INSTRUCTORS: Fran Hadley, R.D., Donna Wade, M.S. and Marie Acebo, R.D. Cost: $35.00 per person or $45.00 per husband and wife.

Workshop #12 - 7:00 - 9:00 p.m., April 4, 11, 18, 25, May 2 and 9.

REGISTRATION FORM

Please complete a separate form for each workshop or meeting you plan to attend and return to Spring Workshops, Penn State Cooperative Extension, 1383 Arcadia Road, Room 1, Lancaster, PA 17601. Make check payable to "Agricultural Extension."

Ag In The Classroom, Studies On The Farm

VERNON ACHENBACH
Lancaster Farming Staff

NEW DANVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — More than 730 fourth grade students of the Lancaster School District visited Lancaster County farms last week as part of an ongoing "Ag In the Classroom" project.

Several hundred students visited the dairy operation of Larry and John Hess, in New Danville. The Hess farm is called Pine View Dairy. It is an operation that makes, packages and sells its own milk.

Other farms are and have been involved.

The Ag in The Classroom program is promoted by the USDA, the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and a number of sources. In Lancaster County it is sponosred by the Pennsylvania Farmers Association and the school district supports it with money for buses.

It's been a continued practice since the mid-1980s for the Lancaster school district and other districts that participate.

The county program coordinator is Jane Eshleman, who has been involved with the program for just about the same number of years.

It's success in that the students seemingly have a good time and get a perhaps first look at farm animals and the insides of barns and milkhouses on farms.

The city school district elects to provide the field trips for fourth grade students because of their age and general attitudes.

According to one teacher, the students are old enough to appreciate and understand, having related courses and studies, yet they are young enough not to be distracted from being obviously curious in front of others.

The reaction from the farmers is equally positive.

Devlin Huber, herdsman for Joe Garber, neighbor to Pine View Dairy, looks a little doubtful at the answer to his question about milking cows.

For some fourth grade students, the first experience in close proximity to cows can be as stimulating to the nose as it is to the mind.

Jay Swavely, herdsman for Pine View Dairy, shows students the farm's herd in the large freestall barn and the computer feeder.

Delvin Huber has a crowd of fourth grade students in the milking parlor as he explains the process of extracting milk from the cow.

Joe Hess (no relation to Larry or John), of Singing Maple Farm, gets a response to a question from one of the students.

Have You Heard?

Cheese makes a super snack for youngsters. It is nutritious, full of flavor and fun to eat.

And kids enjoy cheese because it tastes so good. A recent Gallup poll revealed that five of the 10 most popular foods of youngster use cheese as an ingredient. These cheesy favorites are pizza (the number one choice), cheeseburgers, macaroni and cheese, tacos and grilled cheese sandwiches.

Not only a top pick for taste, cheese is also a nutritious snack choice. Children need proportionately more calories, protein, vitamins and minerals than adults, and foods made with cheese aren't empty calories. Nutrient-dense cheese provides high-quality protein along with phosphorus, potassium, vitamins A and D, vitamins B6 and B12 and riboflavin. In addition, cheese is an excellent source of the calcium small bones need to grow big and strong.

To give your children the nutritional benefits of cheese, surprise them with fun to eat cheese snacks:

* Spread a mini-rice cake with plain or flavored cream cheese. Decorate with raisins and finely shredded carrot, sliced fresh fruit, sliced fresh vegetables or diced dried fruit and peanuts.

* Skewer chunks of cheddar and Swiss cheese with whole fresh strawberries, grapes, apple slices and fresh pineapple cubes to make fruit and cheese kabobs. For preschoolers, skip the skewers and place the fruit and cheese in plastic bags for out of hand snacking.

* Use cookie cutters to cut cheese slices into fun shapes for crackers or festive sandwiches.

* Layer a soft flour tortilla or bread with slices of cheese and turkey breast or lean ham. Roll into a log and cut into 3/4-inch slices. Keep the pinwheel shape by securing each snack-size round with a tooth pick.

Research shows that children who snack properly tend to be better nourished than those who do not snack at all. They are hungry less often and therefore are less irritable and more likely to perform well in school and extracurricular activities.

To encowage nutritious snacking in your household:

* Set a good example. Join your child for a treat of celery and cream cheese rather than a handful of potato chips.

* Buy nutritious snack foods such as fruit juice, fresh vegetables, cheese, peanut butter, and popcorn.

* Never use a snack as a pacifier, reward or punishment. This attaches an emotional value to food and may lead a child to nibble without being hungry.

* Allow your child to assist in snack preparation. Safe, easy, and nutritious recipes like Funny Face Pizza will entertain as well as acquaint your child with the kitchen and ingredients.

FUNNY FACE PIZZA

2 tablespoons prepared pizza sauce

1 pita bread, about 4-inches in diameter

1 square slice Mozzarella cheese

Thinly sliced green pepper strips

2 slices pitted ripe olives

Thin carrot slice, cut in half

Spread pizza sauce over one side of pita bread. Cut a mouth from the cheese slice. Place cheese slice over pizza sauce. Make a face on cheese slice using green pepper strips for hair, olives for eyes and half a carrot slice for nose. Place on a microwave safe plate. Microwave on Medium (50%) for one minute, or until cheese is melted and sauce is hot. Serve immediately. Makes one serving. If you do not have a microwave, bake on a cookie sheet at 350 degrees F. for 10 to 12 minutes, or until cheese is melted and sauce is hot.

Ideas For Fund-Raiser Spring Into Action

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — New ideas for raising funds are springing into action at Manheim Christian Day School.

While patrons have traditionally made the Dutch Country Auction, in its 15th year, a smashing success with its chicken barbecue, country breakfast, quilts, Winross trucks, strawberry pies, and numerous other items, teachers this year are promising to cook up a profit.

To the highest bidder, the teaching staff will provide dinner for 30 guests.

There are plenty of other options for those who lose the bid for the teachers' meal. Bids will be auctioned for a pig roast for 50 catered by Ziegler's Country Home Catering, a family-style ham dinner for eight, a bed and breakfast certificate, and more.

Crafts, furniture, shrubbery, lawn and garden equipment, antiques, and collectibles will be auctioned at the April 27 auction that begins at 9:00 a.m.

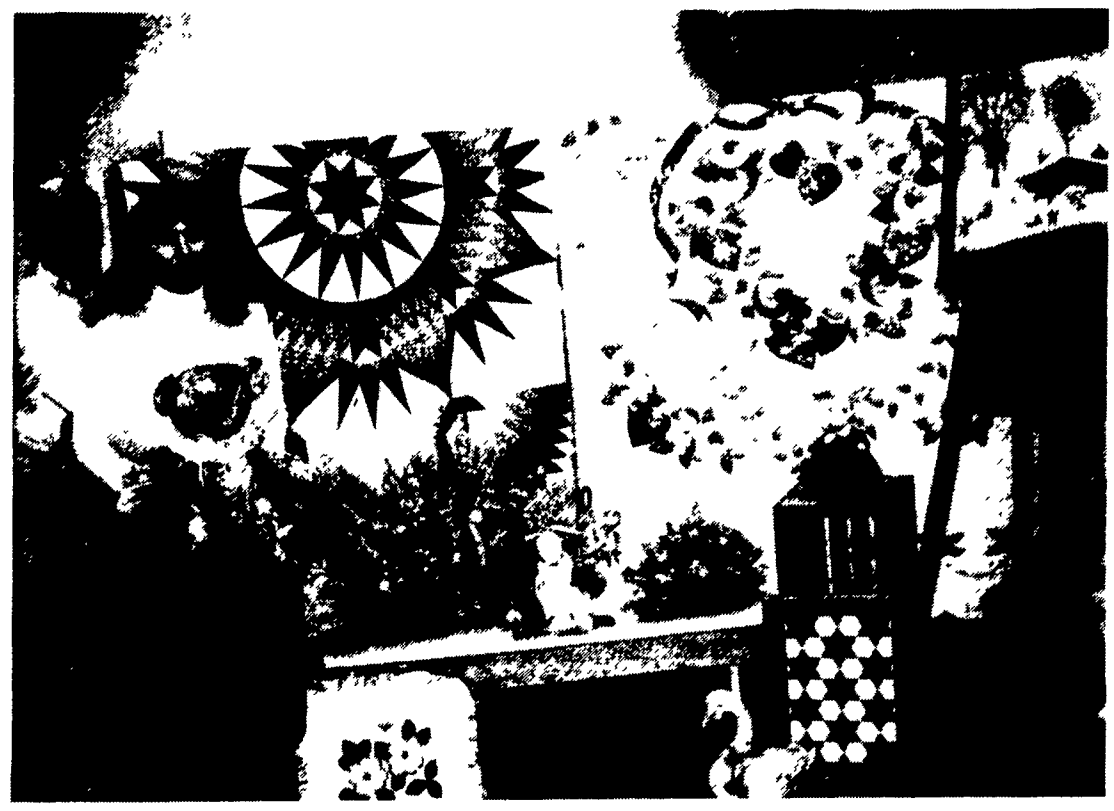
The renowned quilt sale, that begins at 1:00 p.m., will be highlighted with the auction of a Country Love quilt designed by People's Place in Intercourse.

Guests are urged to preview sale items and enjoy a chicken barbecue on Friday evening from 3:30 to 6:30 p.m.

On sale day, a country breakfast of egg omelet or pancakes and sausage with orange juice and coffee will be served from 6:00 - 10:00 a.m.

Auction services are donated by J.Omar Landis Auction Services and other area auctioneers.

The benefit auction is located one mile north of Manheim on Route 72, 5 miles south of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, exit 20.



School Principal Frank Rittenhouse and patron volunteer Patti Miller admire the crafts and quilts that will be sold at the 15th annual Dutch Country Auction.

Pesticide

Worth Knowing

Gardeners, throw out your old cans of that nasty pesticide and get out your Cascade and Mazola (or any comparable brands). Entomologists at the Agriculture Department say mixing dishwashing detergent and cooking oil produces a cheap, non-toxic pesticide that kills aphids, whiteflies, spider mites and beet army worms. Mix one tablespoon of detergent with one cup of cooking oil. When pests appear, mix one to two-and-a-half teaspoons of this concoction with each cup of water. Spray on plants every 10 days with a pump sprayer. This mixture works on eggplants, carrots, lettuce, celery, watermelon, pepper and cucumber plants, but it burns squash, cauliflower and red cabbage leaves. It costs nearly 75 percent less than commercial pesticides.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

Spring is here whether we're ready or not. I have mixed feelings about a big garden this year as we may be busy moving.

My garden has carryovers from last year. There is a row of chives and also a row of kale that we've been using all year. Some Chinese cabbage survived the winter and should be used too.

For many years I've had a type of onion that withstands the winter and has green onions ready to pull and eat in late February. They have sets of small onions on the top of their stems in summer that replant themselves. All that I have to do is try and keep them weeded. Even my parsley bed survived the winter under an evergreen bough. That is one herb that I use a lot and I enjoy eating the dark green curled leaves. It bothers me when I see people letting it on their plates as though it is only a garnish.

When my garden is rototilled, I always put stakes along the upper edge to mark my pink lilies, bleeding hearts and sweet Williams. My bed of saffron bulbs must also be protected. This purple-flowered crocus did not bloom for me last year and so I shall have to buy the dried product.

As my sister and her family had a chimney fire a few weeks ago, we had a chimney sweep come and clean our chimneys. Then when it snowed I built a fire in our corner fireplace in my sewing room and enjoyed a pleasant afternoon braiding a new rug. To think that this same fireplace has warmed people for the past 178 years.

At one time our house was vacant for many years and I'm told that tramps, who traveled the roads, spent the nights curled up on the floor in front of this same fireplace. Our living room was used to strip tobacco and I'm surprised that the floor boards are not warped from the moisture.

Time surely does change everything!

Eat For Health

Bananas are frequently mentioned as a food high in potassium, but potatoes actually contain nearly twice as much. One large banana has 450 milligrams of potassium, while a large baked potato with its skin contains about 850 milligrams. The skin alone has 235 milligrams.

A typical small ladle at a salad bar holds about two tablespoons of dressing, so two ladlefuls of Italian, French or bleu cheese dressing contains about 300 calories, almost all of them are derived from fat. In comparison, hot fudge has slightly fewer calories and far less fat.

Wool Queen Wants To Model, Visit Paris

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

MANNS CHOICE (Bedford Co.) — Jennifer Hillegass wants to be a model and her main goal in life is to go to Paris.

Meanwhile, she's busy serving as Bedford County's lamb and wool queen. She was crowned Friday evening, March 15, at a banquet held at the Bedford Church of the Brethren.

A senior at Chestnut Ridge High School, 17-year-old Jennifer is a member of the Young Shepherds 4-H Club and has her own flock of eight Suffolk and Oxford sheep. Her champions were bought from Forasteine Farms in Ohio.

"Raising sheep, isn't easy," she said. "It's a lot more work than most people ever realize. Lambing gives me the most problems. I enjoy shearing, but the price of wool never gets high enough to make much money."

Part of the competition involved a two-minute speech with Jennifer telling how she plans to spend the summer. Her plans, she said, include attending Sheep Field Day, entering a shearing competition, and making new lamb dishes.

Her love of sheep has led her to winning trophies in showmanship and in leadline.

"I have more interests now than when I first started to work with sheep," Jennifer said. "So now I spend more time helping the younger kids in 4-H with their sheep projects."

Jennifer also hopes to become a model and is presently working for a modeling agency in Pittsburgh.

Moody Creations Develops Dressing For A Profit

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — If you have a great recipe that friends and family rave about, you may be able to turn it into a business.

That's what John Moody did.

He said, "Many people have the misconception that it takes a lot of money to start your own business. That idea is wrong. It takes very little money to start and I had sales of more than $50,000 in the first full year."

As a former chef at a Jennifer's Restaurant at Rockvale Village Inn, Moody liked to experiment. He wanted to come up with a unique salad dressing for the restaurant. Starting his own manufacturing company wasn't even on his mind when he developed Raspberry Vinaigrette Dressing. Even when customers raved about the dressing and asked for containers to take the dressing home, Moody did not foresee a profitable business venture. Because the restaurant is located in the hub of tourist trade, most of the diners were tourists who took some of the dressing home with them. When they began calling up to reorder the dressing, one New Yorker told him, "You really ought to start bottling this stuff."

And that comment sent Moody's entrepreneurial wheels turning.

He checked with the Department of Agriculture to find the standards needed to make and sell food products. He contacted suppliers to find the best prices.

Moody, who majored in foods at Brownstown Vo-Tech School, found those sources to be extremely helpful. He hired a graphic designer to design labels. Later, he used Millersville University as a resource. According to Moody, many universities will help small businesses get a start by researching for them.

The University, free of charge, investigated the salad dressing industry and the market. They took a local survey by standing in grocery stores and asking patrons what they thought of the Moody label, if they had heard of it before, and if they would be willing to try the salad dressing.

"Before I got into the salad dressing market, I did not know anyone in it. The University gathered information for me that I could not have gotten on my own," Moody said.

The University research team encouraged Moody to develop a selection of salad dressings since it is difficult to be financially successful with one. His wife, Diane, who is also an accomplished cook and who cooks for a retirement home, developed another dressing, a zesty Parmesan, and Moody developed a sweet and tangy dressing as another alternative.

SCORE (Service Corps Of Retired Executives) was another good source for Moody. A retired businessman counseled him to develop a business plan, a plan for investors, and to watch where he spends money.

"I've learned that most businesses fail in the first three years," Moody said. Now in his second year of business, Moody said, "Every day, I tell myself that I'm not going to be one of those persons. I push myself to do whatever needs to be done."

That doesn't mean he hasn't suffered some bumps along the road to success. He said, "Sure, you're going to make mistakes that cost you money, but you overcome mistakes and hope that it wasn't a lot of money that you lost. You bounce back and don't let it get you down."

For up-to-date marketing ideas, Moody depends on the library as a big source of information. He likes to read about successful businesses and adapt some of their ideas for his own business.

But for all the professional advice, Moody doesn't negate the value of input from the man on the street.

"I found you can find out the most amazing thing from the person who operates the dishwasher," Moody said. "Everybody has advice, but you need to use your own common sense when making the final decisions."

But to make a business venture work, Moody stresses, "Use your own ingenuity and be aggressive."

He added, "I also discuss decisions with my wife. That's very important since we are business partners."

To keep overhead low, Moody began making and bottling the dressing in his kitchen. Later, he purchased large stainless steel tables and turned the garage into a kitchen.

About two days a week are spent on making the dressings, the other days are spent on purchasing supplies, bookwork, and marketing.

"Marketing is by far the hardest part of the job," said Moody who does every aspect of the business himself.

"I do everything but force people to try my dressings," Moody said. "I hit the pavement hard to peddle the dressings and I am not shy about sales tactics."

To promote the dressings, Moody does food demonstrations for groups, supermarkets, and food fairs. He developed a plan to use the dressings for fundraisers. And he uses coupons to entice new customers.

John Moody said that it does not take a lot of money to start your own business, but it does take lots of hard work.

Moody Creations

Out of the three salad dressings, Moody admits to being partial to the raspberry vinaigrette. "That's the one I'm most enthusiastic about. If a person will only try one dressing, that's the one I push."

Moody said, "I have a goal that every person tastes my salad dressings. Not everyone will like it; in fact, many are hesitate to try the raspberry vinaigrette, but experience has shown me that if I can get people to try it, many are enthusiastic about it and will continue to buy it."

Moody said, "I don't concentrate on financial goals — although I've got to make money to survive."

At $2.75 a bottle, Moody said that his dressing isn't the cheapest, but he believes people get what they pay for. The Moodys use only fine quality ingredients in the dressings. The oil is a blend of soybean and olive so there is no cholesterol and no saturated fats in the product. Honey is used for sweetening. Large English walnuts are used with the raspberry dressing.

"There's a war for store shelving," Moody said. "Everyone fights for space. There isn't enough space on the shelf for every product."

Distributors, he said, stock the shelves and push the competitors little to the side. Then the competing distributor comes into the store and does the same thing.

Moody said that he is experimenting with floor displays and finds them effective.

News of Moody's dressings is reaching distant states. In fact, Moody has a shipment to fill with Hawaii.

The dressing is sold by the single bottle, in a case of 12, and in a selection of gift box sets. One gift set includes four wooden salad bowls and a large wooden bowl.

It brings Moody great satisfaction when a store begins to stock his dressings because customers request it, but if customers prefer to order direct, Moody tells them not to send money. He sends the order the most economical way and adds only the exact shipping charges to the bill, no overhead costs. To order, contact Moody Creations, 811 Kreps Road, Lancaster, PA 17603 (717) 871-9159.

No reason to limit Moody's dressings to salads, they give an unique flavor to meats. One customer said she roasts a ham and pours a bottle of the raspberry vinaigrette over the top during the last 30 minutes of baking.

Here is a recipe developed by Moody.

MARINATED CHICKEN BREASTS

Place boneless chicken breasts in plastic bag. Add enough Moody Creation's dressing to coat. Seal tightly and refrigerate overnight. Chicken can be broiled for approximately 14 to 18 minutes OR bake for approximately 20 to 30 minutes OR saute for approximately 8 to 12 minutes OR grilled for approximately 10 to 15 minutes or until done.

Extra dressing can be drizzled over the top for added flavor.

4-H HAPPENINGS

Lancaster County 4-H Woolies Club

The reorganizational meeting of the Lancaster County 4-H Woolies Club was held on Monday, March 18 at 7 p.m. at the Lancaster Farm and Home Center.

The meeting was called to order by Livestock Extension Agent Chester Hughes.

Record books were handed out. The club rules were discussed, along with the roundup, which will be August 8, 1991, during the 4-H Fair at the Solanco Fairgrounds. There were also suggestions given on where to buy project lambs.

Election of officers was held as follows: president, Mark Tracy; vice president, Joelle Boll; secretary, Angie Erb; assistant secretary, Jason Stoltzfus; treasurer, Andrea Mylin; assistant treasurer, Peter Hoffines; news reporter, Travis Donough; assistant news reporter, Amy Bollinger; game leaders, Raphael Peters and Ryan Tracy; and song leaders, Regina Landis and Becky Vogt.

After the meeting, refreshments were served.

Anyone still interested in joining the Woolies Club is welcome. For information, contact the Cooperative Extension Office in Lancaster County, (717) 394-6851.

Saddle Cinches Club

The reorganizational meeting of the Saddle Cinches 4-H Horse and Pony Club will be held on Monday, March 25, at the Mastersonville Fire Hall, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The club is open to all youth between the ages of 8 and 18 who share a love of horses, whether they own one or not. Besides offering projects for those who own a horse or pony and want to learn more about taking care of it and doing their best with it, the club also has a program called Learning About Horses which gives youth without a horse a chance to learn more about the work, care, and expertise of having a horse.

The club meets monthly between March and October of each year, with a variety of activities planned in between meetings, including trail rides, horse shows, gymkhanas, horse clinics, and community service projects.

For more information about the club, contact Kendy Allen, (717) 665-7144.

Goat Club Meets

The Cumberland County 4-H Goat Club met on February 6, 1991 at the home of Kelli and Tim Zeigler.

Cumberland Co.
4-H Dairy

The 35th annual Cumberland County 4-H Dairy achievement banquet was held March 11 at Penn Township Fire Hall, Huntsdale. 4-H members and 4-H leaders were recognized for outstanding accomplishments.

Rebecca Cornman, daughter of Steve and Debbie Cornman, Carlisle, was recognized as the 1990 Outstanding First Year Dairy Member. Galen Smith, Shippensburg, was recognized for his 25 years service as a 4-H dairy leader. The first year member award is based on the members project book score, fitting and showing score, meeting attendance and member activities.

Craig Walton, son of Dave and Kathy Walton, Carlisle, was named the 1990 Outstanding 4-H Member. Craig has completed seven years in 4-H. He showed animals at the county, district and state levels. Craig participated in both dairy judging and dairy bowl activities. He is currently county council representative for the county-wide dairy club.

Melanie Dietrich, daughter of Bill and Susan Dietrich, Newburg, received the 1990 Achievement Award. The award is based on her activities reported in her blue form. Melanie is currently president of the Blue Mountain 4-H Club and a 4-H Ambassador. She is active in dairy bowl and dairyman contest events.

Craig Walton, right, son of Dave and Kathy Walton, Carlisle, was named the 1990 Outstanding 4-H Member. He received the award from Chris Renner, York Farm Credit.

4-H HAPPENINGS

Wayne County Will Recognize 4-H Leaders

The staff of the Wayne County Cooperative Extension appreciates the time and energy donated to the youth in the 4-H program by the volunteer adult leaders. In 1990, there were 121 adult leaders in 27 4-H clubs in the Wayne County 4-H program, helping 940 young people to learn new skills and become more responsible members of the community.

On Saturday, April 6, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., all Wayne County 4-H leaders, teen leaders and club officers are invited to attend a leader recognition/training meeting and awards luncheon at the extension office in the basement of the Wayne County Courthouse in Honesdale.

The training and information segment of this meeting will include volunteer 4-H leader screening; a workshop on photography and reporting 4-H activities as news; new and/or revised 4-H projects; and general 4-H program information that will be useful to all 4-H leaders.

4-H Dairy Calf Sale

The 16th annual Franklin County 4-H Calf Sale will be held on Friday, April 12, at 7 p.m. The sale will be held at Ralph Horst's sale barn which is located one mile East of Marion along 914 just off I-81 at Exit 4.

The sale, which is open to the public, will feature approximately 20 project calves. Included will be Holsteins and one or two Jerseys. Franklin County 4-H Dairy Council sponsors the sale with commission fees going to support 4-H dairy club educational activities.

Sale catalogs will be available at the sale and at the Franklin County Extension Office after April 10. Richard Crider, Chambersburg, is sale chairman. For more information, contact the Franklin County Extension Office, (717) 263-9226.

The 38th annual Franklin County 4-H Tractor Club awards banquet held recently at the Franklin County Vo-Tech School cafeteria was attended by more than 140 members, parents, and guests, according to county agent Bill Reagan. The dinner was held to recognize project club winners and to complete the annual winter program that involved 45 members this year.

The first year group winners were recognized by club leader Rodney Anderson, Greencastle, with first place honors presented to Joel Gayman, Orrstown. Second place honors went to Matthew Bricker, Chambersburg while the third place award was presented to Robert Benedict, Chambersburg.

Second-year winners were recognized by club leader Roger Dice, Chambersburg, as follows: first place honors went to Darrick Lehman, Greencastle; second place was presented to Luke Zaiger, Waynesboro; third place honors went to Jason Berry, Chambersburg.

In the third year group, club leader Myron Young, Chambersburg, recognized winners as follows: first place went to Sam Myers, Chambersburg; second place to Solomon Hess, Waynesboro; with third place honors going to Simon Zaiger, Waynesboro.

In addition, all third year members, who represent the graduating class, were awarded individual 4-H tractor trophies in recognition of their completion of the three year program.

Awards were made possible through the Franklin County 4-H Development Fund.

Seminars Scheduled For Md. Lamb And Wool Festival

WEST FRIENDSHIP, MD — The Maryland Sheep and Wool Festival on May 4 and 5 will feature seminars of interest to sheep breeders and craft persons. This eighteenth annual Festival will be held at the Howard County Fairgrounds, West Friendship, Maryland.

On Saturday, May 4, the seminars include the following:
9:00 a.m. - Margaret Stull, winner of the adult division of the Maryland Make It With Wool Contest, will offer guidance on sewing with wool.
1:00 p.m. - Clark Newhouse, of The Weaver's Place in Catonsville, will share his expertise on both new and old spinning wheels. He will discuss the care of spinning wheels, and the peculiarities and virtues of different wheels. Examples of different wheels will be on display.
3:00 p.m. - Nancy Norris, fleece judge, will give a talk on fleeces for spinners. Nancy has been a student of this craft for many years.
7:45 p.m. - Dr. Larry Morzinski, of the Pipestone Vocational School in Minnesota, will give a talk on Artificial Insemination and Reproductive Problems in Sheep.

On Sunday, May 5, the seminars include:
9:00 a.m. - Cindy Lollar, of the Springwater Workshop in Alexandria, Virginia, will talk on Advanced Dyeing Techniques. Although this is intended for more advanced dyers, beginners will also profit.
1:00 p.m. - Lee Anderson, author of knitting books and designer of some of television's Bill Cosby's sweaters, will talk on Designing With Color.

Seminars are free and open to the public.
The Festival hours are from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. For further information call Lynne Clary at 301-290-6967.

Spring Into Summer

All adults who expect to be working in a day camp or summer program for urban youth or youth-at-risk are invited to an idea and planning meeting, "Let's Spring Into Summer."

Sponsored by the Chester County Extension 4-H Program, the meeting will be held on April 17, 6:30-8:30 p.m. at the Extension office, 235 W. Market Street, West Chester. Participants will learn how the 4-H program can enhance their summer or day camp experience! 4-H staff will discuss these opportunities during the covered dish dinner.
For further information or to register contact Katherine Smiley or Laurie Sandow at the 4-H office, (215) 696-3500.

How To Purchase Range Hood

How To Purchase A Range Hood

To vent or not to vent? That is the question for many homeowners considering a range hood for their kitchen. Appliance experts say that although both vented and non-vented hoods help keep kitchens cleaner and cooler, there are some important differences.

Vented hoods exhaust cooking grease, smoke odors, heat, and humidity to the outdoors.

Vented hoods require ductwork and an outside wall or ceiling cap, depending on where you direct the air. Before deciding on a vented range hood, you should determine whether any plumbing, heating or electrical work will be in the path of the ductwork, and make sure it can be installed without major renovation.

Non-vented hoods provide a good alternative when outside venting is not possible or practical. They circulate grease, smoke and cooking odors through a charcoal filter, then return the filtered air to the kitchen.

Since they require no ductwork, non-vented range hoods are usually less expensive and easier to install. On the other hand, even though today's non-vented hoods are highly efficient, they cannot rid your kitchen of hot air or humidity the way a vented hood can.

The New Deutz-Allis 9100 Tractors.

Put your hands on one and see for yourself what sets them apart See just how much more performance, power and comfort you can have

All three models—9190 with 193 PTO hp, 9170 with 172 PTO hp, and 9150 with 150 PTO hp—give you the heft and power to handle big tillage jobs To make short work of big acreage

At the heart of each is the legendary Deutz air-cooled engine, known the world over for exceptional ability to stay on the job With no liquid cooling parts, which typically account for 40% of liquid-cooled engine downtime, this engine can save you considerable time and money

And putting that reliable power to work is a field-proven transmission of massive strength With 18 forward speed choices, including nine in the working range of 3 0 to 7 5 mph Plus three powershifts under load in each gear

Step inside the spacious cab and you'll experience comfort and visibility you didn't think possible Plus a full array of convenient controls and monitors All to help boost your productivity to a higher level

Ask your Deutz-Allis dealer to show you the new powerhorses See what sets them apart from the ordinary

It's the right time to apply lime

Lime application during the winter allows the limestone time to react and gives you the advantage of rich, pH-balanced soil for your spring planting. Winter ground conditions also reduce soil compaction and rutting during spreading.

The American Farmer & Goodyear— The Partnership Continues Growing

"For a profitable farming operation today, you've got to take advantage of the best products available. That means putting Goodyear Dyna Torque Radial tires on your tractor."

Russell E Schroeder

Russell E Schroeder, Horicon Wisconsin

Farmers today need to rely on high tech products both for farm management and in the field. That's why more and more farmers are using Goodyear Dyna Torque Radial tires to get the most from their tractor's horsepower.

It's not just good sense to use the tires that'll give you the best return on your investment — it's good business!

The Hard-Working, Hard-Pulling Tractor Rear

DYNA TORQUE II

- Excellent drawbar pull with long-bar, short-bar lugs for improved traction.
- Designed for improved stability and roadability, plus reduced vibration.
- Strong angle-braced lugs have self-cleaning design.
- High-strength polyester cord body and heavy duty rim shield help protect tire from damage.

TRIPLE RIB R/S

- Wide shoulder ribs and rugged rim shield.
- Durable 3-T nylon cord body and 3-rib design assure stamina and steering ability.

With Revolutionary High Traction Tread Design

DYNA TORQUE RADIAL

- Revolutionary 3-lug per pitch design improves traction and ride.
- Computer designed "natural" shape casing improves tire body life.
- Radial construction provides better traction, lower fuel and overall costs.

Youth Are Important Part Of Dairy Show

COLUMBUS, OH — Youth participants will be an extremely important focus of the 1991 Ohio Spring Dairy Spectacular, April 18-20 at the Ohio State Fairgrounds in Columbus. Each of the five breeds will recognize junior winners in the individual classes. Junior and Grand Champion honors of the junior show will be awarded in the Jersey, Ayrshire, Brown Swiss, Guernsey and Holstein Shows.

Youth efforts will also be showcased in the sale arena. The Buckeye Dairy Club of the Ohio State University has spent months of hard work in preparation for their Buckeye Classic Sale, scheduled for Friday, April 19 at 7:30 p.m. According to club advisor Pete Spike the members of the Buckeye Dairy Club coordinate all of the work for the sale, including selections, cataloging, advertising, barn crew, clipping, leading and clerking. The only hired work is for the auctioneering and pedigree reading. The Buckeye Classic Sale has proven to be a very educational experience for the youth participants, and the sale animals comprise a very high quality group.

The Ohio Dairy Spectacular will also host approximately 350 FFA members for the Annual FFA Dairy Judging Contest, Saturday, April 20 at 9:00 a.m. Holding the contest in conjunction with the Dairy Spectacular greatly benefits the students, who have the opportunity to work with tremendous animals for the contest classes.

The Ohio Spring Dairy Spectacular is open to dairy breeders from across the United States and Canada and greatly encourages the participation of youth. For more information about the Dairy Spectacular, write to Gale Betterly, 12573 TR 503, Big Prairie, Ohio 44611, or telephone (216) 378-2171.

GETTING CHICKS OFF TO A GOOD START

Andrew G. Yersin
Assistant Professor Of Poultry Science

The key to a successful broiler growout operation is management of husbandry practices.

In terms of starting flocks, management practices are critical at the following times: between flocks, prior to chick arrival, at time of chick placement, and the first 48 hours after chick placement.

Management practices between flocks should address three areas: the broiler house, litter, and equipment. Between flocks the house should be inspected and repaired with regard to cracks, holes, or structural problems.

The house must also be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected. Unless the organic material is removed, disinfectants do not have an opportunity to perform properly and money is wasted.

Cleaning should also include the service entrance where miscellaneous debris (vitamin packs, feathers, dust, etc.) may have accumulated and the exterior grounds (weeds, grass, etc.).

Litter needs to be either removed or reused. Litter from a previous problem flock should never be reused — this is always a potential disaster waiting to happen. If the litter is reused, then it should be treated to reduce ammonia levels and the accumulated cake around water and feeding devices should be removed.

The entire house should also be raked or tilled to create a uniform and homogenous mixture. All equipment should be thoroughly cleaned. This includes the feed troughs and bulk bins, watering lines, fans (belts and blades), air intake and exhaust slots, as well as lights and reflectors.

Lastly, the entire operation should be checked again for functional capability. Prior to arrival of the chicks, it is critical to establish the proper house and brooder stove temperatures, the proper water and feeding environments, and the proper lighting program.

The simple fact that heat rises tells us that temperatures at floor level will not be the same as at 5 or 6 feet above the level of the litter. House temperatures should run between 75-80 degrees F, while those under the brooder stove should be between 85-90 degrees F.

Remember that thermostats are simply a tool to indicate temperatures — adjustments may need to be made after chicks arrive to ensure their comfort and your production success.

The function of water to the physiological well-being of the chick is critical. The chick has just spent 21 days incubating, a couple of hours in transport to the farm, and in most cases is experiencing some degree of dehydration. Ensure water availability with satellite drinkers in addition to the standard water system utilized in the house.

Water temperature is also critical; birds will drink less hot water regardless of availability. Likewise, water that is excessively cool can cause metabolic disturbances to the recently hatched chick. About 4 hours of acclimatization (water temperature) prior to chick arrival is recommended.

During incubation, the chick has been utilizing yolk stores for energy. These energy stores are still available upon arrival to the house. Due to this and the general stress that the chick is experiencing (hatching, transport, new environment), allow 3-4 hours of adjustment time. Let the chick adjust to the new environment (temperature and state of hydration) and place feed after this short time period.

When feed is placed, utilize trays rather than spreading feed upon paper between feeders. This reduces fecal contamination, litter pecking, and allows the chicks to recognize sources of feed.

The lighting program should be adjusted and checked to ensure the proper light intensity for the activity desired from the chicks. The proper intensity also allows the chicks to readily locate water and feed sources.

At time of chick placement, examine the chicks and record general thriftiness, quality, relative hydration, and mortality during transport. It is also important to immediately cull those chicks that were injured during transport (twisted legs and necks).

Introduce birds to water by tapping water troughs (finger-splashing) or by dripping nipple systems (finger-tapping). Chicks will have an easier time locating the water systems.

The next 48 hours are the most critical. It requires frequent checks of the operation and specific observations. Observe drinking behavior, response to temperature (huddling and avoidance of brooders), and general movement. Watch for chicks that have strayed too far from sources of heat, water, and feed.

Remember that the birds will indicate what they need with regard to the environmental conditions. Adjustments will need to be made to brooder stove temperatures and heights of the water systems.

All these points may seem redundant or common sense to most growers, yet it is easiest to take the simplest for granted. The extra time taken to double check your starting operation will result in a successful flock throughout the growing cycle and, most importantly, at the time of processing.

Mifflin Co. Farmers Meet

LEWISTOWN (Mifflin Co.) — The Mifflin County Farmers' Association held its annual spring meeting at the Camelot Restaurant in Reedsville on March 18.

Eighty-two members and friends of the association heard Mark Ellinger, Mifflin County's governmental relations director, report on the Washington Legislative Conference held March 6 and 7. Ellinger was among those who met with Congressman Shuster's aides to discuss the budget, taxes, capital gains, health insurance deductions, private property rights, environmental restrictions, denial of water rights, and conservation. Audrey Gay Rodgers met with Senator Specter while attending the conference.

Pennsylvania Farmers' Association (PFA) district agent Royal Knepper spoke on PFA's Health Insurance program, including Blue Cross, Blue Shield, and Major Medical. PFA's mail order drug prescription program was also outlined.

In related news, a group of Mifflin County Farmers' Association members are working hard to get ready for "Measure the Candidates" night on May 9. Members of the committee, including Max Hook, Frank Bonson, Ken Loht, Mark Ellinger, Audrey Gay Rodgers, Joe Laughlin, and John Goss, are planning the event, where 18 of the candidates for offices countywide have a chance to state their views and answer questions presented by the moderator.

White Oak Mills Expands Dairy Sales

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — White Oak Mills is proud to announce the addition of James "Jimmy" R. Hill to the White Oak team.

White Oak Mills is excited about the extensive knowledge and expertise that Hill will be able to share with White Oak dairy customers.

Hill has acquired this knowledge while growing up on a dairy farm in Central Maryland and remaining active throughout the years in the raising of dairy cattle on his own farms in Pennsylvania.

Hill is being employed by White Oak Mills as a dairy sales representative, and he will be covering the state of Maryland and the southern Adams County area.

John Wagner, president of White Oak Mills, said, "Jimmy's position was necessitated to help service the increase in dairy sales that White Oak Mills has experienced."

Hill has remained active in the dairy industry; which is evident from the various positions he has held with dairy organizations. He has served on the Maryland Holstein Association's board of directors, and was later elected as vice president and president (a term which he served for two years).

Additionally, he was active in registering Holsteins, with youth state FFA, with the 4-H Club, and served as president for the Maryland Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

Deutz-Allis Establishes Dealer Finance Company

NORCROSS, Ga. — Deutz-Allis Corporation has announced the establishment of a captive finance subsidiary to serve as a dedicated finance source for the company dealers' retail financing. The new company, known as AGCO Farm Finance Corp., began processing new business in January.

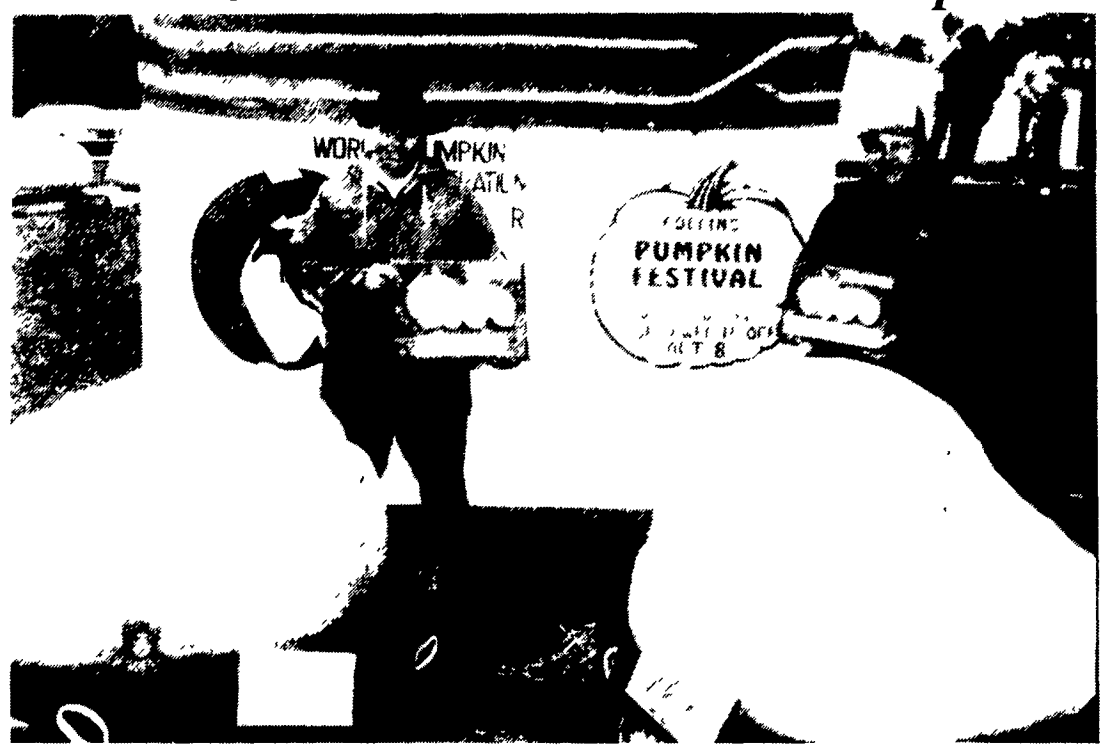
"Because agriculture is a unique industry, we believe it is important for Deutz-Allis dealers to have a funding source and finance programs that specialize in agriculture," said Bernard Doepker, president of the company. "AGCO Farm Finance is dedicated exclusively to financing sales of agricultural equipment to the farmer or other user.

"Our business is to help Deutz-Allis dealers provide their customers efficient and timely financing of their agricultural equipment purchases," Doepker said. "AGCO Farm Finance offers prompt, personalized programs that are competitively priced and closely matched to the customer's ability to pay."

AGCO Farm Finance currently offers three plans to help farmers with their equipment financing needs. All three are structured under lease programs. Two of the programs allow the lessee to purchase the eqiupment at the end of the lease term.

AGCO Farm Finance Corp. is headquartered in Stone Mountain, Georgia.

Gancarz Farms Are World Champions



ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — Gancarz Farms took first and second place for the two largest pumpkins grown in the world at a show in October last year. The first-place pumpkin, on the left, weighed 816.5 pounds. The second place, right, weighed in at 765.5 pounds. According to Gancarz Farms, they credit their win "to lots of hard work, good nutrient application management, and the PARS Plus grower program."

Gancarz Farms grows top quality produce for the local markets.

Deere On 'Most Admired' List

MOLINE, Ill. — Deere & Company again placed first in the industrial and farm equipment category of "Fortune" magazine's annual survey of corporate reputations, entitled "America's Most Admired Corporations."

Deere ranked 45th overall among the 306 large corporations included in the 1990 survey, "Fortune" announced in its February 11 issue.

More than 8,000 senior executives, outside directors, and financial analysts were asked to rate companies within each of 32 industry categories, focusing on eight attributes: quality of management; quality of products or services; innovativeness; long-term investment value; financial soundness; ability to attract, develop and keep talented people; community and environmental responsibility; and wise use of corporate assets.

Deere also ranked first in its industry category in 1989, and has customarily finished at or near the top of its industry group, which includes 10 companies. This was the ninth such "Fortune" survey.

Deere's score was 7.13 of a possible 10. Overall first-place finisher Merck, a pharmaceutical company, scored 8.86.

"Fortune" reported that "Deere has plenty to crow about: sales were up and it has widened its lead over No. 2 Caterpillar," which scored 6.83. The other eight, in order, were Black & Decker, Ingersoll-Rand, Parker Hannifin, Dover, Baker Hughes, Dresser Industries, Cummins Engine and Tenneco.

Only companies with annual sales of $500 million or more are considered. In 1990, Deere & Company earned $411 million on total sales and revenues of $7.9 billion.

Mist Sprayer Is Efficient, Versatile

PENDER, Neb.—Efficient chemical application can be achieved in a wide variety of spraying jobs with the MC-50R mist sprayer, available from Automatic Equipment Mfg. Co.

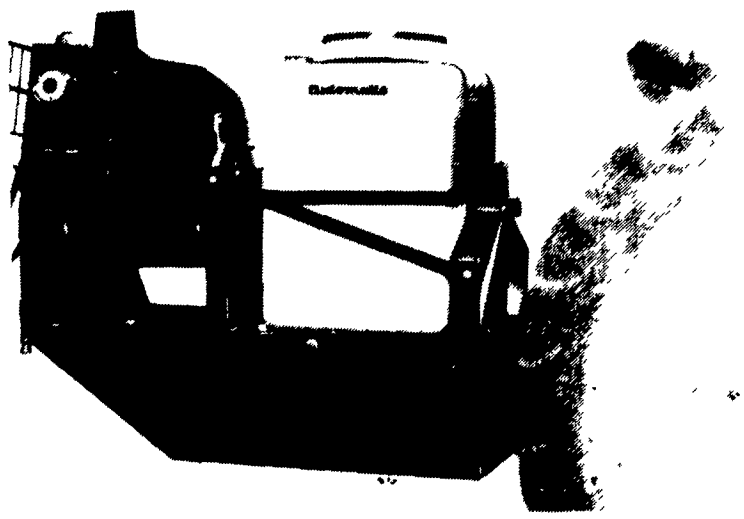
Designed for heavy-duty service, the MC-50R mist sprayer can be used in broadcast or row crop fields, pastures or ranges, orchards and groves. Equipped with a fine particle spray head, the MC-50R provides an effective, economical way to apply insecticides, herbicides, fungicides,and foliar fertilizer.

Like all Automatic mist srayers, the MC-50R is designed to distribute droplets in the size range that provides optimum penetration and coverage for the task at hand. The MC-50R can apply fine sprayers with droplets in the 50-80 micron range, or coarser sprays with droplet sizes up to 250 microns. Air is used as the carrier for the chemical. As compared to conventional dilute solution sprayers, the MC-50R can yield significant savings in chemical, fuel, and labor costs.

The MC-50R hitches to a tractor, and features a heavy-duty PTO with triple V-belt drive. For strength and durability, the unit has a reinforced frame and a skirt assembly with protective plates in front and across the bottom.

Other features include a heavy-duty roller pump, a square 50-gallon polyethylene tank, and a suction hose connection for premixing chemicals in a separate container prior to filling the tank. Sparge agitation helps keep chemicals in suspension.

For more information, contact Automatic Equipment Mfg. Co., One Mill Road, Pender, NB 68047, (402) 385-3051 or Ryder Supply, 539 Falling Spring Road, Box 219, Chambersburg, PA 17201, (717) 263-9111.



The MC-50R mist sprayer can be used in broadcast or row crop fields, pastures or ranges, orchards and groves.

PSEUDORABIES VACCINATION AND ERADICATION WITHIN A SWINE HERD: A CASE STUDY

Timothy P. Trayer, D.V.M.
Hutchison, Trayer and Reed Veterinary Associates
Denver, Pennsylvania

A pseudorabies (PRV) break in your swine unit need not be considered the "kiss" of financial ruin as it once had been for Pennsylvania swine producers. Right now, new and exciting alternatives are available.

Since the summer of 1987, pork producers in Pennsylvania have been allowed to use the very cost-effective PRV vaccine to control and eliminate pseudorabies from their herds. With new federal and state regulations implemented in August 1990, the use of vaccine doesn't automatically mean being quarantined.

The use of gene-deleted PRV vaccine has been successfully applied in other swine counties such as Lancaster to eliminate field virus from the herd without depopulation or interruption of animal flow. This case history, the first herd in Pennsylvania to use PRV vaccine, is another example of the application of vaccine to eliminate the field virus from the herd and release quarantine.

Case Study
Lancaster County

The effects of PR-Vac(R) (Norden) vaccination of pigs after an outbreak of pseudorabies on a swine farm were monitored for almost three years following the outbreak.

The farm studied was located in Lancaster County. The herd consisted of various commercial white breeds. The producer used an all-in/all-out system in the farrowing and nursing facilities and a continuous flow system for the growers/finishers.

Before the outbreak, blood samples obtained quarterly had shown the farm to be free of antibodies against pseudorabies. A sudden increase in pig mortality in the farrowing houses was observed in August 1987. Pseudorabies was diagnosed, and the farm was placed under quarantine.

An eradication plan was created and a vaccination program using PR-Vac (Norden) was begun. All the breeding stock were vaccinated and given a booster three weeks later. Feeder pigs were vaccinated as they left the nursery at 9 to 10 weeks of age. Vaccination of all swine on the farm was then repeated every 3 to 4 months. Replacement animals had to test negative for PRV antibodies using the ClinEASE(R) Kit test, and then were vaccinated twice before being added to the herd.

Utilization of this vaccination and testing method rapidly eliminated the field virus from the herd. Within 18 months from the PRV field virus break, a ClinEASE Kit negative herd was developed. This was faster than the new regulations could be approved and implemented; however, once the ink was dry on the proper papers, the quarantine of this farm was lifted.

Due to economic considerations, we continue to vaccinate on this farm under a monitored non-quarantined basis. This allows the producer to ship feeder pigs, market swine, and cull breeding stock without permits to any market.

Economical Production Analysis

The impact on production in this unit from the PRV outbreak was limited to reproductive loss and farrowing piglet loss. This producer had been utilizing Pig Champ record system over the past 5 years, provided through Hutchison, Trayer, and Reed Veterinary Associates.

An analysis of loss was easily and accurately quantitated with these records. In reviewing production loss, farrowing rate dropped 6.6 percent, and number pigs weaned per litter decreased 1.45 (93 pigs per quarter) — refer to Table 1. Using current dollar value and annualized data, the following cost benefit ratio was developed relative to cash flow:

I. Years 1 and 2 - Vaccinating breeding herd and feeder pigs: Each $1 invested in vaccine returned: $14.98 gross income

II. Year 3 - Vaccinating breeding herd only each $1 invested in vaccine returned: $117.47 gross income.

III. Cash Flow Loss Per Female $239.90 - $399.41 or 17.5 percent of annual cash flow.

As one can see from these dollar figures, if a herd is at risk of a PRV break, vaccination will significantly impact both profitability and cash flow. I'm sure showing these figures to any financial advisor will stimulate support to vaccinate.

In summary, this case study supports the economic reason to vaccinate to protect production and cash flow. The vaccination program was also successfully used to eliminate field exposure from the herd with subsequent lifting of quarantine without negatively impacting cash flow. In this case, vaccination had a significant positive effect on cash flow for each dollar invested in vaccination program.

Aim For The Best - In Coating Film Thickness
To do it right use the finest kind of bristle brush evening out the coating into a film thickness that does not peel in normal moisture stress (found on most barn siding from outside and inside by livestock or stored animal feed)
1. PREPARATION. Peeling old coatings (improperly brushed) needs to be removed The best method is simply water blasting or power washing! High volume of water - medium pressure is best! Done professionally or do it yourself, especially on the easy to reach areas This is resurfacing!!!
2. BEST NEW START ON RESURFACED WOOD SIDING After spraying on this kind of barn paint or stain, take time to pay attention to brush out in all directions to create a film thickness that will prevent future peeling & resurfacing costs & effort This film will let excess moisture breathe through it Depending on the amount of weather wear it can be recoated lightly in 10-15 years. Southern exposures usually wear faster.

Symposium Highlights Fluid Fertilizer Research

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Developing environmentally responsible production systems to enhance farmer and dealer profitability was the focus of research projects discussed at the 8th annual Fluid Fertilizer Foundation (FFF) Symposium held recently in Scottsdale, Ariz.

Leading university and industry researchers gathered to discuss the latest agronomic research on a wide range of commercial crops being supported by the FFF. Don Johnson, research consultant to the foundation, said that a total of 29 projects have bveen funded for 1991, including seven new projects.

Foundation-sponsored projects are focused on applied agronomic and environmental production concerns facing farmers and dealers throughout the U.S., Canada and the United Kingdom, Johnson said.

A common thread found within much of the FFF research is the development of a "systems approach" to agriculture.

"It's becoming clear that dealers and farmers must understand how all elements in a production system interrelate to assure that production systems are economically and environmentally sustainable," he said.

"FFF research is one of the most effective methods our industry has to develop applied research information important to retail dealers," Johnson said.

Two FFF awards were presented at the Symposium. Dr. George Rehm, University of Minnesota, received the 1990 Researcher of the Year award in recognition of outstanding research contributions to the advancement of soil fertility and the fluid concept.

Dr. Duane Westfall, Colorado State University, received the Werner Nelson Award, jointly sponsored by FFF and the National Fertilizer Solutions Association (NFSA), for his continuing support and outstanding achievement in research to develop effective uses of fluid fertilizers.

Growers Wanted

ANNAPOLIS, MD — Fruit and vegetable growers on Maryland's lower Eastern Shore are being contacted about two new tailgate markets planned for the Salisbury and Ocean City areas.

The markets are being worked up by the Marketing Services Section of the Maryland Department of Agriculture (MDA) with the help of the Cooperative Extension Service agents in Wicomico, Worcester, and Somerset counties.

According to Tony Evans of MDA, survey questionnaires have been sent to some 50 farmers in the three counties and adjoining areas to determine which growers would want to sell on the new markets.

"Anyone who is interested and who has not yet been contacted can request a survey form by calling (800) 638-2209 (in Maryland) and request one by giving their name and mailing address," Evans said.

Preliminary plans would have the new markets operate on a grower-only basis and be open one day per week in Salisbury and Ocean City.

Pork Prose

ANTIBIOTIC COMPARISONS

A question pork producers often ask is, "What feed-grade antibiotic should I be using for my grower-finisher hogs?"

For the herd that has a routine respiratory or diarrhea problem, the logical choice is the drug that provides the best response. For the hog producer that sees few problems, the question is no less important, but the answer is more elusive.

We have hundreds of studies demonstrating the effectiveness of adding antibiotics to feed. And trials comparing one drug to another likely number in the dozens.

Because of limitations in facilities and funding, studies comparing five dietary antibiotics for growing finishing hogs are rare. But the University of Nebraska has done just that — recently reporting the results of a trial using nearly 400 pigs and six dietary treatments.

Would you get the same results on your farm?

No way of knowing unless you try it. But it's fair to say that if you have a farrow-to-finish operation and no health problems are apparent, antibiotics may not pay their way in the growing-finishing period.

Producers buying feeder pigs, but handling the facilities on an all-in-all-out schedule, may likewise see little or no benefit to antibiotics.

It's the herd that has a routine diarrhea or respiratory problem, or the feeder pig finisher that handles the facilities on a continuous flow basis that will realize the greatest benefit from feed grade antibiotics.

Are these results consistent with other studies?

In a summary of antibiotic growth rate for all antibiotics in the grower period was 6 percent vs. 2 percent for the finisher period. Likewise, the average improvement in feed efficiency in the grower was 2 percent vs. a 1 percent decrease in the finisher.

• None of the antibiotics provided an economical improvement in feed conversion in either the grower or finisher period. This may be due in part to the fact the trial was conducted under "university" conditions where health problems are less prevalent than that of field conditions. Also, only eight pigs were housed per pen. Had there been 20 to 30 pigs per pen (standard for the industry), the results may have been different.

Is there any justification to rotating antibiotics?

It certainly wouldn't hurt. But keep in mind that bacterial resistance builds fast and antibiotics would have to be rotated fairly often to stay ahead.

For example, the rotation promoted by A. L. Laboratories (producers of bacitracin) is based on field studies in which bacitracin and chlortetracycline were switched back and forth (bacitracin for three weeks, chlortetracycline for one week, continuously).

By my calculations (using their data and present feed and drug costs), the rotation saves about $2.25/head in overall feed and antibiotic expense.

The University of Kentucky has been looking at the antibiotic resistance question for the last 18 years in two of their swine herds. In one herd they stopped using all antibiotics in 1972. In the second operation, feed-grade antibiotics continue to be used in all phases of production and injectables are used as needed. Since that time, researchers have been monitoring antibiotic resistance patterns and herd performance. Their findings were summarized in 1987.

In the drug-free herd, conception rate averaged about 83 percent in 1987. Prior to the drug withdrawals, conception rate averaged over 91 percent. Before pulling out the antibiotics, number born live was 9.8. By 1987, it had dropped to 9.3. Prior to 1972, number weaned averaged 8.8. Since then it's averaged 7.5.

Table 1: Antibiotics evaluated:

	GROWING		FINISHING
ANTIBIOTIC	Grams/ton	Added Cost/ton	Grams/ton	Added Cost/ton
None	-	-	-	-
Virginiamycin	10	$3.00	5	$1.50
Bacitracin	30	$2.75	30	$2.75
Tylosin	40	$7.80	20	$3.90
Chlortetracycline	50	$2.70	50	$2.70
Salinomycin*	25	-	25	-

* Not yet available in swine diets, therefore data not reported here.

Note that all antibiotics were fed at a sub-therapeutic level. At these low levels, pigs grow faster and more efficiently, but there is little if any disease control. At therapeutic levels, the drug concentration is much higher, which improves performance and controls disease.

Pigs were put on trial at 8-10 weeks of age (approximately 53 pounds). Researchers fed a 16 percent-protein (.80 percent lysine) grower diet for six weeks followed by a 14 percent-protein (.65 percent lysine) finisher diet for nine weeks. Pigs weighed about 220 pounds at the end of the trial. The results are presented below.

Compared to the herd where antibiotics are used routinely, pigs in the drug-free herd have a greater incidence of joint problems and skin lesions, a major diarrhea problem has arisen, and each crop of pigs has a higher percentage of "poor-doers."

On the positive side, E. coli bacteria isolated from the feces in the drug-free herd are less resistant to tetracycline than they were 15 years ago. In 1987, less than 30 percent of the fecal coliforms were tetracycline resistant compared to more than 80 percent in 1972.

There are some puzzling things about the resistance patterns in the drug-free herd. For example, bacteria from pigs raised on concrete are more resistant to antibiotics than bacteria from pigs raised on pasture. Bacteria from younger pigs are more resistant than bacteria from older pigs. And trucking pigs 200 miles nearly doubles the antibiotic resistance of their fecal coliforms — resistance that takes several weeks to return to normal. And again, all these differences were found in the drug-free herd.

In the antibiotic herd, more than 90 percent of the fecal coliforms are resistant to tetracycline. But the researchers continue to use the drug and it continues to work. In the last series of trials, tetracycline increased gains by 20 percent and improved feed conversion by 9 percent for early weaned pigs.

Table 2: Effects of feed-grade antibiotics on performance in growing-finishing pigs.

GROWING PERIOD (6 wks)	None None	Virginiamycin	Bacitracin	Tylan	Chlortetracycline
Lb feed/lb gain	2.93	2.83	2.88	2.82	2.87
Feed cost/ton	$160.00	$163.00	$162.75	$167.80	$162.70
Feed cost/lb gain	$.23	$.23	$.23	$.24	$.23
FINISHING PERIOD (9 wks)	None	Virginiamycin	Bacitracin	Tylan	Chlortetracycline
Gain, lb/day	1.60	1.66	1.67	1.62	1.62
Lb feed/lb gain	3.86	3.83	3.93	3.89	3.92
Feed cost/ton	$150.00	$151.50	$152.75	$153.90	$152.70
Feed cost/lb gain	$.29	$.29	$.30	$.30	$.30

What can we learn from this trial?

• All of the antibiotics provided about the same response.

• The antibiotics provided a smaller benefit in the finisher period. Average improvement in effectiveness from all known trials (Hays, 1977), the responses were not markedly different from that shown above.

Summary

1. When used at a subtherapeutic level, the cost effectiveness of using virginiamycin, bacitracin, Tylan or tetracycline is about equal for each antibiotic.

2. The relative response to antibiotics will probably not be equal when used at therapeutic levels, especially when herd health problems exist.

Predicting which antibiotic is best for your conditions will probably require a working knowledge of the disease organisms present, as well as some trial and error.

Bacterial resistance exists but it's clear that antibiotics are still effective. Few studies have been conducted to study the impact of antibiotic rotation. It's probably safe to assume that frequent rotation of antibiotics would be essential for reducing bacterial resistance.

Pesticide Survey Will Aid Risk Assessment Decisions

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Both the Alar apple hysteria of 1989 and recent withdrawal of EBDC fungicides from the marketplace probably could have been avoided if accurate information had been available on their actual usage.

So said Amy E. Brown, pesticide information coordinator for the Cooperative Extension Service, University of Maryland System.

To help head off misinformed risk assessment by government decisionmakers, Brown reports that the Cooperative Extension Service is conducting a survey this spring and summer to provide the U.S. Department of Agriculture with accurate information on the usage of various pesticides by Maryland producers of fruits, vegetables, and field crops.

Golf courses and lawn care companies throughout the state also will be surveyed.

The USDA will then have reliable information to provide the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and other environmental risk-benefit assessment bodies.

Brown Notes that the following pesticide-use practices by most commercial agricultural producers often are overlooked by government decisionmakers, thus contributing to misleading reports in the news media:

• Actual usage of a particular chemical may represent only a small fraction of the total crop acreage.

• Pesticide application rates vary with the pest, soil type, and other considerations.

• Many producers make fewer applications than allowed on the pesticide label. A significant number of them use integrated pest management practices, thus ensuring that pesticides are applied only when needed.

• Growers normally can choose among several products registered for a particular crop. Some of them may not need to use any pesticides in a season when pest problems are not severe.

Brown asks all growers contacted by survey workers to cooperate fully. She reminds them that accurate data on crop yields, pesticide usage, and alternative control practices will help avoid the likelihood of useful — and environmentally safe — pesticides being removed from the marketplace by regulatory agencies.

Drop In Milk Prices Will Cost Jobs

DOYLESTOWN (Bucks Co.) — Members of the Bucks Co. unit of the National Farmers Organization (NFO) welcomed the national NFO Vice President Renee Niese as speaker to their annual banquet held recently at the Plumsteadville Fire House.

Niese urged those farmers present to support farming with their membership in NFO. NFO works for a fair price for farm production by negotiating with buyers for blocks of production.

"NFO has initiated the practice with dairies buying their members' production, to make payments three times a month, instead of the traditional twice monthly practice," said Niese. "This reduces the 45-day traditional wait and works toward a time when payments will be made even more quickly and oftener. Payments can now be made by direct wire to banks instead of waiting for mail delivery. Producers of other farm products do not generally have to wait weeks or months for payment and milk producers should have the same advantage," he said.

NFO has also set up an income protection insurance program, at no cost to the dairy farmer, in the event of a catastrophe that may interrupt his milk production, Niese said.

Niese said that the drop in milk prices last year will contribute to the loss of jobs nationally, since farmers will not be able to build or buy new equipment. According to Niese, every farm job created means 23 jobs created in industry.

Communities of 5,000 persons or less will get smaller and will lose their hospitals, schools, and industries. It is vital to the national economy that farm production be paid a cost of production price plus a fair profit.

Producers interested in more information about NFO may contact Bucks Co. NFO President William Garges, 3014 Bristol Rd., Warrington, PA 18976, (215) 348-5514.

SELECTING A HERD BULL

Records must be kept for income taxes, property ownership, registered livestock, and licensed equipment, like your farm truck and livestock trailer. Most of these are required by law.

However, it is the optional records, such as performance records of beef cattle and crops, which can make the most money for you. These optional records provide benchmarks so you can determine where you were and how far you are toward satisfying your goals.

These optional records give you facts to use in making future decisions, because no one can remember every detail of past history. Perhaps performance records can no longer be considered optional, but more appropriately and necessary if you are to be a successful cattleman.

Selection of your beef herd sire should positively include performance records. If you have been using records to cull your cowherd and to select replacement heifers, it doesn't make much sense to buy a bull of unknown quality. All possible information should be used in selecting a herd bull, including EPDs (expected progeny differences), weaning weight, yearling weight, average daily gain, feed efficiency, frame score, scrobal circumference, pelvic size, and any available carcass data.

EPDs generally includes data for birth weight, weaning weight, yearling weight, maternal milk and sometimes carcass estimates for fat thickness, loin eye size, and marbling.

Often, ultrasound measurements are available for fat thickness and loin eye area. Most of the information I've listed were available on the 60 bulls offered for sale at Pennsylvania's 18th Performance Tested Bull Sale on Friday at the Penn State Ag Arena.

Perhaps you are puzzled about how much you can afford to pay for a bull with all of this performances information. Keep in mind that proper bull selection is the fastest and easiest way to improve productivity in a cowherd.

Conrad Grove, a successful and experienced Pennsylvania cattleman, once told me that a good, tested yearling bull should be worth at least the value of two choice steers. For example, if we take two 1,200-pound choice steers valued at $.80/pound, they would be worth $1,920 — what you can afford to pay for an average tested bull. Add $100 to every category of superiority and you will easily find yourself in the $2,000-$2,500 price range. If you think I'm crazy, review some recent bull test sale reports and you'll find many sales averaging more than $2,000 per bull!

Performance records are of no valve if you don't use them. They are of little value if you don't use them properly. But performance records, when properly evaluated, make your job as a cattleman much easier and the progress that can be achieved is a source of much satisfaction as well as improved profitability.

Harvesting Wool

Although the actual procedures of shearing and removing the annual clip of wool from sheep remain basically the same throughout the world, the facilities and equipment that are used vary greatly between countries.

Shearing facilities in the United States vary from tents set up in corrals to enclosed trailers to permanent buildings used only for that purpose. On the farm the barn is usually designated the shearing area and is used for others purposes during the rest of the year.

In all cases the following steps, which are all the owner's responsibility, can improve the clip and reduce contamination levels from the shearing facility.

- Provide clean, dry holding areas for the sheep.
- Keep sheep off food and water for 12 hours prior to shearing.
- Do not bed sheep down on hay the night before shearing.
- Ideally, use slotted floors in the catch pens. This allows manure, straw and dirt to drop through the slots so that they are not dragged out onto the shearing floor with the sheep. Portable slotted floor panels can be constructed with 2-inch boards spaced an inch apart usually in 4-foot x 8-foot sections.
- Provide a firm shearing floor with adequate room and a sweepable surface.
- Plan a free flow of sheep through the facility.
- Provide an area for preparing or skirting fleeces and for bagging.
- Provide ample light and ventilation for efficient shearing and wool handling.
- If you are interested in shearing your own sheep, consider the 5th annual Sheep Shearing School sponsored by Penn State Extension and the Lancaster County Sheep and Wool Growers Association. The school is scheduled April 5 and 6 at the Ed Harkins Farm in Pequea. For more information call (717) 394-6851.

Swine Health Slaughter Checks

During the growing-finishing period of swine production, two economically important infectious diseases can adverly affect growth rate: feed-efficiency and days-to-market. Some respiratory diseases, such as harmophilus pneumonia, will be apparent clinically in a herd and cause death losses and sick pigs.

Frequently, however, diseases such as mycoplasma pneumonia and atrophic rhinitis are subclinical; that is, affected pigs are not obviously ill. Since these subclinical diseases are economically important and they are controllable, it is important for the producer to have a means of monitoring the extent and severity of these conditions.

Slaughter check is a proven method for monitoring respiratory diseases in market hogs. The check is an examination of snouts and internal organs at the slaughter facility. Several studies have shown that mycoplasma pneumonia and atrophic rhinitis (AR) are widespread and cause reduced grower/finisher performance.

Both atrophic rhinitis and pneumonia are widespread in swine herds. Slaughter check of Pennsylvania market hogs revealed that about two-thirds of animals examined had observable lesions of pneumonia and a similar proportion had AR. There were marked differences between farms and at difference seasons of the year.

The internal organs of market hogs can be examined at the slaughter house to monitor the prevalence and severity of respiratory diseases.

Information regarding some other conditions such as mange or parasite migration through the liver can also be evaluated. Obtaining information from slaughter checks that is useful in management and disease control decisions requires careful timing and selection of animals to examine.

Weaver Becomes Head Of Poultry Science Department

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co—Dr. William D. Weaver, Jr. has been named head of the poultry science department in Penn State's College of Agriculture effective June 1.

Weaver has been a member of the poultry science faculty at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University in Blacksburg, Virginia since 1966. His diverse background includes research, teaching and advising, but his primary emphasis is cooperative extension work.

"My extension program has focused on evaluating and managing the effects of the overall environment on the production of broiler and broiler breeder chickens," says Weaver. "My applied research has been closely related to my extension program and has been supported by the Virginia poultry industry and other agencies."

He says his top priority will be to strengthen ties between Penn State Cooperative Extension and the poultry industry in Pennsylvania. "All members of the faculty, including those with research appointments, should be aware of the industry and its needs," he said "I plan to spend a lot of time in the field meeting with industry leaders to determine how we can direct our activities to meet their needs."

Another high priority will be to further upgrade the undergraduate curriculum to attract outstanding students who can fill positions in the growing poultry industry after graduation. "The availability of jobs in the industry is a selling point to attract students. We need to get the message out in many different ways, and then produce well-trained and educated graduates," he said.

Weaver joined the Virginia Tech faculty in 1966 as an instructor and extension specialist. He was named assistant professor in 1971 and associate professor in 1975. He attained the rank of full professor in 1983. Since 1975, he has served as extension project leader for poultry pograms.

Weaver earned B.S. and M.S. degrees in poultry science from Virginia Tech, and his Ph.D. in poultry science from Penn State. He has authored or co-authored dozens of abstracts and articles for refereed journals and trade publications. For six months during 1989, he conducted research at The Spelderholt Centre for Poultry Research and Extension in Beekbergen, the Netherlands.

A native of Virginia, Weaver was raised on a general purpose farm where his family owned and operated a leghorn chick hatchery, maintained layer/breeder flocks, and raised corn, soybeans and small grain.

Weaver succeeds Dr. Herbert S. Siegel, who will step down after almost seven years as head of poultry science. Siegel cites the recruitment of several highly renowned researchers, a strengthened teaching program and the acquisition of funds for a new poultry research farm as the highlights of his tenure.

Siegel, who will remain as a member of the department's faculty, will take sabbatical leave this summer to participate in a nine-month research project at the Agricultural University in Wageningen, the Netherlands.

Give Your Heifer Program A Checkup

ANNAPOLIS, MD — Dairy producers will soon have an opportunity to gauge the productivity of their herds. The heifer program checkup is part of the USDA:APHIS National Animal Health Monitoring System's (NAHMS') National Dairy Heifer Evaluation Project. The program will assist producers across the United States in identifying areas of potential improvement relating to herd health within their operations.

Evaluations will be offered for milk replacer quality, heifer growth, colostrum delivery system, fecal shedding rates for common enteric agents, and blood selenium levels. The participating farmers may choose to take part in one or all of the areas. In addition, producers will be asked to record occurrences of health events in preweaning calves for a three-month period. At the end of the three months, the results of all the evaluations will be returned to them with comparisons to averages of other, anonymous area producers.

Producers from 28 states, including Maryland, will be contacted regarding participation beginning in the spring of 1991.

NAHM and the National Dairy Heifer Evaluation Project are sponsored by the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS).

For more information, contact David F. Vogt, AVIC, USDA APHIS VS, 2568A Riva Road, Room 207, Annapolis, MD, 21401, 301/962-7726.

Livestock Ledger

from a production unit should be examined at a slaughter check. Examination of less than 30 hogs may not adequately represent the herd situation. For small farms, however, 30 market hogs may not be available for slaughter at one time.

To adequately represent seasonal differences in farm respiratory problems, at least spring and fall slaughter checks should be performed, four times a year at three-month intervals would be better. Herd size, management factors, and patterns of marketing will affect the frequency and timing of slaughter checks.

Dr. Larry Hutchinson, Penn State Extension veterinarian, reminds producers that planning a slaughter check involves coordination of slaughter plant personnel and the veterinarian who will perform the slaughter check. Factors necessary for the efficient conduct of a slaughter check are explained in the recently released "Pennsylvania Swine Health and Biosecurity Manual." Information on this valuable guide can be obtained by calling your local agriculture extension office.

Respiratory diseases can be costly, even in the absence of death losses and clinically ill pigs. Slaughter checks are an important means of monitoring the extent and severity of respiratory diseases. Such information should lead to more informed decisions on management, ventilating, vaccination, and medication.

Manheim Young Farmers Recognize Winners

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — The Manheim Young Farmers recently recognized several individuals at their spring banquet.

Lamar Miller, Manheim, received the Ear Corn Award for producing 205.4 bushels per acre. He also received the Full Soybean Award for a production of 86.5 bushels per acre.

Recipient of the Corn Silage Award was Wayne Erb, Mt. Joy, for producing 24.5 tons per acre.

Darryl and Ruby Bollinger, Manheim, received several awards: Double Soybean Award for producing 48.6 bushels per acre; Rolling herd Average Award for 20,419 pounds of milk; High Two-Year-Old Milk award for 20,000 pounds milk; and the Lifetime Milk Award for 310,760 pounds milk.

John Haldeman, Manheim, received the Tobacco Award.

The Herd Improvement Award was given to Ed Sensenig, Manheim, for an increase of 4,635 pounds of milk.

The Community Service award went to Jim and Sue Musser, Mount Joy. Jim, owner of M & R Grains, farms 350 acres. He has cows and chickens and is actively involved in the Mid-Atlantic Soybean Association, Elm Tree PTO, and is a member of the Hempfield Church of the Brethren.

The Outstanding Young Farmer Under-30 Award was presented to Barry and Dawn Geib, Manheim. Geib farms 110 acres and owns a 120-sow farrowing operation. Geib also is a salesman in hog sales for White Oak Mills. He was regional vice president for Pennsylvania Young Farmers from 1985 to 1987.

Earl and Evelyn Landis, Manheim, were presented with the Outstanding Young Farmer Over-30 Award. They farm 135 acres and own 55 cows and 40 replacements. They are members of the East Petersburg Mennonite Church.

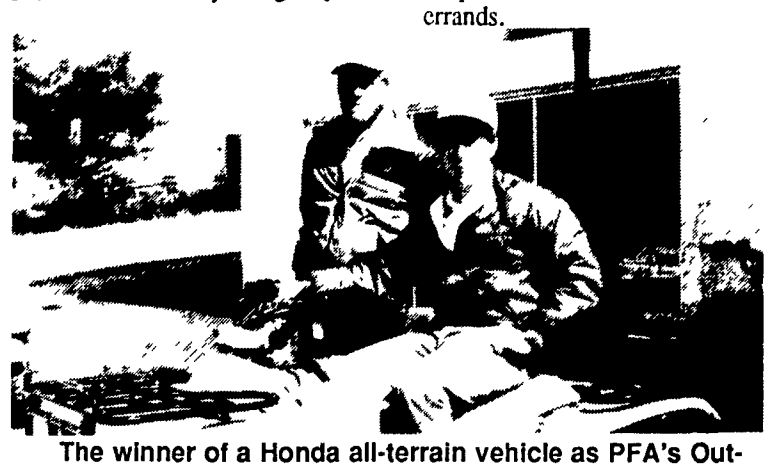
Pergosky Picks Up Young Farmer Award

CAMP HILL (Cumberland Co.) — The winner of the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association's (PFA) 1990 Outstanding Young Farmer Award has been presented a Honda TRX300 all-terrain vehicle from the American Honda Motor Company.

John Pergosky, III, of R.D. 3, New Tripoli, picked up his prize earlier this month from Willard Miller, owner of Miller's Cycle Shop, 439 State Road, Palmerton. The ATV is equipped with a hauling rack and hitch for farm work. Pergosky is also eligible for ATV rider training sessions.

Earlier this year Pergosky and his wife, Ann, attended the convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation in Phoenix, Ariz., as PFA's representative in a nationwide outstanding young farmer program.

Perkosky was named PFA's Outstanding Young Farmer during its annual meeting last November in Hershey. Pergosky, who operates a 1,000-acre hay marketing business with his brother Matthew, said the ATV will be put to good use in getting around the farm to check on field crop conditions and do other errands.



The winner of a Honda all-terrain vehicle as PFA's Outstanding Young Farmer, John Pergosky, of New Tripoli, tries out his prize as his brother Matthew looks on.

PARLOR OWNERS...
GAIN MILKING CONTROL LIKE NEVER BEFORE.
Upgrade your worn-out parlor with Blue Diamond. It's the front ends that show the greatest wear and affect cow position and comfort the most. Blue Diamond shows its strength HERE.
What's more, now you can introduce to your parlor consistent control and a snug fit in milking combinations of any size cow, while ensuring their safety and comfort. Bring them to within easy reach for milking.
Whether you are a large or small dairy, convert your parlor to serve today's demands for labor efficiency. Never before has it been so simple and cost-effective!
New Parlor - Mt. Pleasant Farms

"Indexing front ends only were installed in our existing double 6 parlor because the old front ends were worn-out and causing us maintenance problems. I was really pleased with how easy our 35 first calf heifers adapted to the indexing fronts. Cow comfort and ease of positioning regardless of cow size make milking our 170 Holsteins a lot easier. These new front ends are very well built and will last longer than anything else in our parlor!"

Small Dairy, Bottling Plant Works

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

NEW DANVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Low milk prices? So what?

While the highs and lows of milk prices are affecting every producer differently it is leaving many trying to survive.

For Larry and John Hess, a brother partnership behind Pine View Dairy in New Danville, the price of milk doesn't make that big of a difference.

Located four miles south of the city of Lancaster, they have a steady and dependable supply of patrons to create demand for their milk. And they have a dependable supply — a 130-cow milking herd and a processing plant and store by which to supply and retail it.

Except for the late winter milk surpluses, the Hesses can pretty well match supply with demand. And they don't get caught short.

They raise and milk their grade Holsteins, pasteurize and "bottle" their milk and then sell it. No middlemen. No premiums to worry about collecting or assessments to pay out. They produce what they need to fulfill customer demand for drinking milk and ice cream (also made on the farm).

But they are lucky.

According to Larry Hess, he and his brother John took over the farm in 1971 from their father David Hess.

It had been a smaller, one family dairy at the time. The brothers changed that.

During the early '70s there were a number of on farm dairy operations that popped up across the state. They numbered somewhere around 300. Today there are about 50.

And the Hess brothers, while taking over the family farm, decided that in order to expand, they should also build the bottling plant.

One of the main reasons for building the bottling plant and the retail store was to cut out the middle man. Larry Hess said it was necessary. "Back then we were only getting $5 a hundredweight."

Although many of the operations that started at the time used plastic or glass jugs (and the Hesses did try plastic jugs), the Hess brothers decided to go with plastic bags.

The plastic bag system consists of a milk injection and bag sealing machine that doesn't take as much room or equipment at a glass bottling operation.

The consumer purchases washable plastic pitchers into which the bags are placed. To pour, a corner of the bag is snipped off, creating a clean spout. To seal, the plastic "spout" is easily and quickly pulled downward into a slot.

The system is quick and easy.

When they started selling milk, they retailed milk at 98 cents a gallon. Now they retail it at $1.90.

This manure tank can hold about 5 month's worth of manure. Along with the 1-month supply in the underground gravity storage, a 6-month supply of manure can be stored and used when needed on the 160 acres of cropland farmed by the Hess brothers at Pine View Dairy.

The Pine View Dairy in New Danville has been an on-farm dairy-bottling plant for the past 20 years. A brother partnership, it has allowed the two to market their own milk and provide a more even financial keel for the entire operation.

But, being an independent retail operation, they can set their own price. Larry said they currently try to maintain a 30 cents difference between their price and supermarket prices.

And while the majority of those independent on-the-farm dairies that cropped up in the '70s have since gone away, the Hess operation has thrived.

Larry said he doesn't know exactly why. He said proximity to the city is probably a large reason, but he said figuring out consumer trends is very difficult.

Nevertheless, Pine View Dairy has worked.

In the first years, they started with about 60 head in a newly built freestall with a double-four parlor.

Several years later, they doubled the size of the freestall building and the herd.

It has remained pretty consistant over the years.

John Hess manages the plant, while Larry is primarily responsible for the feed operation and assisting with jugging and . . .

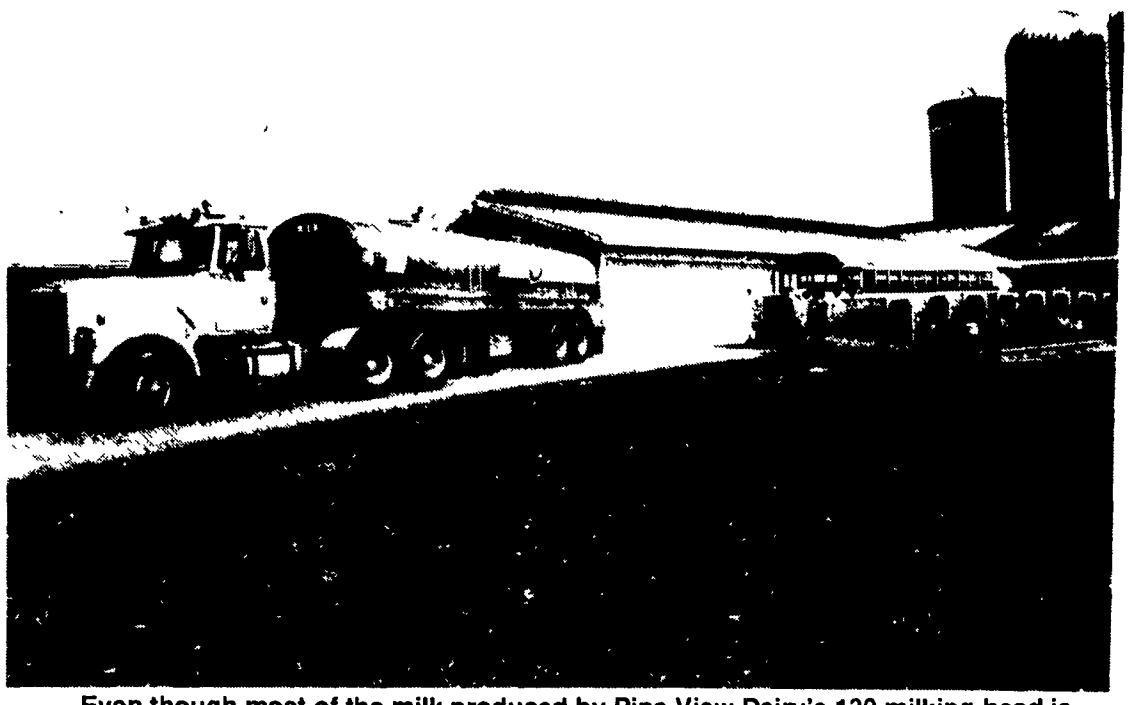
LEADERSHIP AT WORK®



Even though most of the milk produced by Pine View Dairy's 130 milking head is used for drinking milk and ice cream retailed at the farm, at certain times of the year, the surplus is marketed through Atlantic Dairy Cooperative. During the winter, they ship about twice a week.

They have their system worked out. It's like most other farms that way.

They employ 8 parttime people and one fulltime herdsman, Jay Snavely. The three of them run the farm.

Larry's wife Janet manages the store.

John has the ice cream end of it. He manufactures ice cream once a week.

A visit to the farm-dairy store reveals a large, attractive, functional, yet esthetically pleasing operation.

This week they served as host for several hundred fourth grade students from Lancaster school district. But the cleanliness wasn't merely on their account. The farm gets a public scrutiny every day.

A number of calf hutches are located on the lee side of the milk house and the store. A raised bed of gravel, bordered by railroad ties keeps the drainage good and constant attention to bedding and food and water supplies also helps maintain a good image for the dairy.

It also provides a chance for the farm families to establish a rapport with their customers.

Along side the store, between the parking lot and the calf hutches, is a grass lawn with a couple of trees and picnic tables. It is used by customers who come for ice cream and other items available in the store.

Larry said that the children and many adults visit the calves. He said he is glad for it. It gives the customer a chance to see how the animals are treated, and to pet them and get the animals used to people.

As far as milk production business goes, the Hesses don't quite stick out as an example for the industry. They don't register animals, they don't feed a total mixed ration, and they don't have the regular testing as many do. They have owner-sampler, and since they don't raise cows for breeding, they don't register them, they milk them. But they do breed, through Atlantic Breeders Cooperative, for longevity and milk production.

And their cows get a copper sulfate footbath twice a week, attention to hoof trimming, a chance at outside pasture, good consistent feed, and lots of attention.

They also get protection in that Jay and the Hess brothers are careful about biosecurity.

It's been a closed herd for the last five years and they don't allow just anybody to go walking around their barn. Just as much as any other dairyman, they don't want disease or parasites to become introduced onto the farm and hurt their herd.

They also have set up a simple, clean and cow-friendly feeding system based on conveyor belts for the forages and computers for the "candy."

Previously, with plain bunk feeding and heavy competition, the bigger and stronger cows or heifers would prevent some others from getting their fair share of feed. This way, they all get enough forages and they get their individualized grain and top dressing feeds.

The two computer feeders each allows only one to feed at a time. They quickly learn the entire system, and they seem to "know" when a new day's ration is available again.

"I really think that helped us. We only have two groups (high production, low production). Now we are not over- or under-feeding.

They feed corn silage, haylage and high moisture ear corn as a staple. And Larry said they are considering going to year-round feeding of haylage to cut down on the trouble of dealing with baled hay.

The flow of milk from the herd is a little different also. Instead of getting real heavy just as school lets out and then dwindling back into fall, the Hess herd starts picking up milk production late summer into the fall and then continues through to spring before dropping back.

Summer is when they don't have as much of a market as they would like. While the reason for the drop in demand is related to school letting out, it's not because of a cut in school milk demand, it's because families go off on vacation.

"You'd be surprised how much of an impact a couple families away on vacation can make," Larry said.

And they do feel the drop in milk price in this respect — it has come down in the competition's stores. So they will feel that.

But in the long run, the Hess operation doesn't have the extremes in milk check that other have or will have.

"It's been good to us," Larry said.

This high-ceilinged, four division freestall barn allows for excellent ventilation.

DON'T BUY ANY TYPE OF INSULATION UNTIL YOU READ THIS IMPORTANT MESSAGE!

Now you can update and insulate your buildings with lifetime Pure Aluminum Foil Reflective Insulation. It has been designed for poultry and livestock buildings, metal buildings, hog farms, veal houses, horse and cattle barns, cold storage houses, egg rooms, etc. Why not have a cleaner and healthier environment and never have to reinsulate again. Our Pure Aluminum Foil Reflective Insulation will last forever.

Old style standard types of insulation merely slow down your heat loss and deteriorate rapidly. They were not designed for agricultural use. Our Pure Aluminum Foil Reflective Insulation stops your heat loss COLD and will last forever.

We have done business with many people (384 accounts) in the farming and agricultural business, and most of them all tell us the same thing. Whenever moisture or condensation strikes standard types of insulation they lose all of their "R" values, the rats and mice love it, it is very dangerous in a fire because of the toxic gases omitted and it just does not hold up very long. Our reflective aluminum foil insulation will last a lifetime and will continue to reflect heat back in the direction that it came, thereby keeping all buildings cooler in the summer and warmer in the winter.

Why keep throwing your hard earned money away on cheap and inferior types of insulation when you can buy the best for just a little bit more and never have to replace it again. Doesn't it make good sense to do the job right the first time and end your insulation problems once and for all?

WHY SHOULD YOU CONSIDER BUYING PURE ALUMINUM FOIL REFLECTIVE INSULATION:

1. It completely eliminates condensation in all metal buildings.
2. Specially coated outer surfaces can stand high pressure cleaning.
3. Resistant to stains, mildew, chemicals and animal waste.
4. Not affected by birds, vermin or rodents.
5. Very easy to install with a staple gun. Goes up easy.
6. It surpasses all building code requirements, is fire resistant, NFPA Class A, UBC Class I. Flame spread 25. Smoke density 15.
7. And much, much more.

Wet brewers grain is more than a good feed. It's a good business ingredient.

Each day, up to 100,000 U.S. dairy cows feed on rations containing wet brewers grain. That's because their owners know it minimizes feed costs while it maximizes production.

Wet brewers grain is a high-protein feed ingredient. It's always fresh, because it's delivered directly to your dairy. It fits into most programs, is easy to handle, and easy to store.

Call us today. One of our professional feed consultants will help you work wet brewers grain into your ration, so you can make it a profitable ingredient for your business.

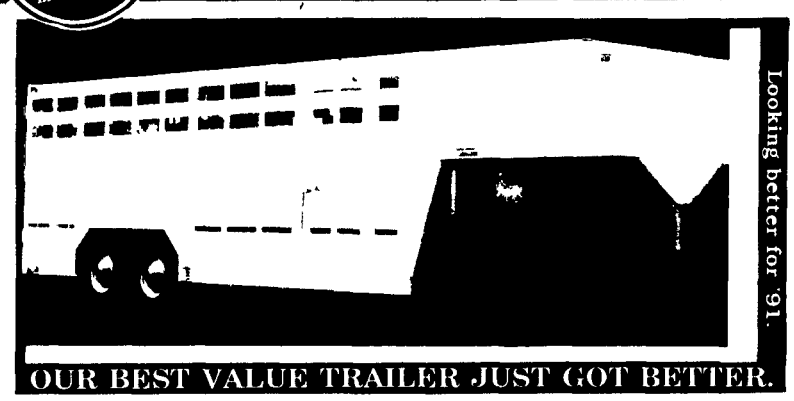
EBY BLUE BALL, PA

WRANGLER



OUR BEST VALUE TRAILER JUST GOT BETTER.

The new Wrangler. More aerodynamic. Better looking. And the strongest Wrangler yet. With top-quality components and rugged construction, this Wrangler is the best trailer value you can find.

- LIGHTWEIGHT- Eby stock trailers are 25-35% lighter than comparable steel trailers Less weight means better fuel mileage or increased payload
- MAINTENANCE- Eby aluminum trailers won't rust. Welding and painting can cost you dollars in down time and repairs.
- DURABILITY- Eby trailers are built tough Quality components and 6061 alloy aluminum provide the ruggedness required in a livestock trailer

Super All Traction 23°

R-1

- New top-of-line bias-ply tractor rear, featuring our long bar/long bar design for tread stability, and heavy bar bracing to extend tread life.
- Long wearing and smooth riding, due to the more uniform, flatter contour of the long bar/long bar design.
- Proven 23° bar angle for traction and open center for self-cleaning.
- Bead and rim protector shields the rim to help keep stubble and soil from getting between the bead and rim flange.

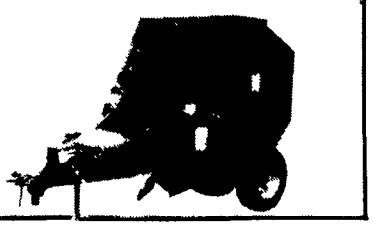
SEE BINKLEY & HURST BROS., INC. FOR QUALITY BALERS VERY REASONABLY PRICED FOR THE SMALL FARMER

Hay and Forage

Product Highlights

- The Case International 8420 Round Baler was designed with the smaller operation in mind It produces weather-tight bales that measure 39 inches (99 m) wide and up to 54 inches (1 37 m) in diameter It is priced to be competitive
- Open-throat, vertical bale chamber permits crop material to feed directly into the bale chamber eliminating the need for platform belts, chains and compression rollers The variable chamber also provides the capability of making bales that range from 30 inches to 54 inches in diameter
- Main frame, axle and hitch are unitized box construction utilizing high strength steel components to resist twisting and increase service life
- Force feed design provides immediate core formation and allows the operator to bale straw, cornstalks and crop residue just as easily as hay crops
- Dual bale tension arms maintain uniform belt tension and high density from the core to the finished bale
- Low profile pickup, 37 9 inches wide, sweeps the ground clean while standard rubber gathering wheels pull in extra wide, wind blown windrows for more uniform filling of bale ends
- The windguard holds the crop down while the pickup tines feed the crop into the bale chamber in an even flow

8420 Round Baler

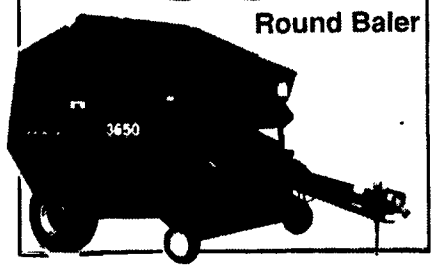


- Choice of manual or hydraulic twine-wrap syster to match any budget or operation
- Bale size indicator provides operator with constant reference of bale size during bale making process

IN STOCK WITH MANUAL TIE.

Hay and Forage

3650 Round Baler



- Open throat fixed volume bale chamber permits crop materials to be fed directly through the 13 inch (3 40 mm) throat opening The 11 inch (279 mm) wide belts move the crop to the curing belts
- Endless molded forming belts constructed of nylon fiber layers and reinforced with two fiberglass plies last up to 40 times longer than spliced belts of comparable materials

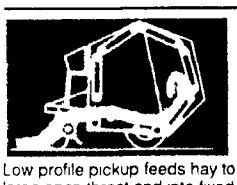
Product Highlights

- Control monitor for electric tie mounted on the tractor allows operator to adjust twine tying speed Light and buzzer indicate when bale is ready to tie
- Dual gauge wheels are standard equipment They protect the pickup from damage in rough or uneven fields
- Main frame, axle and hitch are constructed of high strength rolled box beam steel resist twisting forces from rough and uneven fields
- Driveline is shear bolt protected from overloads or obstructions preventing possible expensive damage and downtime

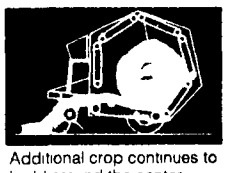
The Case International 3650 Round Baler produces large weather resistant bales 6 feet (1 83 m) in diameter and 5 feet (1 52 m) in width and is designed to combine high production performance with easy operation

- Low profile pickup 75 75 inches (1 92 m) wide gets all the crop open end design pulls in the crop without hairpinning The four bar 88 tooth reel lifts and moves the crop smoothly to the bale chamber with minimum leaf loss
- Electrically controlled dual twine arms assure fast efficient tying
- Bale counter is standard It allows the operator to keep track of yields as well as amount of work accomplished
- Constant velocity driveline allows quiet operation at turning angles up to 80 degrees
- Wide 11 inch belts provide almost 92% bale coverage to minimize crop and leaf loss

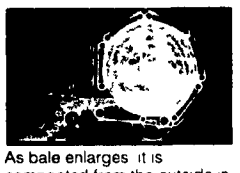
How 3650 Round Baler Produces Better Bales



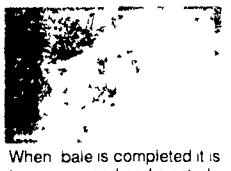
Low profile pickup feeds hay to large open throat and into fixed bale chamber Bottom belts move material to the rear where lower forming belts lift and tumble material to the center of the chamber No rolls to crush and mat the crop



Additional crop continues to build around the center material



As bale enlarges it is compacted from the outside in The result is a hard well formed weather resistant outer shell with breathable core



When bale is completed it is twine wrapped and ejected There is no need to back up the baler to eject with the optional trip gate

WIL-RICH Row Crop Cultivators

HUTCHINSON WIL RICH MANUFACTURING COMPANY
BOX 1030 • WAHPETON NORTH DAKOTA 58074

The 7700 Series Row Crop Cultivators Are Designed For You.

The WIL-RICH 7700 Series offers you a row crop cultivator for almost any job. The 7710 is a Danish tine unit designed for high speed work in most soil conditions and 7720 C-shank models give you extra muscle for hard packed ground. Step up to the 7750 Series. It's designed to handle a wide variety of row crop cultivating jobs — from ridge-till corn to conventional tilled beans.

Rigid models are available in 4-, 6-, and 8-row units. Flatfold models come as either 8-, 12- or 16-row units.

HARVEST TEC SKID FEEDER-40

The SKID FEEDER - 40 is designed to turn your skid steer loader into a cross between a feed cart and a feed wagon. Now you can move feed from your silos and storage bins to anyplace on your farmstead without making a major investment. The SKID FEEDER - 40 discharges feed from the bottom of its hopper as you drive forward for efficient bunk or alley feeding. Consider the time and work the SKID FEEDER - 40 could save you in:

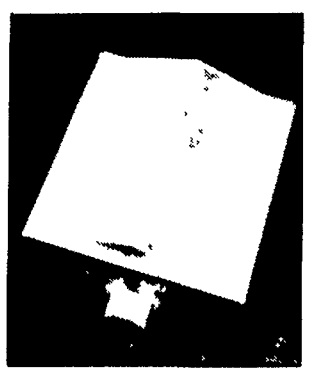
- Moving silage and other feeds to side buildings and pens.
- Feeding in tight spots both inside and outside.
- Transferring TMR's to locations not served by automatic equipment.



FEATURES...

- 40 cubic feed hopper capacity (holds up to 1200 pounds of feed).
- Feeds outside the wheel track of the skid steer loader.
- Hopper can be raised for feeding into a bunk.
- Quick attachment plates available for most skid steer loaders.

When a tractor is this comfortable and easy to operate, it makes you more productive. And, we have a complete line of mowers, loaders and implements to match your needs.

Everyone's favorite the new Ford "30 Series"!

- Durable, responsive hydrostatic steering.
- Stronger front axles.
- Your choice of 2WD or 4WD.
- Cab or ROPS units.

MODEL	3230	3430	3930	4630
PTO hp*	32	38	45	55

*Manufacturer's estimate with 8x2 transmission

- Power. From the proven Ford engine. Three of the tractors feature more horsepower than before.
- Performance. Smooth hydrostatic steering is dynamic, durable. Front axles are beefed-up for long life. And Ford live PTO, hydraulics and strong drivetrain are known for their abilities.
- 8x8 transmission. Fully synchronized; it's the perfect loader transmission.
- 16x8 Dual-Power transmission. A flick of a switch increases rear wheel torque 28%... without clutching.

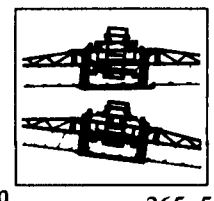
THE INSIDE STORY

Take a critical look at Vicon's automatic stabilizing boom system when you want the best shot at effective weed control.

Isolated from the sprayer by a low friction, four point linkage, the boom's weight keeps it level, while the tracks rotate around the rollers, absorbing bumps and bounces, levelling the way for pinpoint accuracy, end to end. The reversible AS4 linkage levels the boom to the horizon or to the sprayer axle for spraying on sloping fields. Triangular boom construction and 3-dimensional bracing puts muscle and rigidity where you need it.



You can change ground speed or shut off a boom section without worrying about over or under spraying. Vicon's FLO/BO system automatically maintains a constant application rate so you get better coverage with less waste.

Features like four point filtration, chemical pre-mix tank, sparge tube agitation and hand wash tanks make crop spraying safer and less of a chore.

Trailer sprayers are available with 365, 510, 785 or 1000 U.S. gal. tank capacities and hydraulic or manual fold AS booms up to 62 feet.

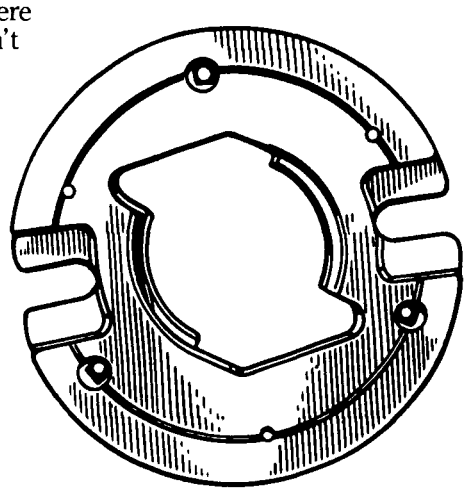
SPRING SHAPE-UP

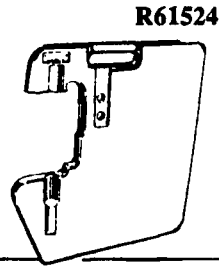
John Deere wheel and suitcase weights provide heavyweight quality at lightweight prices. Molded, instead of cut, these weights won't warp. They lie flat against the wheel, preventing wobbly tires, bent axles and resultant breakdowns. And, because they fit right, you get better traction in sticky, gumbo fields.

This spring, shape up your field control and traction with muscle from your Parts Experts. Where heavy weight doesn't transfer into heavy prices. See us today.



Rear wheel weight for row-crop tractors, just $125.00

R61524



Special quantity discount on John Deere tractor weights like: 100-pound front weight for 40 and 50 Series John Deere Row-Crop Tractors.

POLY SILO LINERS
for Upright Silos

If Your Silo Needs New Life...

Try Our Poly Silo Liners

-THE ADVANTAGE OF A POLY LINER-

- Spoilage is reduced around doors.
- Feed is exposed to less oxygen - better fermentation.
- Allows storage of high moisture grains or dry grains in a conventional silo.
- Delays repair or replacement of corroded silos.
- Prevents corrosive acids from contacting silo wall - extends silo life.
- Quick installation.
- Effectively seals silos from air and weather.

"FORAGE, AS HAYLAGE, IS THE MOST ECONOMICAL, NUTRITIOUS AND PHYSIOLOGICALLY HEALTHY FEED THAT CAN BE FED TO THE DAIRY COW."

The combination of tower silos and haylage is ideal when supplying high quality rations to dairy cows.

THE TOWER SILO IS THE BEST STORAGE SYSTEM AVAILABLE TO TAKE FULL ADVANTAGE OF ALL THE BENEFITS THAT HAYLAGE OFFERS TO THE DAIRYMAN.

When possible, it is much more logical to take advantage of the vertical dimension of the tower silo when storing large tonnages of haylage than to spread the forage over large horizontal areas. Extensive horizontal areas used by bags and trenches are frequently too far away for an efficient operation. Tower silos properly located are readily accessible for filling and easily dispense haylage directly into mixing and feeding equipment for the dairy herd.

The poured concrete SOLLENBERGER SILO, either top or bottom unloading, with its solid 6" concrete wall, is the choice of dairymen who desire to have a system with low maintenance and the ability to keep their feed in the best possible condition. The solid concrete wall minimizes losses due to heat and oxygen; the two main culprits when it comes to storage losses.

S & S SILO SERVICE

ATTENTION FARMERS
Strengthen And Reseal Your Silo With Shotcrete

STRONGER AND WILL OUT LAST PLASTER

S & S Silo Service Has 10 Years Experience With Shotcrete Relining

IS YOUR SILO READY TO BE FILLED WITH GRASS SILAGE?
PLEASE CHECK YOUR FILL PIPES AND DISTRIBUTORS NOW BEFORE FILLING SEASON

S&S Silo Service prepares the silo surface by using a 3,000 lb. pressure washer, thus making the silo moist, making a much better surface to bond shotcrete. After shotcreting, S&S always takes away any roughness by applying a steel trowel finish.

The excellent bonding of shotcrete to the silo will keep out moisture and prevent mold from growing on the side of the silo.

PLY-FOIL is a very efficient form of insulation. In application after application it has proven to be extremely effective at controlling heat gain/loss, thus significantly reducing heating and cooling costs. PLY-FOIL Insulation uses an aluminum foil to reflect up to 97% of the radiant heat.

PLY-FOIL BENEFITS

PLY-FOIL products are clean, lightweight, and non-toxic; are unaffected by changes in humidity, do not shrink; and once installed require no maintenance. They do not promote the growth of fungi or bacteria, and provide no nesting support for rodent or insect pests. PLY-FOIL, which has a Class A/Class 1 fire rating, meets the fire and smoke safety requirements of most federal, state and local building codes.
